BAKER KILLING SUSPECT HELD AT RICHMOND

Pockets Yield Clipping Describing Murder of Capital Girl.

ANOTHER'S ARREST THOUGHT IMMINENT

Two Men Who Took Loot From Car to Be Put on Grill Again.

AUTHORITIES SPEED TO ROCKVILLE LEAD

Communion Cups Are Given Away by New Captive in Virginia City.

Arrest of a suspect in Richmond, Va., whose pockets yielded a newspaper clipping of the murder of Mary Baker; the imminent arrest of a new suspect who is an acquaintance of the girl, and the intention of police to subject two colored suspects to a rigorous reinterrogation, were the focal points of interest last night in the search for the slayer.

Earl Frank White is being held in Richmond, pending substantiation of his alibi that he was not in this city or its environs on the day of the murder. White was arrested on April 14 in Richmond. In the city jail he gave to another prisoner three communion cups, the type used for the distribution of communion in the Episcopal Church. Police think they may have been for some reason in Miss Baker's car.

Arlington County authorities late yesterday sped to Rockville, Md., on a tip received from Sheriff Joseph B. Pyles of Montgomery County that an important lead had been uncovered there. Pyles and Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth refused to discuss its nature.

Pair to Be Grilled.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly and Arlington County officials today will question Frank Smith and James Vollin, colored suspects, to attempt to break down their story that they removed only part of the loot from the murder car. One of the colored men is light skinned, and police believe that witnesses may have mistaken him for a white man.

White, who is supposed by police to have given a fictitious name, was arrested on suspicion in a Richmond, Va., freight yard. A general description of the slayer, broadcast by local police, tallied with him. Richmond police interrogated him in the city jail. In his pockets they found the newspaper account and picture of Miss Baker's murder.

Capt. A. S. Wright, of the Richmond police, said that the suspect seemed anxious to be taken to Goldsborough, N. C., by police of that place, who want him there on a charge of larceny. Wright refuses to turn him over until Washington police are satisfied with his alibi.

Suspicion was directed toward White yesterday when police of that city checked the description sent out by local police. Late yesterday it was learned that upon his arrival at the city jail there he gave the three silver communion cups to another prisoner.

Sister Is Questioned.

Operatives are having difficulty reconciling some of the statements in his alibi. Detective George Darnell yesterday went to Baltimore to question Mrs. H. L. Siegel, a sister of White. She contradicted White's

Chain-Store Firm Engages Sherrill

Former Official of Capital to Be Vice President and Manager.

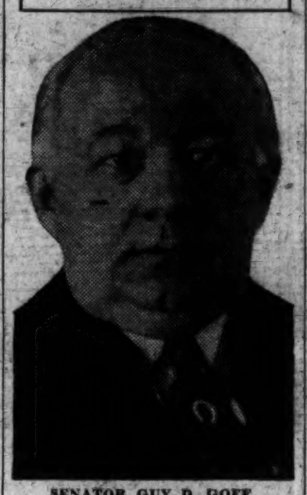
Special to The Washington Post.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 22.—Col. C. O. Sherrill, who formerly held the position of director of Public Buildings and Grounds in Washington, D. C., today resigned as city manager to become vice president and general manager of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., a national chain store organization. The resignation will become effective when Col. Sherrill's successor is chosen.

The resignation came as a surprise to the city council, and Col. Sherrill admitted he had not considered leaving his post until the Kroger offer was made. He received $25,000 as city manager and it is understood his new salary will be several times this amount.

Coming to Cincinnati on January 1, 1926, Col. Sherrill has brought the city's finances out of chaos; developed a system of major and minor highways second to none and impressed the community with his personality to such an extent that Republicans who opposed the city manager plan of government recently guaranteed his employment during their campaign to elect council members.

QUITS RACE



SENATOR GUY D. GOFF.

ILL HEALTH FORCES GOFF TO QUIT RACE

West Virginia Senator Is Ordered by Doctors to Forego Campaign.

NEELY VICTORY LOOMS

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Senator Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia, announced yesterday that because of ill health, and acting upon the advice of his physicians, he would not be a candidate for reelection in November.

He had been warned by his physicians last January, he said, that he should desist from continued attendance at the tariff session, but he had refused to heed their advice. His physicians now insist that he take a complete rest. In his statement he incorporated a letter from Drs. Davenport White and James Alexander Lyon saying that it is essential that the senator take a rest.

Senator Goff is serving his first term in the Senate and ranks as one of that body's constitutional experts. He would have faced no opposition in the primary but would have to face former Senator Neely, Democratic nominee, in November. Mr. Neely is seeking to stage a come-back from his defeat by Senator Hatfield in the presidential sweep of 1928.

With Mr. Neely as an opponent, Mr. Goff admittedly would have to engage in a most strenuous campaign, one to which he apparently did not consider his strength equal. His load would have been particularly heavy because the political cycle seems to be turning toward the Democrats this year.

His retirement will generally cause jubilation among Democratic ranks because it goes without saying that, win or lose, he would be the most formidable candidate that the Republicans could put up against Mr. Neely.

There is no suggestion as to who the Republican candidate will be now. The names of former Gov. Morgan, now solicitor of the Department of Commerce, and Judge Ira Robinson, of the Radio Commission, suggest themselves, and others will probably be advanced as soon as Senator Goff's withdrawal becomes generally known.

The senator's statement follows:

"Obeying the warning of my physicians, I shall not be a candidate for the nomination of United States senator in the August primaries. My medical advisors insisted in January

NAVAL TREATY SIGNING MARKS END OF PARLEY

Close of Conference Is Featured by Happy Briand Speech.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE RECORDED IN FILMS

Conference Breaks Up in Holiday Mood as Envoys Depart.

M'DONALD THANKED BY ALL DELEGATES

American Deputation Given Cordial Send-Off at Boat Train.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, April 22 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The "London Naval Treaty of 1930" was signed by delegates of the five powers in St. James' Palace at 12:40 p. m. today (6:40 a. m. in New York) and the conference opened by King George V. three months ago yesterday adjourned.

A few hours later the American delegates entrained for Southampton and tonight boarded the Leviathan, which waited a day for them and in which they will sail for home tomorrow morning. The French and Italian delegates departed for Paris and Rome respectively, after the signing ceremonies were over.

The full text of the treaty was officially made public at the moment when Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson sat in an old state chair covered with red velvet and appended the first signature to the morocco-bound document opposite a red seal with a blue ribbon attached. It contains nothing not exhaustively discussed previously in these and other dispatches.

Conference Mood Somber.

The 92-day-old conference began its sixth and final plenary session in a dignified, almost somber mood which was maintained during half an hour of oratory. But at the end the veteran French statesman, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, exercising all his famous charm, wit and good nature, brought the delegates, their advisors and the hundred correspondents who filled Queen Anne's drawing room, to their feet laughing and applauding as he solemnly transferred from "the collective ownership of the conference to the private ownership of our chairman, Mr. MacDonald," a gold pen presented for the treaty's signature.

The London naval conference then broke up in holiday mood, the utmost good nature prevailing. During M. Briand's chaff and sunny optimism about the cause of peace the journalistic goats and the delegate sheep mingled; order and dignity were forgotten, and the contrast to the solemn state ceremonial when the British monarch opened the conference in the royal gallery of the House of Lords was marked.

For the first time in history movietone men invaded St. James' Palace, and the centuries-old portraits of vanished royalty on the walls showed in new and ghastly hues as flood lights were operated while Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald addressed the world press.

Signatures Are Attached.

The delegates sat around a table shaped like the letter E. While the speechmaking continued, the treaty, a 2-foot-square parchment document with one red seal and blue ribbon fastened opposite the place for each sig-

HOOVER URGES FUNDS FOR SIX NEW BUILDINGS

President Asks Congress for $25,000,000 for District Projects.

KEYES-ELLIOTT BILL AUTHORIZES EXPENSE

Immediate Appropriation Would Permit Start on Development.

$10,300,000 IS FOR POSTAL STRUCTURE

$3,000,000 Is Proposed for Remodeling of State, War and Navy Building.

The great Federal building program in Washington was given further impetus yesterday when President Hoover asked Congress to appropriate money for a start on six more monumental buildings here, including a new one for the Postoffice Department at an ultimate cost of $10,300,000.

To start work on Federal buildings here and throughout the country, the President asked for the immediate appropriation of $25,000,000. The ultimate cost of these buildings, however, will be $112,687,800.

At the same time, the President asked for $2,000,000 for the purchase of building sites here, and $3,695,540 for the hire of technical experts and general expenses of the program.

Projects Under Consideration.

The projects for the National Capital which the President asked Congress to provide a start on, and the sums which they ultimately will cost follow:

Postoffice Department Building, $10,300,000.

Department of Justice Building, $10,000,000.

Interstate Commerce Commission Building, $4,500,000.

Department of Labor Building, $4,750,000.

Connecting wing between the Labor and I. C. C. Buildings, $2,000,000.

Public Health Service Building, $865,000.

Remodeling of the State, War and Navy Building, $3,000,000.

The President also asked for $85,000 to complete an additional office building for the Department of Agriculture and $50,000 for landscape work within the Avenue-Mall triangle. In addition, he asked Congress to authorize a change in the proposed site of the Archives Building.

As Unemployment Relief.

The continuance of the Federal program here and in the States, it was pointed out, will do much to relieve unemployment. The money which the President now asks Congress to appropriate already has been authorized, Congress having pledged itself to make it available when it enacted the Keyes-Elliott bill in March.

The Keyes-Elliott bill increased the sum authorized for the Federal build-

ROWS OF BLACKENED BODIES OF 317 PRISON FIRE VICTIMS AWAIT FAMILIES FOR BURIAL

Governor Directs Work of Preparations for Mass Funerals.

STATE PAYS COSTS OF CONVICTS' RITES

All Examined for Wounds to Silence Reports of Shooting.

INQUIRY LAUNCHED ON CAUSE OF BLAZE

Guard Suspended for His Refusal to Relinquish Keys of Death-Cell Block.

Columbus, Ohio, April 22 (A.P.).—Still unburied, pending further official examination and the arrival of loved ones to claim them, long rows of bodies, charred and blackened by raging flames and death-dealing smoke, remained tonight as grim reminders of yesterday's conflagration at Ohio State Penitentiary, where 317 men died before they could be rescued from their cells by guards and fellow prisoners.

The dead convicts, dressed in black shrouds, white collars and wing ties, rested in plain caskets in the Horticultural Building at Ohio State Fair Grounds awaiting relatives who may claim the bodies tomorrow. At the direction of Gov. Meyers Y. Cooper, the State Emergency Board had the bodies prepared for burial, the State furnishing the caskets, robes and transportation to their homes.

Burial and shipping permits already have been provided so that relatives may call at the temporary morgue at the fair grounds or telegraph instructions to Warden P. E. Thomas at the penitentiary.

Officials Deny Shooting.

The bodies will be grouped in sections and arranged in alphabetical order so that they may be easily found. State officials will meet the relatives at the fair grounds so that it will not be necessary for them to visit the prison itself.

To silence reports that several shots were fired while a portion of the old prison was being swept by flames, State Welfare Director Hal W. Griswold today ordered that each convict's body be examined for bullet wounds. This examination was to be completed tonight.

The names of many of the victims remain unknown and State Bertillion officers went through the task of finger printing each one, pressing lifeless fingers on ink pads and paper in an effort to establish complete identification.

New Roof Was Planned.

Meanwhile Gov. Cooper and other State officials continued their investigation of the fire in an effort to determine its origin. The governor in a statement declared that a disaster such as last night's would have been impossible several months hence when a new fireproof roof would have covered the cell tiers where most of the men died. The present roof where the fire started is supported by open wood rafters with a few steel girders to add strength.

The governor pointed out that projected improvements at the penitentiary were only a part of the State's building program with reference to relieving overcrowded conditions of penal and other institutions.

The plans call for the appointment of a committee of citizens to formulate a program commensurate with the housing needs of the State's wards such as would preclude a recurrence of yesterday's catastrophe.

Investigation of the fire was marked by a clash between county and State authorities over a proposal to suspend Warden P. E. Thomas until all the facts are known.

Demand for the warden's suspension was made by County Prosecutor John J. Chester, jr., but the issue was

DISTRICT TO ESCAPE U. S. LOAN INTEREST

JONES SCORES MEASURE

The interest provision in the Capper municipal center bill which requires the District to pay 3½ per cent on a proposed Federal loan of $15,000,000 will be eliminated by the Senate District committee, it was indicated yesterday after a two-hour hearing on the measure.

The hearing marked the first appearance of Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer before a congressional committee and when he and Auditor Daniel J. Donovan had concluded their arguments against the interest charge it was evident that the senators present were in sympathy with them. Chairman Capper, Senator Copeland, of New York, and Senator Robsion, of Kentucky, said as much.

Robert J. Cottrell, executive secretary of the Board of Trade, asked the committee to delay action on the Capper bill for two weeks so that his organization might study it and check

Kipling Is Mentioned As New Poet Laureate

London, April 22 (A.P.).—Rudyard Kipling, one of the most widely known and read British writers alive today, was widely mentioned tonight for the post of poet laureate of England, vacant since the death of Robert Bridges yesterday.

In addition to Mr. Kipling, Alfred Noyes, Walter De La Mare, Sir William Watson and Sir Henry Newbolt were mentioned. Many of the literati, and the ordinary public too, are wondering if there will be any successor to Mr. Bridges. Lord Tennyson was the last poet who performed in any measurable degree the prime duty of the poet laureate, namely, the writing of a poem or ode when the monarch was busied with anything of great moment.

STUDENT PILOT DIES AS PLANE BUCKLES

Henry Trageser, of Silver Spring, Is Killed in 1,000-Foot Drop.

CHILDREN NEARLY HIT

With its struts screaming a dirge and a warning to children playing below, a crippled biplane hurtled into a tree on the lawn of a Lyon Park, Va., home about 2:30 o'clock yesterday, almost instantly killing Henry Trageser, 28, student flier, of Silver Spring, Md. Witnesses said that both wings had crumpled when the plane came out of a tail spin at a height estimated at 1,000 feet.

Mr. Trageser, who owned the Alexander Eaglerock ship, had ascended alone from Hoover Field shortly after 2 o'clock to undergo stunt tests required for a limited commercial license.

As Inspector Harry M. Agerter, of the Department of Commerce, watched, the plane climbed to 3,000 feet before the pilot sent it into a spin. As he pulled out, too abruptly, Hoover Field officials think, one wing folded back. The ship hovered like a wounded bird, turned over several times and plunged earthward, with its second wing being torn to pieces.

Warned by the wind whistling in the wires, children playing on the sidewalk near Pershing drive and Oak street, scurried to safety as the fuselage crashed into the tree, narrowly missing a vacant house on the corner.

Wreckage was strewn over a wide area and the motor was partially imbedded in the earth. The spot where it struck is within 200 feet of the Lyon Park Station, on the town's principal street.

Mr. Trageser had pulled the rip cord of his at-pack parachute, but his body was strapped in the rear

Archduke Is Indicted In Royal Jewel Sale

Larceny Charged to Leopold and Two Others in Transfer of Napoleon Heirloom, Valued at $400,000, to Jeweler for $60,000.

New York, April 22 (A.P.).—For aiding in the sale of a family heirloom—the diamond necklace Napoleon Bonaparte gave to his empress, Marie Louise, upon the birth of their son—Archduke Leopold, of Austria, has been indicted for grand larceny.

The indictment was found today against Leopold and Charles F. Townsend, self-styled former British army officer, and the latter's wife by a grand jury which has been investigating the sale of the Napoleon necklace to D. M. Michel, Fifth avenue jeweler, for $60,000.

Archduchess Marie Theresa, of Vienna, owner of the necklace, claims that Townsend, who formerly was her agent, sold the jewels after his power of attorney had been revoked. The archduchess, who set the value of the necklace at $400,000, said she received only $7,270 from the sale.

Archduke Leopold is alleged to have admitted to the district attorney that he received a commission from Townsend, who retained $52,730 as his fee and expenses. Leopold is a nephew of Marie Theresa.

The sale of the necklace here in February was brought to light in an investigation started by Baroness Anna Eisenmenger, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., a friend of the archduchess and now commissioned her American agent.

Michel, the jeweler, said he bought the necklace because of its 48 diamonds, and not because of its historic value. He said the $60,000 was a "fair" price for the gems.

Townsend attempted to sell the necklace for the archduchess in Europe last year for $400,000. Among the prospective buyers was the Kedhive of Egypt.

Failing in his quest in Europe, Townsend then brought the jewels to America, but the archduchess, irked at his lack of success, revoked his power of attorney on February 1. The sale is alleged to have taken place ten days later.

The archduke sent word through his counsel he would surrender tomorrow. Whereabouts of the Townsends is not known.

Five Are Acquitted In Man's Lynching

Irvine, Ky., April 22 (A.P.).—A jury in Estill Circuit Court late today returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of five men charged with the mob murder of Chester Fugate, who was taken from the Breathitt County Jail at Jackson, Ky., by a mob Christmas and riddled with bullets.

The jury deliberated but fifteen minutes. In closing arguments, the Commonwealth attorney demanded the death penalty, and the defense had pleaded for acquittal.

City's Heads Urge Tindall, Employe Since '69, Be Kept

Waiving of Retirement Law in Special Case Asked by Commissioners.

The new District Commissioners, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer and Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, yesterday figuratively tossed into a wastebasket a recommendation made by their predecessors, and in doing so brought joy to a man who has served the city for 61 years.

Dr. William Tindall, 86 years old, has been in the District service since 1869. Today he is in charge of the municipality's information bureau, and admittedly is the greatest living authority on its history and affairs. Under the retirement law he will be automatically retired in August unless something is done to save him.

Yesterday Commissioner Reichelderfer did something. He appeared before the Senate District committee

Figuratively speaking, a bombshell has exploded in the camp of the Thomas A. Edison industries through the refusal of the Board of Education of the District to allow its students to participate in the Edison scholarship contest which last year created so much interest over the entire country.

The action of the local education authorities was the only refusal received by those in charge of the contest, boards of education in the 48 States having agreed to permit their students to participate again this year.

Decision to remain out of the contest was reached by the board following a recommendation by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, that the competition be eliminated. At shelved when Gov. Cooper took the case out of his hands by assigning the attorney general to make the official inquiry.

The investigation opened with the warden on the witness stand. The board of inquiry was composed of Gov. Cooper, Assistant Attorney General Earl Shivley, Josep Godown and Harry Levy, Welfare Director Hal Griswold and two members of the State clemency board.

The warden's testimony revealed that Thomas Watkinson, guard in the cell blocks housing companies G and H, where all of the victims perished, refused to turn over his key to the cell ranges to other guards. Watkinson was suspended, pending investigation. Later in the investigation Watkinson denied he was responsible for not opening the doors.

The inquiry also disclosed:

That Thomas assigned his chief deputy, J. C. Woodward, to take charge within the prison walls when the fire broke out at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

That the warden stationed himself outside the prison to prevent any escapes.

That night guards, Thomas Little and W. C. Baldwin, just coming on duty, had to take the range key away from Guard Watkinson to get to the cells where some 800 prisoners were locked behind bars, suffocating in dense smoke that rose from the fast-spreading fire.

That Little and Baldwin could get no higher than the fifth tier before they became exhausted, leaving most of the convicts in the fifth and sixth tiers to die.

That Ohio Penitentiary guards, numbering 337 on both day and night shifts, are required to watch 4,300 prisoners at salaries ranging from $130 to $150 a month.

While the investigation was underway a corps of undertakers spent a busy day embalming the bodies of the fire victims at an improvised morgue into which the Horticultural Building at the State Fair Ground had been converted.

Five More May Die.

The number of known dead rose today from an estimate of about 300 this morning, and in the prison hospital were 231 injured, 5 of whom were reported in critical condition.

Except for the presence of several companies of soldiers, the last of the troops called out last night to maintain order, the interior of the prison resumed a more normal appearance today.

Routine was on schedule. The woolen and cotton mills which had been ignited by flames from the G and H cell blocks could not be operated but the 4,000 inmates were kept in their cells until regular feeding time. Later in the day the convicts took their usual exercise in the prison yard.

A checkup disclosed that one prisoner escaped during the excitement last night and that two others are missing. The escaped man is Michael Born, 32, sent up from Wood County in 1929, to serve one to fifteen years for burglary. Prison officials believe that he disguised himself and walked through the main gate. He is said to be wanted by Pennsylvania and Indiana authorities.

The missing men are J. B. Boone, Clinton County, and Charles Knapp, Summit County.

Before the inquiry board began its investigation it made a trip through the damaged cell ranges. Three members of the board found mute evidence of the swiftness with which flames and smoke spread.

Convicts had dropped pieces of candy only partly eaten. On the floor of the cells were unopened letters and overturned checker boards, indicating that some of the men were at play when overcome. In one cell a water-soaked book lay open on the floor.

No Specific Instructions.

The inquiry opened in the record office of the prison, converted into a temporary courtroom.

Warden Thomas testified that he sent Guards Little and Baldwin to the cell blocks with cell keys as soon as the fire was discovered. He said he did not give specific instructions to open the cells but explained that when keys are called for there could be only one use for them.

He said he gave Woodward orders to take charge of the situation inside while he went outside to prevent any escapes. Prison fires usually are of incendiary origin and their purpose is to shield an escape plot, he said.

The warden told of watching convicts in dormitories E and F breaking light bulbs and windows. He said he sent a trusty to release them into the prison yard but found this already had been done by Mrs. Thomas.

Thomas attributed Watkinson's alleged failure to open the range door to lack of judgment. He said Little and Baldwin exercised common sense in taking the key from him.

Watkinson followed the warden to the stand. He placed the blame on Capt. Hall of the night guard, who, he said, had instructed him not to open the ranges. Watkinson testified that he stood with the key in the lock and told Hall he was ready to open the door whenever he received the word.

It was at this point that Little and Baldwin stepped in and took the key from him.

The investigation will be continued tomorrow.

Undertakers Are Busy.

Gov. Cooper took personal interest today in disposing of the bodies of the victims. He said he planned to spend a great deal of his time tomorrow making certain that the bodies are delivered to relatives for burial.

Undertakers worked all day at their task. By noon they had finished more than 200 embalming and they planned to finish the remainder before night.

Arrangements were made to transfer eight bodies to the Whittaker mortuary for funeral services. These victims were Kenneth and Edward Scott, brothers, of Cincinnati; William Laws, Columbus; Leonard Jackson and William Bailey, both of Lawrence County; Henry Locher, Cincinnati; Walter Jackson, Cleveland, and Innis Drake, Cincinnati.

The bodies of the Cincinnati men will be returned to that city for burial. The bodies of Jackson and Bailey will be sent to Richmond, Va.

231 VICTIMS OF FIRE ARE HELD IN HOSPITAL

ONE PATIENT SMOKES

Columbus, Ohio, April 22 (A.P.).—On trim, white hospital cots, surviving victims of the Ohio Penitentiary disaster tonight talked quietly among themselves, staring blankly at ceilings, and slept. The effects of the smoke will soon be gone from the most of them, hospital officials say. A late check on the institution led doctors to state that only five men were in critical condition—and all of these had suffered from smoke inhalation.

Most of the 231 injured will leave the hospital within a week, physicians said. The most seriously injured are John Edwards, Hamilton County, serving a life term for first degree murder; Edward Wills, Cuyohaga County, serving from five to seven years for larceny; James Andrews, Ross County, serving ten to twenty years for shooting to kill, and Melvin Bartella, Lucas County, serving from two to twenty years for forgery. An undentified man is also in a critical condition. Physicians said he had never regained consciousness.

The men are attended by prison nurses, trained from among the inmates. These men function almost as interns. Their cool-headedness, authorities said tonight, saved many lives and avoided a near panic during the early hours of the catastrophe. Working systematically, they shunted case after case into the proper ward, and adminstered oxygen under the direction of physicians.

Today numerous cases of suffocation were reported—and subsequently brought to the hospital. Occasionally, as day waned, small groups of convicts brought victims, just feeling the effects of the smoke, into the receiving ward.

Sometimes these men were pale and motionless—and at times they smiled faintly. Oxygen tanks immediately were brought to aid in reviving them.

Prison physicians met varied attitudes and conditions as they passed between the rows of beds. One patient smoked stocially and inquired about his "pals." Another asked permission to go out of doors into the fresh air. A third requested that newspapers be brought him.

RITES FOR MRS. WOLLBERG

Services Will Be Held From Residence on Sixteenth Street.

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine Steinberger Wollberg who died Monday at Emergency Hospital, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from the residence at Sixteenth and R streets northwest. Burial will be in the Washington Hebrew Congregation Cemetery.

Mrs. Wollberg was the wife of Benjamin Wollberg, a Washington merchant. She was born and educated in Washington, and was a member of the Council of Jewish Women, the Sisterhood of the Eighth Street Temple and the Washington Hebrew Congregation. Besides the husband, she is survived by a daughter, Miss Tina Wollberg.

The principals in the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial contest—Senator Grundy and Secretary Davis—will be given an opportunity next Friday to air their charges of campaign irregularities before each other at a closed session of the Senate campaign funds investigating committee.

Chairman Nye, of the campaign funds committee favored such a course after he had received first hand from Secretary Davis some complaints about the conduct of campaigns in the Pennsylvania primary which will be settled May 20. Senator Grundy previously has submitted complaints to the Senate investigators about the combinations fighting his renomination.

The nature of the Davis charges were not disclosed by Senator Nye, but he deemed them within the scope of the committee's authority and of sufficient importance to be investigated.

Already the committee has sent agents into Pennsylvania and Illinois to inquire into charges involving the senatorial candidates in those States. Upon the receipt of reports from these investigators the committee will be ready for hearings.

Upon the results of the executive session on Friday, when Senator Grundy and Secretary Davis will be heard, will depend the future course of the committee regarding Pennsylvania.

chant Fleet Corporation agencies to enable private operators of American flag tonnage to compete on a more nearly equal footing with the merchant fleets of other nations."

The proposal for the investigation was by Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee. Vice President Curtis will name a committee of five to conduct the study.

Senator McKellar proposed the inquiry last October after Comptroller General McCarl reported to Congress that the United States Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet Corporation had lost millions of dollars through the sale of ships and the handling of loans.

The McCarl report, which covered an audit by his office of various transactions by the corporation, said, "Approximately 60 per cent of the amount of the accounts receivable is set up for a reserve for doubtful accounts."

Mr. McCarl said that 321 vessels had been sold, that their construction cost had been $408,062,898, their sale price $43,962,308, and the Shipping Board had received but $15,413,919 of the sale price.

Regarding mail contracts, the Comptroller General cited one case in which he said the purchaser of a shipping line had been awarded a contract that more than paid the annual notes due the Government for the purchase price.

On the day following the McCarl report President Hoover requested the Attorney General to investigate the matter. No announcement has been made of the result.

NEWSPAPER HEADS TO OPEN MEETING

500 Publishers in New York for Annual Convention; To Get Reports.

NEWSPRINT PRICE TOPIC

New York, April 22 (A.P.).—With 500 publishers from the United States and Canada in attendance, the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association will open tomorrow morning at the Pennsylvania Hotel.

For the first time in 30 years the convention will be meeting in other than the old Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, which was in the early stages of destruction last spring when the publishers paraded its famous Peacock alley for the last time.

Newsprint will be one of the most important topics to come before the A. N. P. A. during its three-day session. Interest will be centered in the report of the newsprint committee headed by W. G. Chandler, general business manager of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, referring to the attempt of paper manufacturers last fall to increase their prices. Most contracts now held for paper at old prices expire in June.

Labor, traffic and advertising also will be discussed in reports of standing committees.

The convention, which lasts through Friday, will be opened by Ward H Butler, of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Evening News, the president. Harry Chandler, Los Angeles Times, is vice president; George M. Rogers, Cleveland Plain Dealer, secretary, and Howard Davis, New York Herald-Tribune, treasurer.

The bureau of advertising of the A. N. P. A. will hold its annual dinner at the Pennsylvania Thursday night. Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Heywood Broun, New York columnist, will speak.

YOUNG FLIER KILLED AS PLANE BUCKLES

cockpit's safety belt when it was found, and it was thought that the folded wings had prevented him from jumping.

Roland Omohundro, a resident of Lyon Park, took the pilot to the Georgetown Hospital, where it was stated that practically every bone in his body had been fractured. He was dead when he reach the hospital and physicians expressed the belief that he had been killed instantly.

Mrs. O. B. Akers, who lives on South Oak street, several blocks from the point where the plane struck, found several pieces of the wings in her back yard. George H. McCrillis, who saw the crash, said that the ship seemed to go to pieces in the air, as if it had exploded. Mrs. Frank T. Stone, Udmont White and J. O. Verzi, who helped Mr. Omohundro extricate the body, corroborated his statement.

Crowds quickly gathered about the debris, and traffic on the street was blocked until Sheriff Howard B. Fields of Arlington County, soldiers from Fort Myer and highway police took the situation in hand.

Tourists View Scene.

Meanwhile other planes flew over to view the scene from the air, and scores of tourists lined up for flights from Hoover Field, apparently unmindful of the nearby tragedy.

Mr. Trageser's young wife was prostrated when informed of her husband's death. They had been married four years.

Hoover Field officials made it clear that while Mr. Trageser kept his plane at their hangar, and had received student instruction there, he had no official connection with the field. He bought the plane about a year ago, and was credited with 150 hours in the air.

BROTHER RICHARD FURLONG

Georgetown University's Steward Will Be Buried in College Cemetery.

Brother Richard Furlong, 67 years old, who has been in charge of the student dining hall and the college stores for the fifteen years he has been at Georgetown University, died late Monday night at Georgetown Hospital after a year's illness.

Dr. W. Coleman Nevils, president of the university, will recite the office of the dead at 7:30 o'clock this morning in Dahlgren Chapel at the institution, followed at 8 o'clock by mass to be said by the Rev. Francis X. Delaney, pastor of St. Francis Xavier College, New York City. Interment will be in the university's cemetery.

A native of Philadelphia, Brother Furlong entered the Jesuit Order at Frederick, Md., in 1881. He had served at Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass., for eighteen years and then for five years at the Woodstock House of Study at Woodstock, Md., before coming to Georgetown about 1918.

nature, rested in full view at the end of the middle bar of the E.

After Mr. MacDonald, who looked tired and depressed until M. Briand cheered him up, announced that the moment for signature had arrived, the delegates, the Americans first, rose and crowded around the chair set before the treaty; and while cameras clicked, the Treaty of London was duly executed.

It became apparent before the chief delegate of each power and each British dominion had finished his speech that M. Briand, his own weighty and important speech off his chest, was in holiday mood, for he kept signaling urgent messages to Senator Robinson while the Irish Free State, New Zealand, India and South Africa were explaining their views on naval policy. He seemed daring Mr. Robinson to do something, and he was.

Arkansas Pledge Threatened.

Mr. Robinson had previously threatened that if all the speeches were made to get up and pledge the adhesion of Arkansas to disarmament, and M. Briand was challenging him to make good.

But there were tense, serious moments before the horseplay. Mr. MacDonald, first plenipotentiary to speak, began by appealing to France and Italy to compose their differences and by pledging Great Britain to use all her efforts to avoid using the safeguarding clause to increase her fleet beyond definitely, but contingently agreed figures in the treaty.

"An agreement has been come to between the United States, Japan and ourselves," he said, "but the European situation was harder to resolve. Until it is resolved and agreement is come to regarding it, every bond of limited scope must have the protection of a safeguarding clause such as that in the treaty which we sign today.

Speech by MacDonald.

"But I wish to say this about that clause: It is not put in as an easy way to get around the treaty.

"I hope it will never be used, but if it has to be, that will only happen after every effort has been made to avoid it. Only when it is apparent that, owing to ships built, building or definitely authorized by any power or powers, our naval position is so affected that it is impossible for this country to rest in peace of mind upon the figures embodied in Part III of this treaty—only then shall this protection clause be thought about.

"The British government are ready now, and always will be, to strive with might and main to prevent this arising and we have every hope that as a result of conversations after adjournment of this conference an understanding will be arrived at which will make any use of it absolutely unnecessary."

Mr. Stimson's Address.

Mr. Stimson's speech was sober, dignified and unretorical. He complimented Mr. MacDonald as chairman, as did all the speakers, welcomed the three-power pact and expressed pleasure that France and Ltaly propose to continue their discussions and pledged for the United States "our utmost cooperation toward achievement of the great ends which brought us here."

"We sign this treaty," the American Secretary of State told the assembled plenipotentiaries of the world's five mightiest naval powers, "with realization that it fixes our naval relationship with the British commonwealth of nations upon a fair and lasting basis and that it is equally advantageous to us all. It also establishes our naval relationship with our good neighbors across the Pacific and insures continuous growth of our friendship with that great nation toward whom we have grown to look for stability and progress in the Far East.

Further Discussions Foreseen.

"We are happy to have participated with France and Italy in the solution of some of the important general problems and to have had the pleasure and benefit of constant association with their delegations. We are glad to know as we separate that it is their purpose to continue their discussions in the hope of soon completing a five-power agreement of naval restriction."

Then M. Briand got up and the conference held its breath, for everybody knew about the Franco-American struggle over the treaty's preamble. M. Briand had insisted that the work of the preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva should be recognized as linked with that at this conference. Mr. Stimson had refused to mention the League of Nations, and M. Briand had accordingly refused to permit mention of the Kellogg pact.

Position of France.

"France has never asked, never sought guarantees for herself alone," he declared. "She has always had in mind the security of all nations which are called upon to lend each other mutual assistance in order to prevent war or to strive against it. She has always thought that such mutual guarantee would bring about simultaneous reduction of armaments different from former military alliances or groups of alliances which had actually led to an increase of these armaments.

"Thus she remained true to the ideas which had always guided her pacific action and to which other observations contained in the memorandum of December 20 (the French acceptance of the invitation in this conference) bear witness, in particular those of connecting the work of the conference and that of the Geneva preparatory commission and once more bringing to light the principle of the interdependence of armaments (land, air or sea)."

M. Briand eulogized the agreement on a method of limiting naval armaments reached in the early days of the conference, with concealed irony since that agreement was rendered futile by Italian opposition, and Mr. MacDonald had announced earlier that he would send on to the league the reports on it which were to have made part II of the five-power treaty, not even as coming from the conference, but with a personal letter from himself. Thus, these results are deprived of any value excepting as they may influence league negotiations on their own merits.

Other Powers Felicitated.

The French foreign minister tendered to Great Britain, America and Japan "cordial and hearty congratulations on the three-power pact" and then, with frequent glances at the expressionless Italian delegates he made a plea for agreement between Italy and France.

"The French government," said the apostle of conciliation, "can never believe that two great and friendly nations, moved by a sincere desire of conciliating their respective preoccupations and loyally decided to make all their efforts in order to reach this goal, should not be able to achieve complete agreement, thanks to an ob-

NAVAL TREATY TEXT STUDIED BY SENATE

HEARINGS ARE PLANNED

(Associated Press.)

Cautiously scanning the first published text of the London Naval Limitations Treaty, the Senate prepared itself yesterday to act upon the agreement this session.

President Hoover decided to send the pact to the Senate as soon as he received the certified copy from London. Senate leaders replied that it would be given immediate attention.

Chairman Borah, of the Senate foreign relations committee, and Chairman Hale, of the naval committee, announced hearings would be held by their committees and the Senate which has kept silence throughout the long London parley continued to withhold formal judgment.

Senator Borah has given conditional approval to the treaty and Senator Hale has given strong indication of dissatisfaction. The Idaboan, however, made it clear eyesterday he was "not enthusiastic" over the agreement and the administration is watching closely for developments in the Senate.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican leader, maintained his silence on the treaty yesterday pending more detailed study of the complicated text. However, he assented to disposition of it at this session.

The majority leader estimated the treaty discussion would keep the Senate in session at least until July, killing previous hopes for an adjournment by June 1.

Senator Borah said he would hear those who were interested in the pact, including naval leaders, but he said every effort to expedite action would be made. He did not think much debate was in prospect and seemed to regard the pact as one which would do no harm and would help disarmament somewhat.

There were no assurances from Senator Hale of early disposition of the agreement by the Senate as he spent the afternoon studying the lengthy text of the treaty made public yesterday.

"I will have a speech to make shortly," he announced as he looked up from the newly announced agreement. "There will be considerable discussion no doubt, and some extensive hearings."

SEA PACT APPROVAL EXPECTED BY REED

Senator Declares No Nation Can Claim Victory at London Parley.

PARITY REACHED, CLAIM

(Associated Press.)

Senator David A. Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, delegate to the London Naval Conference, said yesterday in a radio address from London that the members of the American delegation are coming home "with the firm conviction that their countrymen will approve what has been done in America's name" at the conference. His address, made public by the State Department, was broadcast over the National Broadcasting Co. network.

Senator Reed said that no country could claim victory in the conference. "The treaty represents a victory for no one nation," he said, "but rather an honorable and reasonable arrangement which is fair to everyone."

He said that in the future Great Britain and the United States, as a result of the treaty, would stand upon an equality. American relations with Japan, he said, were now proven "friendly in the extreme. Japan and America have today given tangible evidences of friendliness which far exceeded in value all of the oratory that was ever uttered. The agreement goes further than any agreement ever heretofore made between the leading nations of the world."

Accomplishments Are Listed.

Senator Reed listed the following accomplishments:

"To begin with, we have all agreed to keep our present battleships which are perfectly seaworthy and effective, and to take a holiday in new battle construction to January 1, 1937. In that one stroke we have saved an outlay by the United States of about $400,000,000.

"Then, in cruisers, although our present fleets are pitifully small compared with the cruiser fleets of Great Britain and Japan, our building power has been recognized and Great Britain has readily agreed to parity, and Japan has agreed to a satisfactory relationship between the fleets, with the result that while we build at moderate speed during these seven years, the British and Japanese fleets are either reduced or will remain at about today's level, to the great relief of the taxpayers of all three countries.

"The same is true of destroyers. We will scrap a considerable number of our wartime vessels, Great Britain scraps some and Japan scraps some, and the resultant fleets, which will be large enough for each of us and for all normal police work that such vessels are called upon to conduct, will nevertheless represent parity with Great Britain and a satisfactory relationship with Japan.

Submarine Problem Different.

"In submarines our problem has been different, because while we are encouraged by the agreement of the five powers to use the submarines in a humane way, nevertheless the temptation to sink merchant ships without warning is very great and we felt that the world would be better insured against such a murderous submarine campaign as occurred in the last war if the submarine as an instrument of warfare were altogether abolished.

"Some of the other nations were not ready to go so far, however, and the best we could do was to agree to a parity in such vessels at a low figure between Great Britain and Japan and ourselves, a figure that requires the destruction of a considerable number of these vessels in the British, Japanese and the American fleets and to that extent removes the menace to innocent life that results from the very existence of these rattlesnakes of the sea.

"So there is substance in our agreement."

APPROPRIATE FUNERAL DESIGNS

Chief Points of London Naval Treaty

London, April 22 (A.P.).—The naval treaty signed at St. James' Palace, carrying forward the work of the Washington naval conference, prescribes limitation and reduction of naval armament for three signatory nations and agreement on some phases of the naval disarmament problem for the five nations participating in the conference here.

The three limiting nations are the United States, Japan and Great Britain; France and Italy did not enter the limitation section of the treaty and signed only those sections referring to "humanization" of submarines, a capital ship holiday and certain other technical phases of the problem.

The treaty contains 26 articles and a preamble.

The first article deals with the undertaking of the contracting parties not to exercise the rights they acquired by the Washington treaty of 1922 in the matter of capital ship replacement and tonnage, this article in effect promulgating the so-called capital ship holiday for the life of the treaty.

Exceptions Are Allowed.

Relinquishment of these rights is without prejudice to the right of replacing any ships which may be lost accidentally, or is without prejudice to the right of France and Italy to build replacement tonnage, as yet unbuilt, which the Washington treaty entitled them to build in 1927 and 1929.

In the second article of the treaty the United States agrees to rid itself of the battleships Florida, Utah and either the Arkansas or the Wyoming, while Great Britain abandons the Benbow, the Iron Duke, the Marlborough, the Emperor of India and The Tiger, and Japan scraps The Hiyei.

The manner of scrapping these giants, unless they are used as targets, is prescribed in the treaty, which also provides the time limits for scrapping.

The United States may keep the Arkansas or the Wyoming for training purposes, for which Great Britain may also retain the Iron Duke, and Japan the Hiyei, subject to conditions defined in the treaty.

Aircraft Carriers Defined.

The third article gives a new definition of aircraft carriers, replacing that of the Washington treaty and conferring the designation of aircraft carrier on any surface vessel of whatever displacement which is used exclusively for carrying aircraft and constructed so that aircraft can be launched from it and landed thereon.

No capital ship existing April 1 of this year may be fitted with a landing deck.

The fourth article prohibits acquirement or construction of any aircraft carrier of 10,000 tons or less mounting guns above 6.1 inch caliber. Armament on carriers is limited to articles 9 and 10 of the Washington treaty, or by the fifth article of the present treaty.

The sixth article determines the standard of displacement of surface vessels to be in accordance with the provisions of the Washington treaty, and prescribes in detail the standard of displacement for submarines.

Agreement in Submarines.

In article 7 the signatories agree not to acquire or construct any submarine exceeding 2,000 tons displacement or with a gun above 5.1 inch caliber, subject to certain prescribed conditions, although they may retain such as they possess April 1, 1930.

Article 8 lays down that certain specified vessels are exempt from limitation, these being surface vessels of between 500 and 2,000 tons.

Article 9 deals with rules for replacement and article 10 provides for information to be given by each party to other parties to the treaty of vessels it is building, while article 11 lays down rules for disposal of abandoned vessels.

Certain vessels listed in the annex and described as "special vessels" are allowed under article 12 to be retained, their tonnage not being included in the tonnage subject to limitations. Of these 14 are United States vessels, 21 are French, 7 are British, 7 Italian and 8 are Japanese. It is provided in the same article that any other vessel built, adapted or acquired for the purposes for which these special vessels are retained shall be charged against the tonnage of an appropriate combatant category, unless conforming to the exempted vessels listed in article 8. Japan is allowed to replace two minelayers in the special list under conditions and prescriptions affecting her other special vessels.

Nonseagoing Ships.

Under article 13 the contracting parties are allowed to retain their existing stationary ships in nonseagoing condition.

The foregoing articles constitute two of the five parts into which the treaty is divided, both parts to be subscribed to by the five great powers. The third part comprises the agreement to which the United States, Great Britain and Japan alone are signatory.

Article 14, which leads the third part, declares that the United States, the British Commonwealth, and Japan agree to limit for duration of the treaty their combatant vessels other than capital ships, airship carriers, and the vessels exempted under article 8.

Article 15 contains a definition of cruisers and destroyers.

Cruisers are defined as "surface vessels of war other than capital ships or aircraft carriers, the standard displacement of which exceeds 1,850 tons, or with a gun above 5.1-inch caliber."

Cruiser Catagory.

The cruiser category is divided into two subcategories mainly, those carrying guns above 6.1-inch caliber and to those with guns below that size, respectively.

Destroyers are defined as "surface vessels, the standard displacement of which does not exceed 1,850 tons with guns not above 5.1-inch caliber."

The total tonnage in the cruiser, destroyer and submarines categories, which are not to be exceeded on December 31, 1936, are given in article 16, thus:

Cruisers with guns above 6.1-inch caliber are:

The United tSates	180,000 tons
Great Britain	146,800 tons
Japan	180,400 tons

Cruisers with guns of 6.1 or less inch caliber:

The United States	143,500 tons
Great Britain	192,200 tons
Japan	100,450 tons

Destroyers tonnages are set at:

The United States	150,000 tons
Great Britain	150,000 tons
Japan	105,500 tons

52,700 Tons of Submarines.

Submarine tonnage of each power is set at 52,700 tons. Vessels which cause the total tonnage of any category to exceed the foregoing are to be disposed of gradually before December 31, 1936.

The maximum number of cruisers in the first subcategory, in which the gun may exceed 6.1-inch caliber, shall be:

Great Britain	15
Japan	12

In the destroyer category not more than 16 per cent of the total tonnage is to be employed in vessels over 1,500 tons. Destroyers completed or under construction April 1 this year in excess of this percentage may be retained, but no other destroyers exceeding 1,500 tons shall be constructed or acquired until the reduction to 16 per cent is affected.

Not more than 25 per cent of the total cruiser tonnage may be fitted with aircraft decks.

Article 17 allows the transfer of tonnage between cruisers of the second subcategory and destroyers. But this is not to exceed 10 per cent of the category into which the transfer is made.

It is stated in Article 18 that the United States contemplates completion by 1935 of fifteen cruisers of the first subcategory of an aggregate tonnage of 150,000. For each of the three remaining cruisers in this subcategory, the United States may substitute 15,166 tons of cruisers in the second subcategory.

In the event the United States constructs one or more such cruisers, the sixteenth unit will not be laid down before 1933 and will not be completed before 1934 and will not be completed before 1937; while the eighteenth will not be laid down before 1935 and will not be completed before 1938.

Reductions on Tonnage.

Article 19 prescribes certain restriction to laying down tonnage in the different categories, while article 20 deals with disposal and displacement of certain British and Japanese vessels, and grants Japan the right to anticipate replacement by laying down 19,200 tons of submarines of which not more than 12,000 tons are to be completed before December 31, 1936.

Article 21 contains the safeguarding clause, which, while it does not mention specifically France and Italy, was inserted to protect Great Britain against a continental building program involving those two powers.

The clause states:

"If, during the term of the present treaty the requirements of national security of any high contracting party, in respect to vessels of war limited by part three of this treaty are, in the opinion of that party materially affected by new construction of any power other than those who have joined in part three of this treaty, that party will notify the other parties to part three as to the increase required to be made in its own tonnages within one or more of the categories of such vessels, specifying particularly the proposed increases and reasons therefor and shall be entitled to make such an increase.

"Thereupon the other parties to part three shall be entitled to make a proportionate increase and the said other parties shall promptly advise through diplomatic channels as to the situation thus presented.

Submarines Arranged For.

The fourth chapter of the treaty deals with submarines, and contains a single article, number 22. This article propounds the doctrine of "humanization" of submarine warfare and says that the following are accepted as established rules of international law:

"First, in their action with regard to merchants ships, submarines must conform to rules of international law to which surface vessels are subject; second, in particular, except in case persistent refusal to stop on being duly summoned, or of active resistance to visita and search, a warship, whether surface vessel or submarine, may not sink or render incapable of navigation a merchant vessel, without having first placed passengers and crew, and ship's papers in a place of safety.

"For this purpose a ship's boats are not regarded as a place of safety, unless the safety of passengers and crew is assured in the existing sea and weather conditions by the proximity of land or the presence of another vessel which is in the position to take them aboard. The high contracting parties invite all other powers to express assent to the above rules."

Duration of Ratification.

The fifth and last part of the treaty deals with its duration and its ratification. Its first clause, article 23, specifies December 31, 1936, as the terminal date, except that part four shall remain operative without the time limit, and that articles 3, 4, 5, 11, and the annex relating to aircraft carriers shall be effective for the same period as the Washington treaty.

The article further states that unless the parties agree otherwise by reason of a more general agreement limiting naval armaments to which they are all parties they shall meet again in 1935 to frame a new treaty replacing and carrying out the purposes of the present treaty. It became understood that none of the present provisions will prejudice any of them.

Ratification is decreed by article 24 to be in accordance with the respective constitutional methods of the signatories, the ratifications to be deposited in London as soon as possible. The treaty will come into force when the last of these ratifications has been deposited.

The rights and obligations of part three are limited to the United States, Great Britain and Japan, who will agree respecting the date and conditions under which the obligations of that part will bind them in relation to France and Italy, such agreement determining the obligation of France and Italy to the other three.

According to article 25, next to the final clause in the treaty, after all ratifications have been deposited Great Britain will communicate part four to all nonsignatory powers, inviting them to concur in it, this being the section relating to humanization of submarines.

The present treaty, in accordance with article 26, will be in the keeping of the British government, certified copies to be transmitted to the other signatories.

Highlights of Sea Treaty Signed at London Parley

London, April 22 (A.P.).—By terms of the naval treaty signed today by representatives of the five powers at London, the United States should have achieved parity with Great Britain by the date of its expiration, December 31, 1936. Japan will occupy at that time a ratio of naval power somewhere between the five-five-three capital ship ratio agreed upon at the Washington 1922 conference and the ten-ten-seven auxiliary ship ratio which the Tokyo delegation sought at the beginning of this conference.

Nine battleships are to be scrapped, or, in the case of three, converted to training vessels, and a five-year capital ship construction holiday is decreed. The ships to be scrapped are, for the United States, the Florida, Utah and either the Arkansas or the Wyoming, while Great Britain will abandon the Benbow, the Iron Duke, the Marlborough, the Emperor of India and the Tiger. Japan will scrap the Hiyei.

Under the treaty the United States may have 180,000 tons of large cruisers, Great Britain 146,800 tons and Japan 108,400 tons. In small cruisers the United States may have 143,500 tons, Great Britain 192,200 tons and Japan 100,450 tons. Destroyer tonnages are set at: The United States, 150,000 tons; Great Britain, 150,000 tons, and Japan, 105,500 tons. Each of the three powers agrees to keep its submarine tonnage within 52,700.

Neither France nor Italy is signatory to that section of the treaty limiting cruisers and auxiliary craft, and a safeguarding clause has therefore been inserted which will allow either of the three powers to increase its program, the others increasing theirs proportionately, should a continental naval race develop.

France and Italy signed sections of the treaty fixing a capital ship holiday, prescribing rules of submarine warfare and relating to less important phases of disarmament.

ENVOYS IN HAPPY MOOD

jective effort, with the help of a little reciprocal comprehension and the mutual confidence which they owe to each other.

"The complementary agreement reached by three of us is too precious a contribution to the general maintenance of peace for France and Italy not to have a very keen desire to extend it. The French government will show all possible good will in order to facilitate the putting into effect of this agreement. We have no doubt that the Italian government is similarly disposed."

In the absence in Rome of Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, Admiral Giuseppi Sirianni spoke for Italy, but did not respond to M. Briand's olive branch. He congratulated the three powers that have agreed and claimed for Prime Minister Benito Mussolini credit for suggesting the capital ship holiday two years ago. Redefining the Italian position, he said:

"The Fascist conception of this problem has always moved in the same definite line. We favor reduction of armaments to the lowest possible level. We desire armaments to be purely defensive. Any initiative toward such an end will meet in my country with sincere and cordial response."

Speaking for Japan, former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Tokyo delegation, raised the ghost of the 70 per cent controversy by stressing the fact that the treaty signed today remains in force for six years only.

Japanese Attitude Cited.

"If the present treaty were to regulate the situation for too many years to come," he said, "the Japanese people might entertain feelings of insecurity as to their national defense, but in view of the fact that the present agreement is binding upon the powers concerned for a limited duration, until 1936, and the naval strengths to be held by the powers thereafter are to be reconsidered at the next conference, Japan, from her ardent desire to see the cause of peace promoted, from her conviction that the conclusion of a treaty like the present will naturally strengthen the sense of national safety, and in a spirit of accommodation and harmony, has gladly agreed to the present treaty.

Stimson Says Farewell.

The farewell between Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Stimson took place, not in the conference chamber, but in the gardens of No. 10 Downing street, official residence of British premiers, where the indefatigible movietone men again induced the chiefs of the American and British delegations to make little speeches. Mr. Stimson said:

"Our hopes have been realized. The agreement discussed in principle on the Rapidan has been translated into a definite treaty in London." And Mr. MacDonald replied:

"Although we are in the garden in Downing street, in spirit this moment I am back by the rushing waters and sighing trees of the Rapidan."

The premier sent "hearty and personal regards" to President Hoover, and Stimson ended with:

"Thank you very much, Mr. Prime Minister. Good-by."

Most of Delegation Sails.

The chief American delegates, except Ambassadors Dawes and Gibson and Senator David A. Reed, and about 40 other members of the American delegation, including the wives of members, left London at 8:30 tonight for Southampton, whence they will sail at daybreak tomorow (Tuesday midnight in New York) aboard the Leviathan for New York.

Senator and Mrs. Reed are remaining on this side of the Atlantic for a short holiday, the length of which will be determined partly by the date on which the United States Senate begins consideration of the naval treaty.

Ten of the girls from the State Department, who came over with the delegation, are taking a holiday on this side before returning to Washington.

Capital Cadet Wins Fencing Honor.

Cadet John A. Berry, son of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. John A. Berry, of 2153 California street northwest, won the Clemens gold medal for novices with the foil recently at the intercollegiate meet in New York. Young Berry, who is enrolled at West Point, formerly attended Western High School.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 12 noon and recessed at 5:25 p. m. to 12 noon today.

Confirmed the nominations of Edgar C. Snyder to be United States marshal for District of Columbia; Charles E. Sandall to be United States attorney for Nebraska, Fred Cubberly to be United States attorney for the northern district of Florida, and received the nomination of Frederick H. Payne, of Massachusetts, to be Assistant Secretary of War.

Rejected, 38 to 29, a proposal by Senator Gould (Republican), Maine, to place immigration quota restrictions on all countries of the Western Hemisphere.

Agreed to consider the unfavorable report of the judiciary committee on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker to be associate justice of the Supreme Court, on next Monday.

Senator Bingham (Republican), of Connecticut, introduced two bills, one to extend the prohibition law to all territories subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, including Hawaii and the Virgin Islands, and the other to permit the Governor of the Virgin Islands to permit storage of liquor at St. Thomas for sale to vessels of foreign registry.

Ordered an investigation of ship sales, construction loans and mail contracts made by the Shipping Board.

Secretary Davis laid charges before Chairman Nye of the campaign investigating committee involving the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial contest.

Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, attacked John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, for testimony given before the lobby committee.

HOUSE.

Met at 12 noon and adjourned at 5:15 p. m. to 12 noon today.

Upheld President Hoover's veto by rejecting, 243 to 96, the Hudspeth bill to provide for coinage of 10,000 50-cent pieces commemorating the Gadsden Purchase.

Representative Bachmann (Republican), West Virginia, predicted the failure of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission's proposed legislation for relief of congested Federal courts by authorizing juryless trial of liquor law violators before United States commissioners.

Representative Kennedy (Democrat), New York, was appointed to the committees on labor and claims.

Chairman Britten of the naval affairs committee announced that he had arranged hearings to be held the first week in May on the selection of a dirigible base on the West Coast.

Military subcommittee asked additional time for the formulation of a Muscle Shoals bill along the lines outlined by the full committee last week.

Representative Connolly (Democrat), Massachusetts, introduced Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, retired, who commanded the famous Yankee Division.

NEW YORKER HEADS INTERNATIONAL BANK

Gates W. McGarrah Named Unanimously by Envoys of Six Countries.

FRENCHMAN TO BE AID

Basel, Switzerland, April 22 (A.P.). An American resident, Gates W. McGarrah, New York financier, today was placed at the head of the Bank for International Settlements, organized to handle German reparations payments under the Young plan. Delegates of six countries that were belligerents twelve years ago voted for him unanimously.

A French financial expert, Pierre Queshay, was elected general manager with only one dissenting vote, that cast by Dr. Hans Luter, of the German Reichsbank, who said that the German delegation opposed the election of a Frenchman as general manager in principle, but emphasized that such opposition was not personal.

The setting up of the international bank is called the final and most decisive step to liquidate the financial problems growing out of the World War by application of the Young plan, worked out by another American, Owen D. Young.

And with today's meeting the question of war reparations is said here to finally have emerged from a political status backed by menaces to a real financial and economic domain based on business.

Mr. McGarrah, who formerly was chairman of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, long has been famed as a banker and became familiar with the European economic situation in 1924 when he was appointed American representative on the advisory board of the German Reichsbank.

Lindbergh to Make Dawn-to-Dusk Hop

Havana-Cristobal Flight Is to Inaugurate New Mail Service.

New York, April 22 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, fresh from his record-breaking cross-country flight, will take off Sunday morning from Havana Cuba, for Cristobal, Canal Zone, in a dawn-to-dusk flight inaugurating the new seven-day mail service between the United States and Buenos Aires.

Col. Lindbergh will take off Saturday afternoon from Miami in a regular plane of Pan-American Airways and will spend the night in Havana. He will take off from there at 6 a. m. Sunday, bound across the Caribbean Sea for Cape Gracias Adios, in Honduras, then to Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, and then to Cristobal, Panama Canal Zone, where he expects to land at 6 p. m., thus covering a distance of 1,200 miles in 12 hours.

The plane, in addition to the usual mails, will carry a quantity of air mail bearing the first cachet with letters of felicitation from Government and diplomatic officials in Washington to officials in cities and countries of South America.

SCHOOLS OF DISTRICT BAN EDISON CONTEST

the board meeting Dr. Ballou gave a number of reasons for his stand, among them the fact that the contest offered students of the District only a very remote chance of winning, as only one scholarship is offered for all the students in the United States.

Charles F. Carusi, president of the Board of Education, in discussing the matter last night, said:

"We decided not to participate in the contest on the recommendation of the superintendent. With only one scholarship offered, the chance of one of our pupils winning was so remote that we felt the reward did not justify the time or effort on the part of the students.

"It is not that we have any prejudice against the Edison contest, but simply as a matter of principle that we made this decision. We are approached constantly with contests of every sort for the students, and if we were to accept them all, the students would have no time left in which to pursue their regular studies."

Frank R. Schell, assistant to the president of the Thomas A. Edison Industries, in a statement from Orange, N. J., last night declared that one of the reasons for the District's withdrawal was that the contest served the ends of commercial publicity.

Mr. Carusi indicated, however, in his statement that this end of the discussion received scant attention in that the board was looking only for the students' welfare. He intimated that if any proposition was suitable for the children, it probably would be adopted whether or not some one else received indirect benefit.

The statement by Mr. Schell also included a second statement attributed to Mr. Edison, as follows:

"Science is still in its infancy. Its future progress will be decided by the schoolboys of today. I want to get them all interested in scientific study and research. This is the purpose of my scholarship offering."

Last year District pupils participated, and the winner went to Orange for the final test given by Mr. Edison.

PRESIDENT SUBMITS PAYNE FOR WAR POST

New England Manufacturer Choice for Assistant Secretary of War.

CONFIRMATION IS SEEN

President Hoover yesterday selected Frederick Huff Payne, of Greenfield, Mass., to be Assistant Secretary of War, and sent the appointment to the Senate for confirmation.

Mr. Payne, who is a lieutenant colonel in the Ordnance Reserve, will take the place in the War Department left vacant when, after the death of Secretary Good, the President raised Patrick J. Hurley, then Assistant Secretary of War, to the full secretaryship.

At the White House it was said that Mr. Payne is a Republican. He, however, has not identified himself with the party in any very special manner. Mr. Payne is a banker and is the chairman of the board of the Greenfield Tap & Die Corporation.

As a young man he was a bank examiner in Massachusetts, a descriptive statement issued by the War Department set forth. In 1908 Mr. Payne, who is about 50 years of age, married and the father of three children, became president of the Mechanics Trust Co. of Boston, and later vice president of the Federal Trust Co. of Boston.

Mr. Payne has been connected with many industrial organizations and since 1912 has been treasurer, vice president, president and chairman of the board of the Greenfield Tap & Die Corporation.

At the outbreak of the World War, Mr. Payne entered the service as a major in the Ordnance Department, in charge of procurement activities in the Bridgeport, Conn., district. Since 1923 he has been the assistant district chief of the Bridgeport ordnance district, which has kept him in touch with the War Department, especially in connection with its munitions program.

In order to qualify fully for the position, Mr. Payne has resigned all the offices held in firms engaged in doing business with the Government. Favorable action by the Senate on the appointment is certain.

Delegates Named By Brith Sholom

Ten Will Attempt to Bring Next Convention to Washington.

With the view of landing the 1931 convention of the Independent Order Brith Sholom for Washington, ten members of the local George Washington Lodge of the organization were named at its meeting last night at the Jewish Community Center as delegates to the forthcoming convention on June 29 at Norfolk.

They were William Tash, Harry Neff, Bernard Danzansky, Morris Garfinkle, Benjamin Hayman, Morris Abramson, Nathan Plotnick, Harry Paretsky, Harry Carroll and Hyman Klavans.

A committee also was named to arrange for a celebration at the unveiling of a bronze tablet by the order in the lobby of the Hebrew Home for the Aged to honor Mr. and Mrs. B. Danzansky "for valuable services rendered to the order."

Deficit Warning Given by Hoover

President's Letter Tells Congress Estimates Show $20,000,000 Lack.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover reported to Congress yesterday that revised estimates for next year by the Budget Bureau show a Treasury deficit of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000.

His letter to Chairman Jones, of the Senate appropriations committee, warning that additional expenditures of about $300,000,000 are pending now in Congress, said this situation "is cause for real alarm."

The letter was read to the Senate and brought an immediate demand from Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, for specifications.

Senator Jones, in response to Senator Borah, said that up to date Congress has kept its regular appropriations for next year beneath budget recommendations. The letter was interpreted by Senate leaders as a warning against enactment of any of the 125 bills which the President said would increase the prospective deficit for next year.

However, Senator Borah demanded in the brief discussion that the bills be specified. Senator Jones said he did not know which bills were "alarming."

CAPITAL HEADS URGE TINDALL RETENTION

and heartily indorsed a bill authorizing him and his colleagues to continue Dr. Tindall in the District service.

The former civilian Commissioners—Proctor L. Dougherty and Sidney F. Taliaferro—felt that to make a special exception of Dr. Tindall's case and prolong his service past the retirement age would establish a dangerous precedent, and they so told Congress.

Col. William B. Ladue, the Engineer Commissioner, went along with Mr. Dougherty and Mr. Taliaferro, but it is understood that, in his heart, he was opposed to the stand they took.

The bill authorizing the Commissioners to continue Dr. Tindall in the service was called up at a meeting of the Senate District committee late yesterday by Chairman Capper.

Commissioner Reichelderfer conceded at the outset that the former Commissioners were "technically correct," but that was about all he would concede. In indorsing the bill, he spoke not only for himself but for Gen. Crosby.

"Some people think that Gen. Crosby is a hard-boiled martinet," said Commissioner Reichelderfer. "They are wrong. As a matter of fact, he has taken a deep interest in the case of Dr. Tindall.

"This is a very unusual case, and probably won't be duplicated again in 75 years. I don't think you could find anybody who is opposed to keeping him in office."

Col. Ladue told why the former Board of Commissioners opposed special legislation to retain Dr. Tindall, and then paid a glowing tribute to the veteran.

Dr. George C. Havenner and Grover Ayers also indorsed the bill.

Chairman Capper said that he would poll the committee so as to make an early favorable report on the bill.

BANDITS IN MEXICO KIDNAP MARYLANDER

Life of Former Snow Hill Dentist Is Not Believed to Be in Danger.

OWNER OF RANCH, MINE

Mexico City, April 22 (N.Y.W.N.S.). For the third time within a month Mexican bandits have kidnaped an American resident of this country, it was learned today, when United States Consul Raleigh Gibson at Guadalajara reported the disappearance of Dr. George Edward Purnell, former Baltimore dentist, who for 35 years has been living on a ranch in that place.

Consul Gibson's information, meager, but, he belated, accurate, was forwarded to the State Department at Washington with the assurance that Dr. Purnell's life was in no danger. It is thought he is being held for ransom, as was the case with the other two kidnapings of Americans.

As soon as Dr. Purnell's disappearance was reported to Federal authorities, a detachment of troops was sent to scour the countryside for the missing American. It is unlikely that he will be located very easily, however, authorities pointed out, because of the innumerable hiding places available to his kidnapers in that wild region on the edge of the Barranca country.

Dr. Purnell is one of the oldest and best known American residents in the State, having come here about 35 years ago. His daughter is Adela Purnell Weatherwarx, the poetess, who published the poetry magazine, Palms.

HOOVER REQUESTS FUNDS FOR BUILDING

ing program from $338,000,000 to $568,000,000.

The original building act of May 25, 1926, authorized $50,000,000 for buildings here, and a subsequent act authorized $25,000,000 for the purchase of the private property in the Pennsylvania avenue-Mall triangle.

Postoffice Most Costly.

In passing the Keyes-Elliott act last month, Congress authorized an additional $100,000,000 for buildings here and $15,000,000 additional for land.

The new Postoffice Building will be located a little to the west of the present one and will be larger.

Thus far it is the most costly building that has been planned, the only one costing more being the huge $17,000,000 Commerce Department Building which now is nearing completion.

The $10,000,000 Department of Justice Building, the third most costly, will be erected between Ninth and Tenth streets and Pennsylvania avenue and B street. It had been planned to put the Archives Building there, but Congress now is authorized to put that structure between Seventh and Ninth streets, Pennsylvania avenue and B street, which includes the Center Market site.

The Labor Department Building will go up at Fourteenth and B streets, and the Interstate Commerce Commission Building at Twelfth and B streets.

The Public Health Service Building will be erected in the vicinity of Twenty-fifth street, west of the Naval Hospital and near the Hygienic Laboratory.

The sum of $3,000,000 recommended for the remodeling of the State, War and Navy Building will permit an improvement of another building that frequently has been denounced on esthetic grounds.

When the building is remodeled it will look somewhat like the Treasury Department, and the result will be that the two structures that so boldly flank the White House will be more in harmony than they now are.

SENATE WILL TURN TO PARKER MONDAY

Fight Expected to Be Close, With Watson Confident of Confirmation.

G. O. P. RANKS DIVIDED

(Associated Press.)

The Senate will begin consideration on next Monday of the unfavorable report of the judiciary committee on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to the Supreme Court with the signs pointing last night to a close decision.

Leaving the White House yesterday, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, was confident that upon a showdown Judge Parker would be confirmed. However, administration leaders were jolted later in the day by reports of unexpected opposition to the nominee from the Democratic side.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader, pleaded successfully to defer the Parker debate until Next Monday after Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, leader of the opposition, had proposed that it be taken up this Thursday.

With their ranks badly split on the nomination, Republican leaders are making a thorough canvass of their strength. Senator Watson reported after the White House conference that President Hoover was standing by his nominee.

No intimation came from Judge Parker yesterday of a request to appear before the judiciary committee to answer protests of organized labor and of Negro associations to him. Word was received indirectly that he intended to fight it out and let the Senate reject or confirm him.

Senator Borah predicted in the Senate that two or three days of debate would be consumed in discussion of the nomination.

Rochester U. Musical Clubs Offer Program

The University of Rochester Musical Clubs will present a program tonight at the First Congregational Church. Theodore F. Fitch, director of the glee club, has written a special orchestral score.

Other numbers by the combined clubs will be Mozart's "Gloria," from "Twelfth Mass," one of the best-known works of the great composer, and "Isa Lei," a folk song of the Fiji Islands, which has never been heard before in America.

ALL BAKER CLEWS COLLAPSE; RICHMOND ALIBI IS CHECKED

statement that he had remained in her home from March 26, when he was released from the Raleigh, N. C., prison, to April 13.

He had not been in Baltimore on the days prior to the murder, according to Mrs. Siegel. White said he boarded a bus for Richmond in Baltimore on April 13, the day after the body was found. Police found a bus ticket stub in his pocket to substantiate this assertion.

Mrs. Siegel said that White came to her home on the morning of April 13 and remained until evening. Prior to this visit she had not seen him in seven or eight years, according to police. Until certain details of his story are corroborated he will be held. Miss Inez Eyre, a friend of Miss Baker, said last night that to her knowledge, her friend never owned any communion cups. Usually they are owned by churches and not individuals, she said.

Several Aliases Given.

When White was arrested, he gave several aliases, police say. He wore a gray felt hat and a gray overcoat and was carrying a hacksaw. He is about 5 feet 7 inches tall and 32 years old.

Mr. Gloth, Sheriff Howard Field and Sheriff Pyle may arrest a man today in Rockville. This man is said by police to have been friendly with Miss Baker. He is a salesman for a jewelry concern and travels through Maryland.

Mr. Gloth and other officers subjected Smith, the colored man, to a rigorous examination yesterday. Mr. Gloth sought an admission that Smith was the man who rifled parked automobiles of the beads and book, which were found with Miss Baker's garments in a manhole near the murder scene.

Police had attached significance to the tracing of these articles until it was discovered that all had been pilfered from parked automobiles. Smith and Vollin had admitted stealing a scarf and purse from the murder car on April 12.

Testimony Is Conflicting.

Under further questioning they alternately admitted and denied that they had the other articles of apparel which had been abstracted from the automobile. When police brought them to their homes, they denied that they had taken the coat, small purse and other articles, which were among Miss Baker's missing effects.

Decision to reinterrogate the colored men followed the establishment of the fact that all the trinkets and other articles found in the sewer were stolen from parked automobiles. None of the owners of the property were acquainted with Miss Baker.

It has been the object of the police to obtain an admission from the colored men that they stole the jewelry and book. One theory is that the men had been rifling automobiles and also stole the garments and other things from Miss Baker's abandoned car. When the scarf and purse as recovered, it is thought by police that friends of the couple, not knowing exactly what had been taken from the Baker automobile, gathered all the articles together and deposited them in the sewer after it had been searched by police.

More Grilling Suggested.

Mr. Gloth notified Inspector Shelby yesterday that the colored men had remained steadfast to their story that they had not stolen the coat and other effects. Inspector Shelby suggested another inquisition.

This theory of the articles having been deposited in the sewer after the police had searched further involves the mystery of the finding of the keys of the automobile and a doctor's bill near the sewer on April 14, a day before the police searched the manhole.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly announced yesterday that he is working on the theory that a jealous suitor of a coworker of Miss Baker may have committed the murder when Miss Baker refused to reveal the indiscretion of the man's fiancee.

Headquarters men and Department of Justice agents are still concentrating on the location of the man who had been annoying Miss Baker. The girl had complained to her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas F. Baker, of Oak Grove, Va., that a man in the Navy Department had been forcing his attentions upon her.

Man Claims He Sold Watch.

Joseph Rogone, of Jersey City, N. J., who is now living at 705 Sixth street northwest, yesterday voluntarily appeared at headquarters and told Inspector Shelby that he had sold the watch which had been sought by police.

Rogone, a peddler of second-hand jewelry, said he sold that watch to Charles Quertermous, who turned it over to John Kane, a mate on a dredge near the Highway Bridge. Rogone, who bears a marked resemblance to Mervin Sisson, an exonerated friend of Miss Baker, said he wished to save the police trouble in trying to locate the seller of the watch which he recognized from a picture in The Post.

Hurdy-Gurdy Man Arrested.

Grinding a hurdy-gurdy machine along Connecticut avenue near Albemarle street northwest early yesterday afternoon led to the arrest of Albert Fiorella, of New York City, on charges of playing music in the streets without a permit. He was booked at the Fourteenth Precinct station by Policeman R. M. Kirby and released on $10 bond.

WILBUR PRESENTS AWARD TO MOTON

Harmon Prize Is Given to Tuskegee Educator in Capital.

HOOVER LETTER IS READ

Presentation of the Harmon award for outstanding contribution toward improving relations between white and Negro people of America, to Dr. Robert Russa Moton, principal at Tuskegee Institute, was made last night by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, in the auditorium of the First Congregational Church, on behalf of the commission on the church and race relations of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. The award consisted of a gold medal and $1,000. Dr. Anson Phelps Stokes, canon of the Cathedral of Washington, presided.

Following an invocation by Bishop James E. Freeman, a letter from the President to Canon Stokes was read by Dr. Emmett J. Scott, secretary of the Washington committee on race relations, as follows:

"I am indeed gratified to learn that the Harmon award for distinguished achievement among Negroes is to be presented to Dr. Robert Russa Moton for his outstanding contribution improving the relations between the white and Negro people in America. No man of either race more clearly deserves such recognition for services that have done so much to increase good will and cooperation in a field where these are indispensible to the common welfare. I congratulate Dr. Moton most cordially upon this earned honor.

"Yours faithfully,

"HERBERT HOOVER."

The career of service of Dr. Moton was outlined by the Secretary of the Interior. This award, he stated which had been given Dr. Will Alexander, of Atlanta; Dr. Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, and Dr. James H. Dillard, of Charlottesville, Va., previously, was awarded for the first time to a member of the Negro race. Dr. Moton responded briefly.

Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, Howard University president, spoke at length on the relation of race problems to the destiny of America.

Musical numbers were rendered by the Howard University Glee Club under direction of Roy Wilfred Tibbs.

SENATORS FAVOR CENTER BILL IF LOAN IS WITHOUT INTEREST

up on the experiences of cities that have floated long-time bond issues.

Senator Copeland was surprised that the business men should hesitate to indorse the bill, and characterized their stand as a "reactionary" one.

Dr. George C. Havenner, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations, indorsed the bill, providing the interest provision is dropped. His organization, he said, would like to have the Federal loan increased to $25,000,000, so that not only the municipal center area could be built up, but needed bridges and other projects could be taken care of as well.

At the outset of yesterday's hearing, Senator Jones, of Washintgon, declared that he was opposed to the Capper bill.

When Chairman Capper called on Commissioner Reichelderfer, the latter designated Maj. Donovan, the auditor, to outline the views of the Board of Commissioners with regard to the proposed loan.

The municipal center, Maj. Donovan said, would be located in a four-block area between Pennsylvania avenue and Judiciary square and Third and Sixth streets. Here will be grouped the buildings to house the various departments of the local government.

The first two buildings, he said, will be a courts buildings to house the Police Court, the Juvenile Court and the Recorder of Deeds Office, and the second will be a general administration building to take the place of the present District Building when that is abandoned to make way for the Federal building program in that part of the city.

These two buildings, Maj. Donovan said, will cost $21,500,000. The Federal Government, he said, is expected to give the city $5,000,000 for the District Building, which may be deducted from the $21,500,000.

The question, he said, is where is the $16,500,000 to come from. Answering it, he declared that it must come either from increased taxes or from a Federal loan.

Commissioner Reichelderfer interjected the statement later that a tax increase is inevitable in any event, because the income of the city at present is not encugh to meet the city's running expenses.

In pleading for the dropping of the proposed interest charge on the loan, Maj. Donovan made these arguments:

That the municipal center buildings will be monumental in character and in harmony with the Federal building across the Avenue, and consequently will be more expensive than those which a city might ordinarily erect.

That, inasmuch as the Cramton park bill and the Bingham airport bill require no interest on the loans they authorize, none should be exacted by the Capper bill.

That the Federal Government has an average of $6,000,000 of the District's money in the national Treasury and yet pays no interest on it. If this money were placed in private banks, Maj. Donovan said, the District would receive 2 per cent interest on it, and maybe more.

Maj. Donovan declared that, unless the Federal Government should increase the $9,000,000 lump sum which it annually contributes toward the District's expenses, an increase in the tax rate by 1932 was unavoidable.

The only reason there wasn't one this year, he said was that the city had a surplus in the Treasury. At present, he said, the running expenses of the District are increasing at the rate of $3,000,000 a year, while the revenue is increasing at a rate of only $1,000,000 a year.

stands for exceptional power, pickup and speed

We chose a RED ROCKET to identify the New Series Pontiac Big Six demonstrator because it suggests the car's remarkable power, pickup and speed.

POWERFUL. We want you to discover how smoothly, quietly, Pontiac's engine develops 60 horsepower at the moderate internal speed so essential to long life and economy. A 200 cubic inch piston displacement makes it the largest power plant in any six of Pontiac's price.

COMFORTABLE. Long springs and Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers make Pontiac an exceptionally easy riding car. Engine vibration is reduced to a minimum by the Harmonic Balancer and new type rubber mountings. And spacious, deep-seated Fisher bodies enable you to ride in it or drive it in a delightfully restful, relaxed position.

Stop the RED ROCKET and ask for a ride. We believe you will agree that no other low-priced six offers as much for the money as this finer Pontiac.

TO SOUTHERN SENATORS.

Southern senators who are disposed to vote against Judge John J. Parker because he is a Republican seem to be taking a very short-sighted view of the situation. He was nominated, not because he is a Republican, but because he is from the South. A Republican could have been selected from any section of the country, but obviously President Hoover sought a justice from that section of the South which has not been represented on the Supreme Court for more than half a century. His choice was made largely upon the recommendation of senators, both Democrats and Republicans, who know Judge Parker and can vouch for his fine qualifications.

If Judge Parker should be rejected it will be by a combination, without regard to party, which will include senators who are candidates for reelection this year and who have been frightened by the bogey of the "colored vote." Among other false accusations against Judge Parker is the charge that he is prejudiced against colored voters. This charge has been refuted, but timorous senators having large colored constituencies are afraid that colored voters will not learn that the charge against him is false and will take revenge against any senator who votes for him.

The anti-Parker combination could not win, however, without the help of Southern Democrats. Their opposition to him fails entirely to take into account the fact that in voting against him they would be laying the foundation for the denial of Southern representation upon the Nation's highest court. If Judge Parker is unacceptable because of colored opposition, what other Southerner could hope to be appointed? The opposition to such a man would be greatly intensified, and no President could be blamed if he should turn his back upon the South for the sake of avoiding a race controversy.

Justice McReynolds is entitled to retirement within a few months, and normally his successor would be a Democrat chosen from the South. But if Judge Parker should be rejected on account of the race question, with the help of Southern votes, it is very improbable that the President would precipitate a still greater race controversy by selecting a Southerner. At any rate, he would not be criticized by the country if he should look elsewhere for a successor to Justice McReynolds.

There is nothing to indicate that President Hoover would discriminate politically against any section. The great parties should be recognized in nominations to the Supreme Court. A Democrat should succeed Justice McReynolds, and this Democrat should come from the South. President Taft nominated a Southern Democrat for Chief Justice. Southern Democrats in the Senate did not unite against Chief Justice Hughes, but recognized the fitness of the appointment. Northern Republicans in the Senate would not have any valid reason for opposing a Southern Democrat on the ground of section or politics.

The country always remembers what some senators seem to forget—that a President, in making nominations for the Supreme Court, is bound by all the rules of honor to distribute the places fairly, so that there shall be no discrimination against any section or any political party. No President has attempted to debase the court. The Senate is in honor bound to cooperate in keeping the court above politics and sectionalism. Judge Parker was selected to succeed a Southerner and a Republican, the lamented Justice Sanford. How any Southern senator can oppose him, and thus help racial and radical prejudice to defeat him, is beyond understanding.

THE TREATY TEXT.

The text of the naval treaty is now published and President Hoover has wisely decided to submit the pact to the Senate immediately upon the return of the American delegation. Much might be lost and nothing would be gained by delay. Having completed their labors amid great difficulties, the negotiators are entitled to an early verdict from the Senate.

No one can properly appraise the treaty from the American standpoint, until a thorough analysis has been made by competent American naval authorities. Hearings before the Senate naval affairs committee will have a decisive influence in forming public opinion. Free opportunity should be given naval experts to express their views and the hearings should be public except when executive sessions appear imperative. The method of conducting hearings, as well as the trend of the debate on the floor of the Senate, will have much to do with deciding the question of ratification.

With respect to treaties generally, it has been said that the actual text constitutes about one-tenth of their value while the way they are carried out constitutes the other nine-tenths. The text indicates that this is a naval treaty designed primarily to bring about relative limitation of naval armaments without jeopardizing naval defense. If American naval opinion rallies to the support of the treaty it will be because the Navy regards the pact beneficial and not patently or latently detrimental to improved standards of national defense. Will the American Navy be better off with or without the treaty? That will be the real test.

The text shows no outward trace of the brand of "statesmen's pact" which was discussed in advance as a necessary substitution for a treaty drawn up by naval experts. Likewise, there is no trace of political commitments which Ramsey MacDonald sought to link with the document. Neither the league covenant nor the Kellogg antiwar pact is mentioned even in the preamble.

President Hoover is understood to have opposed cluttering up a naval treaty with superfluous phrases about everlasting peace and it is known that Mr. Hoover insisted upon keeping any form of political commitment out of the pact. The outcries of the internationalists and professional pacifists against this phase of the American delegation's work constitute the best advance recommendation for the treaty.

With respect to broad-gauge features of the text, it may not be fair to appraise them singly or without reference to the treaty as a whole. The anticipated abandonment of capital ship replacements leaves parity in numbers of capital ships. Great Britain and the United States each retain 15. Whether this means actual parity in fighting efficiency will be a subject for the experts to disclose.

In cruisers, America's 21-ship Geneva program has dwindled to 15, to be completed before 1936 with the right to lay down but not complete 3 more prior to 1936. This feature will be closely scrutinized.

The safeguarding clause renders limitation uncertain and no one seriously pretends that reductions along the line of the MacDonald theories have been carried out. But the test for America is whether or not these features are detrimental from the standpoint of insuring a balanced navy.

The uncertainty may serve as an incentive to keep the country alive to the need of a navy measuring up to maximum treaty strength.

Another conference is provided for, to be held in 1935 unless "a more generally known agreement" is reached by that time. This has reference to the possibility of a general disarmament conference under the auspices of the League of Nations which continues year by year to wrestle with the problem.

One feature of the London conference must not be overlooked. Assuming that the American negotiators did the best possible under the circumstances, it has been conclusively shown that the naval powers have no intention of relying upon peace formulas in place of fighting ships. The incessant talk of future disarmament conferences as a reason for not building warships has demonstrated its own futility. The London conference has exploded this stock-in-trade pacifist plea.

SENATOR GOFF RETIRES.

It is a great pity that the health of Senator Goff is such as to prohibit him from entering the West Virginia primaries in August and subsequently prosecuting his campaign for reelection. Although a fight is to be anticipated in the West Virginia elections, Senator Goff has served in the Senate with such signal distinction that his election probably would have been a certainty. An attack of pneumonia suffered in 1928, however, left Senator Goff in a debilitated condition from which he has never fully recovered and his arduous labors during the present session left their mark, in the words of his physicians, in a depleted physical and nervous organization. Senator Goff is forced by circumstances beyond his control to enter upon a peaceful life whereas his inclination no doubt is to remain in the thick of the battle.

Following a brilliant and successful career as a lawyer, public prosecutor and United States district attorney in Milwaukee, in 1917, Guy Despard Goff entered the service of the Nation. Assigned to the staff of Gen. Crowder with the rank of colonel, he prepared the rules and regulations under which the selective draft act was enforced and wrote the opinions for the War Department relating to conscientious objectors. Subsequently Col. Goff served on Gen. Pershing's staff in Europe and in the fall of 1919 he was sent to Germany to supervise the functioning of all courts in the area occupied by American forces. Upon his return to the United States, he was appointed general counsel for the Shipping Board, and later he became commissioner representing the Great Lakes area. In 1921, he was appointed assistant to the Attorney General of the United States, and, in 1924, he was elected to the Senate by the people of West Virginia to occupy the seat once held by his father.

Senator Goff is a stalwart Republican. Through the bickering and obstructivism that has characterized the Senate of recent years, his presence has been an important influence for the preservation of order. He has evidenced an unusual conception of the responsibility of a senator. His speeches, formal and informal, are models of lucidity and construction. It is the Senate's and the Nation's great loss that Senator Goff is compelled to withdraw from the field of active politics.

QUEBEC BIDS FOR TOURISTS

From the Manitoba Free Press.

To the unimaginative person a road may be only a road: just so much concrete or gravel, built and kept in repair in order that vehicles may traverse it with the least possible delay and inconvenience. To the Quebec department of highways, however, a road has a deeper significance, as the 1929 report clearly indicates.

"There is hardly a sphere of human activity with which highways have no concern," the report states. The highway is a medium of beauty, of social intercourse, of education and culture; it contributes largely to the prosperity of merchant and farmer, of garage man and hotel keeper. Above all, highways are the foundation, the prerequisite, of the tourist industry, an industry which is growing to such an extent that the United States tourist traffic in Quebec alone last year was estimated at $61,266,000.

"No roads, no touring," is the slogan of the Quebec department of highways, and so the roads are made as perfect as possible. But that is not enough. People must be told that these good roads are there, and when they come to them, they must find touring so easy and delightful that they will return, and bring others with them.

Publicity comes first. In 1929 an official was sent on a tour of propaganda through the Eastern and Southeastern States, and representatives were sent to exhibitions in various States, as well as in the province itself. The department advertises in newspapers and magazines. A representative in New York and agents in Chicago see to the distribution of information and booklets. In the 12 months previous to the publication of the report, 1,397,000 booklets, bulletins and maps were issued. The aim of the department is to attract tourist traffic, and to distribute it to different parts of the province. The sound principle laid down is that good publicity should advertise one district without disparaging another and should be based on truth and justice for all.

During the period from 1922 to 1928 the department planted 161,521 trees along the roads, and 49,017 in 1929, while 22,157 were given to private persons for the purpose of planting. A forestry engineer is employed to supervise the maintenance of trees on 1,325 miles of highways. This includes trimming, pruning and spraying for insects and diseases. Further to protect trees both on highways and elsewhere, a law has been passed prosecuting any person who destroys or damages totally, or in part, any tree, bush, shrub or brushwood without having obtained permission from the proprietor. For many years signboards have been prohibited on the highways.

Realizing that unsightly buildings may ruin the most beautiful scenery, the department provides free of charge, lime to whitewash fences, houses, buildings, sheds, and such like, within 200 feet of the highway. Some 8,000 barrels of lime were furnished in the course of the season for this purpose, to 10,500 persons, in 55 out of the 70 rural counties.

The department also encourages local embellishment campaigns and supplies medals for the winners when requested. Awards are made for the best gardens, lawn culture and general neatness of surroundings. The aim is to get the public to realize the importance of beautifying the highways and environs, and when this has been accomplished, government assistance will no longer be necessary. Stress is laid on the necessity of conserving for the province its French character as one of its greatest attractions to American visitors.

Another departure which testifies to the vision of the leaders of the department, is the subsidizing of a course in the economics of the tourist industry at the University of Montreal, and a course for historical guides in the City of Quebec.

JAPANESE CHERRIES.

Japanese flowering cherries differ widely in fruiting habits, depending on the variety of tree and on the climate, says the Pathfinder. So far as known, the double-flowered varieties do not produce fruit anywhere, and only occasionally is fruit found on the semi-double forms. The single-flowered varieties, which grow wild in Japan, do bear fruit, but very sparingly except in certain regions.

For centuries the Japanese have looked upon these ornamental cherries with an admiration bordering on reverence, and their horticulturists have devoted much time to the development of new varieties. Although such trees were brought to the United States as early as 1863, and there are now many collections in this country, the best known and most popular collection is the large group in Potomac Park, Washington, D. C.

The first Japanese flowering cherries planted on public ground in Washington were purchased in 1909 by Mrs. William Howard Taft. In 1910, upon the suggestion of the Japanese consul general at New York, the city of Washington received 2,000 trees as a gift from the city of Tokyo. This entire consignment, however, was ordered burned by the government because the trees were infested with insect pests and plant diseases. Tokyo then sent another consignment of more than 3,000 trees, which were planted in Potomac Park.

JUST FOLKS

DISCOVERY.

He did not ask to come,
He had no wish to read,
No wish to hear the drum,
No dreaming of a deed,
No purpose to fulfil,
No gift had he to give,
He knew not earth, until
It came his time to live.

He knew not flowers or skies,
Night's stars or morning's sun;
His mother's tender eyes
Were the first he'd looked upon,
Ere in her lap he curled,
Soothed by her gentle arms,
He did not know the world
Contained so many charms

Would he have chosen then
A world he did not know?
To live and toil with men
Would he have wished to go?
With right of choice at birth
What tiny soul would dare
One day upon the earth
Or wish to venture there.

Now here he dreams and reads,
Loves birds and flowers and trees;
Shares in all human needs;
Finds charm in much he sees,
Though many a curtain blinds
And screens from him the plan,
Within himself he finds
The wish to be a man.

Your Crop Will Be Much Like His If You Plant the Same Kind of Seed.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

It is very easy to select the right philosophy, the right religion and the right principles if you go about the business in a sensible way.

If you are one of the great majority, you inherited or absorbed your convictions and faiths without bothering to examine them, and habit has made the flawless and sacred.

If you failed to inherit or absorb your equipment and in youth endeavored to find the right way by asking questions, it is probable that conflicting testimony left you puzzled still and inclined to think right and wrong mere matters of opinion.

A great many people find themselves mentally adrift as the result of similar experience, and their life is a troubled succession of doubts and hopes and fears because they have found nothing solid to which they can anchor.

It is for these that I suggest the simple and certain way to discover the philosophy that is right.

If you wish to discover the quality of a tree, you taste its fruit; and if you wish to discover the virtue of a medicine, you observe its effect on those who have tried it.

What are words worth when facts dispute them?

Though a critic of our times is called great and thousands quote him as a prophet and profess to share his scorn of popular faiths and institutions, neither his brilliance nor his influence affords a measure by which you can gauge the worth of his teachings.

You must observe what manner of man his philosophy has made of him.

Is he happy, compassionate, tolerant, honorable—a manly man you would choose as a model?

Or is he sour, cynical, unfriendly, selfish—a man whose private life is not to be envied or copied?

You can't accept a man's philosophy if it has made him the kind of man you don't want to be.

Find the man who seems to rejoice in living—who is clean and brave and strong and gentle—the happy and honorable man who is all that you wish to be.

He has something you want.

He is a product of his beliefs, his principles, his religion and his philosophy.

What they have done for him, they will in proportion to your capacity do for you.

LIFE.

A little while to love and rave,
And fret and sweat, and fear and hope in;
A little while to bathe and shave
And keep the organism open—
Then silence under reeds and roses,
And no more blowing of our noses.
—Samuel Hoffenstein, in "Year In You're Out."

* * * *

A few short years to grin and bear,
And fume and squak and boast and blow in;
A little while to treat the hair
And keep the body red and glowin'—
Then rest beneath a formal wreath,
And no more brushing of our teeth.

A little while to bathe and shave
And sing and cry and get the grippe in;
A spell of changing coats and pants
And wond'ring if your heart is skippin'—
Then lilies, peace and calm and quiet,
And no more living on a diet!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Hadrian's Wall, a Relic of Roman Occupation of England, Threatened With Destruction.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Hadrian's wall was built across the north of England by the Romans in about 122 A. D. It was built for defensive purposes by these, roaming warriors and has remained a thing of interest to visitors. Though the wall was finally taken by the Picts and Scots, when many of the Roman soldiers were called home to defend their own territory, it was not destroyed by the victorious armies.

It now seems probable that this historic wall will vanish before the onslaught of the modern machine age. Whinstone, a material that makes very good roads for automobiles, has been discovered in the vicinity of the wall and a concern has a 21-year lease to quarry the millions of tons of this material. The result will be the crumbling of the old wall. Antiquarians are fighting this project, as it is claimed it will destroy a priceless relic as well as injure the local landscape. On the other hand the promoters of the project claim that obtaining the material will give employment to many persons, and will also improve the roads. The promoters will probably win the fight. I think it is a shame to destroy such an ancient wall. ANTIQUARIAN.

Scotch Visitor Shocked by Waste of Eggs by Children at White House party.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The American people have some very peculiar ideas of fun. While passing the White House I noticed the thousands of youngsters who were enjoying themselves by rolling different colored eggs down the terraces of the grounds. Each child had eggs in his basket, and I figure that they all had 6,000 eggs. A thousand other children were rolling eggs in other parts of the city who had an average of six eggs apiece. This would bring the total up to 12,000 eggs, or a thousand dozen. Eggs are selling at about 35 cents a dozen. Therefore, $350 was actually thrown away.

The children certainly had their $350 worth of fun; but could they not get just as much fun if they tossed balls down the lawns instead of eggs? They would have the balls left, and the eggs could go to people who need them for nourishment, and many people besides the youngsters would then be happy. It is the first egg rolling I have ever witnessed, and I think it a shocking waste. SCOTSMAN.

Census Enumerator Tells Why He Quitted the Job—Too Much Red Tape.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Permit me to commend your paper for the very able editorial which appeared April 19, relative to the census enumeration. Your criticism is well founded. However, I am afraid you did not carry it far enough, and we can not blame you for that, because no one can expect you to be in possession of all the facts.

As an enumerator, I resigned along with a hundred others before completing my territory or district. Every enumerator was required to call at a police precinct at the completion of a hard day's work to have two employes of the census detain him for two hours or more, while these clerks went over his work. For this we got no extra compensation. Red tape? No end of it. The unemployment questionnaire is altogether too complicated and evidently designed to hide the facts regarding unemployment. All the facts about census taking would prove interesting reading. HAROLD P. STILES.

Chin Rests Should Come in Free—Congress Ought to Have Them, and Others Need Them.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The other day the House voted a 60 per cent tariff duty on violin chin rests, but the Senate succeeded in reducing the rate to 40 per cent, at which it was left by the tariff conferees. Chin rests are so popular in this country that they should be free of duty.

Maybe those two bodies of legislators will be stung by their own folly. There are some members of both houses who could use a chin rest very comfortably at the present time, and if they keep up to standard methods there will be others who will appreciate a chin rest. If such a condition comes to pass, senators and representatives will be caught in their own trap. VIOLINIIST.

Startling Evidence of Law Violation. Enjoin the Dandelion Pickers!

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A horrid note jars the chorus of springtime. I blush, but the truth must be told. Everywhere on hillside and greensward in our public parks women and children work feverishly at the picking of dandelions. They are filling aprons and baskets to what purpose?

What can mothers be thinking of to rear children in such ways? Where is the law enforcement arm of our Government that it does not put a stop to this first violation in the law of fermentation? Can there not be an injunction issued against the picking of dandelions? If not, will you please ask through your columns that the pickers begin on my yard first? RUSSELL T. EDWARDS.

Trees and Visitors.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I note that a record crowd of 100,000 Easter tourists came to Washington, attracted by the cherry blossoms and the beauties of the springtime foliage.

Let us hope that local merchants, hotel keepers and others will note that it is trees that attract visitors to Washington, not painted-front chain stores and filling stations and blocks of dead automobiles that are allowed to use for storage purposes the streets that have hitherto been ruthlessly and stupidly denuded of trees in order to "increase parking space." TARIFF CONFEREES NEAR END OF TASK

Partial Report This Week Will Be Presented to House First.

DEFER NORRIS PROPOSAL

(Associated Press.)

The congressional conferees on the tariff bill forged ahead rapidly yesterday and virtually completed the task of composing the manifold differences between the Senate and House.

A partial report will be made some time this week and a decision is expected today on which the House will be asked to act first on the agreements thus far reached.

The varying views of the two branches on sugar, cement, lumber, shingles and silver rates will be reported in disagreement, necessitating a vote of instructions in the House on these items.

The conferees also will report a failure to agree on the differences over the export debenture, legislative flexible tariff and tariff commission reorganization proposals and both Houses probably will vote on these propositions before a final vote on the conference report will be in order.

Experts to Compile Report.

The disagreements over the eight subjects arose out of informal understandings that they would not be settled in conference until the Senate or House had an opportunity to vote on them.

The conferees deferred until today action on two sections of the administrative provisions. One embraces the Norris amendment providing for suspension of duties on all commodities in which monopolies are found to exist. The other involves the House amendment to repeal the existing statute limiting importations of Cuban cigars to packages containing 3,000 and over. The Senate bill strikes out this amendment.

With these two clauses settled, the conferees will turn over to a staff of experts the task of compiling the report for presentation to the Senate and House.

Three Senate provisions favored by organized labor were stricken from the bill yesterday, while another was retained with modification.

Labor Amendment Passed.

Those eliminated would have barred from entry goods manufactured abroad under an American trade-mark or patent and permitted representatives of labor organizations to participate along with manufacturers, producers and wholesalers, in customs court cases involving classifications and valuation.

The labor amendment approved would prohibit importation of all foreign articles mined or manufactured by forced or indentured labor except those which are not produced in this country in sufficient quantities to meet the demand.

Withdrawal of Grain.

Goods made abroad under an American trade-mark are now allowed entry with consent of the owner of the trade-mark.

Another Senate provision approved would require withdrawal of foreign grain from bonded warehouses in this country within ten months from the time of importation, instead of three years as is provided under existing law.

The conferees also accepted the Senate amendment providing a penalty of $25 an ounce for all smoking opium smuggled into the United States aboard ships but relieving the ship from seizure if the owner or officers can demonstrate before a court that they had no knowledge of the presence of the contraband on board.

Hungarians Stone Car Of Italian Minister

Budapest, Hungary, April 22 (A.P.). The motor car of Signor Ariotta, Italian Minister, was stoned today as it passed through the village of Kapalnasnyek.

The minister was not injured but his son was hurt and Col. Oxilla, Italian military attache, was wounded. It is believed the assailants were youths unaware of the identity of those occupying the car.

By JAMES HAY, JR.

SET down in plain English, pathetic as it may sound, the simple fact is that Judge John J. Parker is in imminent, not to say inescapable, danger of losing the highest honor that can come to a lawyer-because a lot of wise, august and deep-thinking Republican senators of the United States are scared out of their political boots.

Sadder and funnier than that is the explanation of what they are scared of.

* * * *

ALL was serene along the senatorial front until certain labor leaders expressed indignation at the President's naming to the Supreme Court a man who had handed down from the bench an opinion which they disliked, and Negro leaders professed themselves in a similar state of righteous and rough-riding wrath because of something Judge Parker had said about their race.

At first the senators pooh-poohed "the tempest in a teapot." Then they ceased to smile. Then they went into a huddle of consternation as the yellow clouds of telegrams, inspired by those "leaders," began to come in from back home. How, they asked forlornly, were they to save their own scalps if they didn't serve up the Parker head on the platter of political vengeance for the delectation of those who so mercilessly threatened their official careers?

* * * *

TUMULT and tremulous hubbub held sway in the senatorial sanctums. Fear strode the corridors, and panic babbled on the battlements.

The helpless hare cowering at the barking of the dogs, the little boy whistling through a graveyard at midnight in the dark of the moon, the Wall street operator with teeth chattering from terror born of reports of prices tumbling—all those examples of retreat and timidity are belted earls and crusading warriors compared to the noble solons who worked up a record-breaking crop of creeping gooseflesh at the thought of what the two protesting groups could, and would, do to them.

Their fright commands so little sympathy and so much mirth because, experienced old politicians, as they are, they should know—none better—that such threats to turn droves, multitudes and millions of votes from one party to another are about as substantial, real and ponderable as the bubble on the fountain, the feather on the gale and the mist on the mountain.

* * * *

IT is true that large numbers of Negroes have gone in recent years into the States whose senators are just now so pale and wan. In the five years following the World War, 700,000 of them left the South for the North and West. In Ohio today there are about 175,000 Negro voters, who at one time lived in Southern States.

But, even so, the shuddering senators might get a modicum of comfort, inspiration or encouragement from the contents of a telegram which came yesterday to one of their number. It read:

"Is statesmanship so sick and patriotism so low that terrorizing tactics have them on the run?"

My friends, I know, will uphold and sustain any such candidate with the same measure of enthusiasm with which they would have assisted me."

GOFF QUITS RACE TO RETURN TO SENATE BECAUSE OF HEALTH

of this year that I desist from continuously attending the daily and nightly sessions of the Senate, prolonged and made acutely arduous by the demands of the tariff bill then under consideration. These admonitions I refused to heed, because the pressing requirements and interests of West Virginia made my constant presence on the floor absolutely necessary. However, my doctors have not changed their views as the following letter reflecting and embodying their present opinion indicates:

" 'Washington, D. C., April 19, 1930.

" 'My dear Senator Goff:

" 'After a most thorough examination and much intensive study of your condition, it is our opinion that you must cease your political activities.

" 'Since the attack of pneumonia, from which you suffered in the winter of 1928, you have not regained your normal strength, as your recent illness in December, 1929, has clearly demonstrated. It is not necessary to go into further detail than has been done in explaining fully to you the result of the X-rays, laboratory and other examinations. It is absolutely essential that you should take a long rest to the end that you may replete a very depleted physical and nervous organization. The strain of your present work is too severe and you are in no condition to attempt to continue or meet the demands of a campaign for reelection this coming summer or fall.

" 'Very truly yours,

(Signed)

" 'DAVENPORT WHITE, M. D.

(Signed)

" 'JAMES ALEXANDER LYON, M. D.' "

Friends Are Thanked.

"I take this occasion to thank my many sincere friends and loyal constituents for their good wishes and their encouraging promises of support. To each and all of them, I return the assurance that my gratitude has and will have a long and affectionate memory.

"It is always difficult to be wise for oneself, and while this is a mere episode in a busy life, yet to me, it is a moment of deep—yes, poignant—regret that I can not enter the contest, and participate in the coming campaign even though my health and my duty to my family have decreed otherwise. The happiness of our people and the many and varied industries of West Virginia are so important and so near and dear to us all, that innately I feel no risk or sacrifice could be too great to express my interest in the permanent prosperity and advancement of my native State.

"I promise my unreserved support to any candidate the Republican party in West Virginia may select as our standard bearer in November next.

RASKOB AND CURRAN ATTACKED BY HEFLIN

Senator Asserts He Regrets Latter Has Not Been Put in Jail.

WET CHAIRMAN SCORED

(Associated Press.)

A heated attack upon Chairman Raskob, of the Democratic national committee, and Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was made in the Senate yesterday by Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, as the lobby committee resumed its examination of Mr. Curran concerning his organization's activities for repeal of the prohibition law.

Referring to testimony before the committee by Mr. Raskob and Mr. Curran, the Alabaman shouted that he was sorry the latter had not been "locked up," and said the Democratic chairman "stands disgraced before the American people."

Senator Heflin recalled that Mr. Curran, when asked by a committee member whether he would favor armed revolution against prohibition, replied that he would "cross that bridge when he got to it."

He made his speech preparatory to leaving for Alabama to campaign for reelection. He has been barred from the Democratic primary because of his refusal to support former Gov. Smith for President in 1928.

Meanwhile, Mr. Curran appeared before the lobby committee for the fourth day and charged it with violating the spirit of the fourth amendment to the Constitution in obtaining his private records.

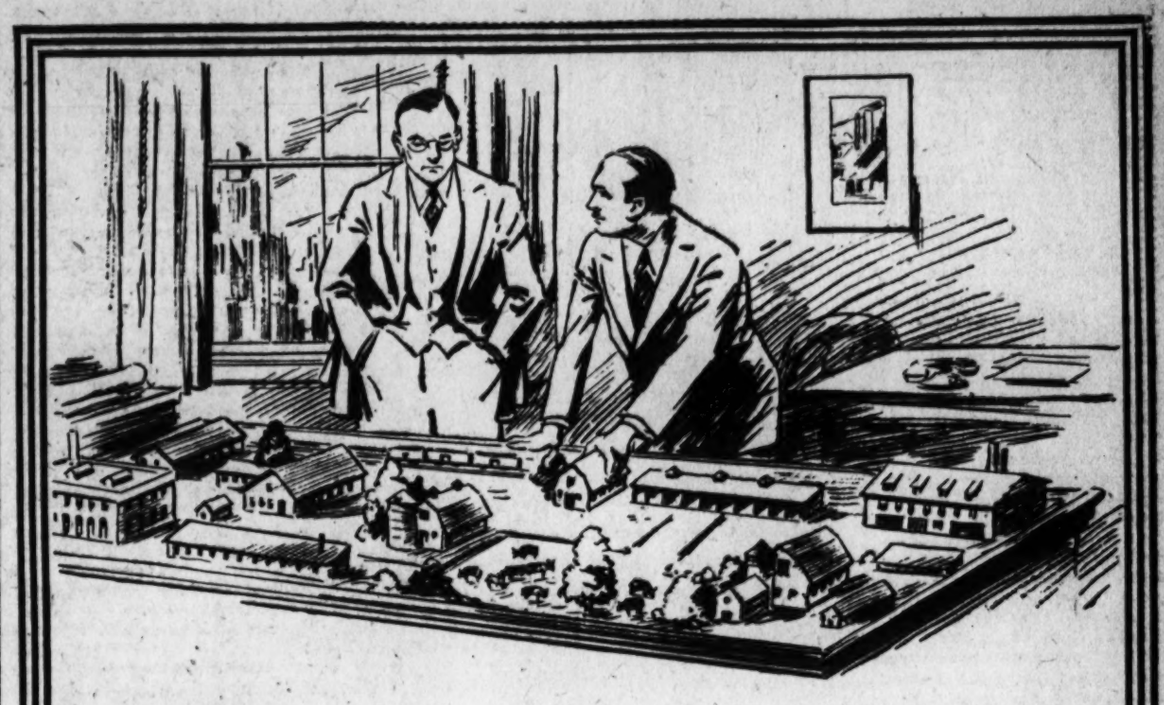
Contending that the action of the lobby committee in subpenaeing the records had nothing to do with the fourth amendment, Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, reminded the witness that if he thought the committee had exceeded its right he could test the matter in the courts.

"We have nothing to conceal and the responsibility is on you," Mr. Curran said, adding that he had no intention of appealing to the courts. He insisted, however, that the committee's action was "beyond the pale of what is proper procedure."

Head of Republic Steel Dies After Operation

Youngstown, Ohio, April 22 (A.P.). E. T. McCleary, president of the newly formed Republic Steel Corporation, died in a hospital here today following an operation. He entered the hospital for a minor operation Sunday. Complications set in and another operation was performed last night, but still his conditoin was not regarded as serious, and his death today was wholly unexpected.

Mr. McCleary began his career in Youngstown as metallurgist for the Carnegie Steel Co.'s local plant. He leaves a widow and two children, Dorothy and Elmer T., jr.



"Planned Prosperity"

Building prosperity is like building a house, be it the prosperity of a man, a family, a business organization, or a community. It must be planned, of parts and members that fit together, support one another and finally shape into a proportionate, durable whole.

To do it the other way—build without plans—leads to rambling results, an unevenly supported structure, disorganized and unsafe, or at best unsatisfactory.

Southern Dairies was intelligently planned, at its inception, to give organization, growth and strength to one of the most important industries of the South—the dairy industry. This included, as it does today, the active, practical development of dairy-farming in hundreds of communities, bringing additional and constant income to the community; the upbuilding of a practical, scientific system for handling milk and other dairy products—transportation systems and community plants; and the rapid development of the widest possible market—thus assuring good prices and steadiness of income to everyone concerned in the industry.

The basic principle of the plan was and is the purpose to keep a large and steady income flowing into the South, in exchange for its steadiest and finest products. Southern Dairies operates throughout the entire Southeast and is by far the largest single force in the building up of the dairy industry of the South in all its phases—from production and manufacturing to distribution to the consumers by the retailers of the South. Continuous, extensive and powerful advertising of its products to the consumers from one end of the South to the other, is one side of its activities, which is of incalculable value in building up the dairy industry and making it profitable to the South.

Many millions have been invested through the South by this organization to expand and benefit the industry in every possible way—millions are spent by it annually in Southern communities, for dairy products, for local supplies and labor—to make a well-balanced instead of a straggling industry without definite aim or tangible results.

A Southern Dairies plant in a community is as much a local industry as a plant of one of the big motor cars would be, contributing in a far reaching way to the welfare and prosperity of other businesses and of each individual resident.

Senator Host To Mr. Curtis In Dinner Fete

Mr. and Mrs. Hebert Give Brilliant Function at Their Home.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WITH Easter the official dinner, Washington's most characteristic form of entertaining, has come again into the picture. After a lull, which must have been rather welcome, Vice President Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann have resumed the practice of dining out several times a week. Last evening, when Senator and Mrs. Felix Hebert, of Rhode Island, entertained in honor of the Vice President, the dinner had a double interest since it was follower by a music program presented by the talented sons and daughters of Senator and Mrs. Hebert.

This accomplished quartet includes Miss Katherine Hebert, pianist; Miss Marguerite Hebert, who plays the cello, and their brothers, Adrien and Felix Hebert, violinists. Gifted and with their talents well cultivated, the four play together with a finesse due to many happy hours of music making at home.

The dinner was given in the Chinese room of the Mayflower, the table being decked with pink roses, sweetpeas, snapdragons and blue lupin arranged in tall silver vases.

Guests besides Vice President Curtis included Mr. and Mrs. Gann, Senator James E. Watson, Senator Simeon D. Fess, Senator and Mrs. Lawrence O. Phipps, Senator and Mrs. Hiram Bingham, Senator and Mrs. Jesse H. Metcalf, Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Senator and Mrs. Hamilton P. Kean, Senator and Mrs. Frederic C. Walcott, Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, Representative and Mrs. Franklin W. Fort, Representative and Mrs. Richard S. Aldrich, the Rev. Mathias A. Hebert, brother of the host, who is pastor of St. Cecelia's Church, Pawtucket, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. George Akerson, Mr. and Mrs. Aime Bonin, of Woonsocket, R. I.; Mrs. Hope Slater, Mrs. James Carroll Fraser and Miss Katherine Hebert.

Another of the evening's brilliant dinner parties was given by the Ambassador of Italy and Donna Antonietta de Martino, the guests at the embassy including Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, Senator and Mrs. Claude Swanson, the Charge d'Affaires of Argentine and Mme. Enciso, Mrs. Hugh Campbell Wallace, Mrs. Chauncey Depew, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sullivan, Senora de Almeida, Miss Mary Patten, Signora de Mengarini, famous Italian sculptress, who is a guest at the embassy for a few days; Mr. Robert Kelly and Count Alberto Marchetti, Count Roncalli di Montario, Commander Paolo Shernadori and Cavalier Adriano Monaco, all of the embassy staff.

M. Claudel to Bid Farewell to Daughter.

The Ambassador of France, M. Paul Claudel, will go to New York today to join Mme. Claudel and their daughter. After saying bon voyage to Mlle. Reine Claudel, who will sail on Friday for Tunis, M. and Mme. Claudel will return to Washington. They expect to sail for Europe on May 1 and will spend a week in New York before their departure.

Mme. Slavko Grouitch, who has been spending several weeks in Washington and visiting other cities in her native country, will sail from New York on May 15 on the Vulcania and will rejoin Dr. Grouitch, once Minister of Serbia to the United States, in Europe. Mme. Grouitch returned yesterday to the Mayflower to be with Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith, after spending the week-end with Mrs. Sydney A. Cloman. Earlier Mme. Grouitch was the guest of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

The Minister of Bulgaria and Mme. Radeff entertained at dinner last evening.

The Minister of Greece and Mme. Simopoulos are in New York for a part of this week.

Mme. Veverka, wife of the Minister of Czechoslovakia, entertained at luncheon on Monday for eight guests.

Mr. Hamilton Fish, Jr., To Speak at Banquet.

The English Speaking Union will hold its annual banquet at the Willard this evening, with Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., and former Senator A. O. Stanley as the speakers. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will preside.

Mrs. Lawrence Lee had guests at luncheon yesterday at the National Woman's Country Club.

Miss Mary Henry, debutante daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry, is the guest in whose honor Maj. and Mrs. Willis D. Crittenberger are entertaining at dinner at their home this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. C. Gregory and their daughter, Miss Peggy Gregory, of San Francisco, are guests at the Mayflower. Mr. Gregory, who has made frequent trips to Washington during the past two years, was associated with President Hoover in Europe as one of the original members of the American Relief Administration.

MISS ALICE WILLIAMS, daughter of Judge Thomas S. Williams, of the U. S. Court of Claims, and Mrs. Williams, whose marriage to Midshipman Oscar Morrison Browne will be solemnized in the Naval Academy Chapel after the bridegroom's graduation in June.

Kenosha Man And Frederick Girl Are Wed

Mr. Roger N. Kimball Marries Miss Hedges in Pretty Rite.

In All Saints Church in Frederick, Md., Miss Mary Elizabeth Hedges, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hill Hedges, of Frederick, was married last night to Mr. Roger Nelson Kimball, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger N. Kimball, of Kenosha, Wis.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of ivory satin with rose point. The long tulle veil was edged with rose point. She carried calla lilies.

The attendants wore frocks of green net over satin and carried white tulips and white lilacs. They were Miss Frances Kimball, sister of the bridegroom, who was maid of honor; Miss Claire McCardell, Miss Martha Conley, of Frederick; Miss Sarah Robertson, of Charleston; Miss Barbara Dennis, of Frederick; Miss Ann Ayres, of New York; Miss Maria Birmingham, of Kenosha, Wis.; Miss Elizabeth Washburn, of Rye, N. Y.; and Mrs. Robert B. Coburn, of Hartford, Conn.

The brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Louis Kimball, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Frank Hedges, brother of the bride and Mr. Philip Winebrener, of Frederick; Mr. Frederick Pfenning, Mr. Richard Frost and Mr. D. O. Head, jr., all of Kenosha; Mr. Lewis McDowell, of Chicago; Mr. Donald Liddell, of Elizabeth, N. J.; Mr. Frederick Hamilton and Mr. Benjamin Crispin, of New York.

A number of guests from Washington attended.

President Hoover will receive the officers, delegates, alternates and visiting members in attendance at the biennial convention of the National League of American Pen Women at the White House this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock this evening there will be a poets' dinner in the small ballroom of the Willard Hotel in honor of William Griffith. Each poet present will be called upon for verses.

Tomorrow at 1 o'clock there will be a poets' luncheon, with the following hostesses; Mrs. Lilla Wood Daniels, of Ohio; Mrs. Ada Borden Stevens, Rhode Island; Mrs. Blanche H. Camp, Indiana; Miss Anita Browne and Mrs. Reynale Brown, New York; Miss Jewel Miller, Countess Di Castagnola and Mrs. May Folwell Hoisington.

Many persons prominent in social and military circles will attend the annual ball of the Department of the District of Columbia, American Legion, tonight at the Mayflower Hotel. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock and continue until 1 o'clock in the large ballroom and the Chinese room.

The interior of the two ballrooms will be appropriately decorated with the colors of the various posts and organizations represented, together with American flags, while the Chinese room will have as its background the national colors of all of the allied nations participating in the World War. The orchestra will be on a stage which has been erected between the two ballrooms.

Among the guests are Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president of the Daughters of the American Revolution; National Commander O. L. Bodenhamer, the American Legion, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. William Sherman Walker, vice president of the Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Mary Virginia Macrae, Council Bluffs, Iowa, national president, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Alfred J. Brousseau, honorary president general, Daughters of the American Revolution; National Adjutant of the American Legion James F. Barton and Mrs. Barton, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Lucy Boyce Picklen, jr., Washington, Ga., past president of the American Legion Auxiliary; Gen. and Mrs. Albert Cox, Raleigh, N. Throng to See Opera's Debut In Washington

Official and Diplomatic Circles to Be Well Represented.

Brilliant in every aspect will be the opening tonight of the Metropolitan Opera Company's season at the Fox Theater. Every box in the "golden horseshoe" will be filled with distinguished men and women. The house will be crowded to capacity and pretty much the entire "Social Register group" will be on hand to hear what promises to be a glamorous presentation of "La Boheme."

Vice President Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann will be guests of Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, who will also entertain Mrs. J. A. Dougherty, Mr. Pavel Ludical and Brig. Gen. William E. Horton. The Ambassador of Mexico and Senora de Telles and Attorney General and Mrs. William De Witt Mitchell will be with Mr. and Mrs. William McClellan Ritter. Senator and Mrs. Hiram Johnson and Senator Thomas J. Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Farley, of New York, will be guests of Mrs. Elmer Schlesinger.

Representative and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon will entertain informally at dinner before the opera, having their guests with them in their box. And Mr. Charles Delmar, who has taken a box for "La Boheme," will take his guests after the opera to the Club Chanticleer to dance. He will have with him Gen. and Mrs. William Mitchell, Capt. and Mrs. John P. Jackson and Mme. Paul Lessinoff.

The Russian gala concert, once postponed and now slated for the coming Saturday, is attracting the attention of music lovers in Washington society. The entertainment, presented under the auspices of the Grand Duke Alexander of Russia, for the benefit of St. Alexander's Russian Orthodox Church, will be held in Memorial Continental Hall. Perle Barti, operatic soprano, and Michael Shvetz, basso, will provide the vocal portion of the program, with Emanuel Zetlin, violinist and Nicolas Kopelkine, pianist, contributing instrumental numbers. Russian classics and the lighter folk songs will have an equal place on the program, which is under the direction of Lieut. Basil P. Tourtorsky.

Mme. Rimsky-Korsakoff has announced the following additional patrons: Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, Mrs. George Mesta, Mrs. S. Walcott, Mrs. Alexander Trowbridge, Prince Alexis Obalensky, Prince George Scherbatoff, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livingston, Mrs. Henry Loomis, Col. Baron Michael Tarnow, Mrs. Hamilton Fish, jr.; Capt. Walter Fletcher Smith, Senator William King, Bishop John W. Hamilton and Mme. Slavko Grouitch.

Mrs. Calhoun To Entertain At Tea Today

Mrs. Byrd Grubb Will Be Guest of Honor at Rossdhu.

Mrs. C. C. Calhoun will entertain informally at tea this afternoon at Rossdhu in compliment to Mrs. Byrd Grubb, widow of Gen. Grubb, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Imbrie, with whom she is staying.

This is by way of being a "birthday party" for Daisy Breaux Calhoun's new book, aptly named "The Autobiography of a Chameleon," which is just from the presses. It tells in sprightly fashion of the adventures of a woman, adaptable in spirit and with tremendous energy, in her relation to the differing environment of the several American cities in which her lot has been cast. Life in Charleston, S. C., in New Orelans, in Princeton, N. J., and Washington is painted with dashing strokes—and there is every evidence that Charleston, New Orleans, Princeton and Washington are considerably interested in the publication.

sketches of men and women prominent in our day and generation, with whom the author has had contact. It is written in a pleasant style and seasoned with humor, and, if its perspective be somewhat distorted—well, that doesn't make it any the less excellent reading.

Mrs. Calhoun will go the last of this week to Harrisburg, Pa., to visit her aunt. In Harrisburg, too, there is interest in her new work, for her father's political activities were centered in this Pennsylvania town.

The Swedish Minister and Mme. Bostrom and their daughter, Miss Ellis Bostrom, returned to Washington yesterday from a trip through the West.

Capt. and Mrs. Gore To Be Dinner Hosts.

Capt. and Mrs. Albert J. Gore will give a dinner tonight for some of the members of the Princeton Glee Club, with which their son, Mr. Philip Larner Gore, is affiliated. Afterward Capt. and Mrs. Gore will go with their guests to the concert which the Princeton musical clubs are giving at the Mayflower. Mr. Philip Larner Gore has been at White Sulphur Springs and Hot Springs with the music clubs.

Miss Annie M. Hageman is in Stockbridge, Mass., having gone there to seek a villa to rent for the season.

Mrs. George P. Whitcomb is at the Vanderbilt, in New York, where she joined her daughters, Mrs. Warren S. Blackwell and Mrs. William W. Bradfield, also of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Dwight have arrived at the Powhatan and plan to remain several months. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight passed the winter months at Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Camilo Osias, wife of the resident commissioner from the Philippines, was the guest in whose honor a dinner was given in New York last night by the Harlem Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Osias was for two years president of the Y. W. C. A. in Manila.

The annual May ball of Stonewall Jackson Chapter, U. D. C., will be held on Thursday evening, May 15, at Wardman Park Hotel. Mrs. Elizabeth C. Fred, chapter president, is in charge of arrangements and is assisted by Mrs. Edward Campbell Shields, vice president; Mrs. Frank Long, Miss Helen Montgomery and Mrs. Franklin King. Dr. Thomas Evans is chairman of music and dancing. Several special features will be introduced during the evening and many distinguished guests from Maryland and Virginia are expected.

Mrs. George R. Farnum, who has been passing a few weeks at the Wardman Park Hotel, left yesterday for New York, where she will be for a short visit before joining Mr. Farnum at their home in Boston.

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Kanelopoulos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kanelopoulos, and Mr. Costa J. Chaconas, will be solemnized in St. Sophia's Greek Orthodox Church on Sunday at 6 o'clock. The wedding will link two of the wealthy and prominent Greek families of the city.

Miss Kanelopoulos attended the Sacred Heart Conservatory and is a musician of ability.

Mr. Chaconas, who is the son of Mr. James Chaconas, attended Central High School where he attained honors in track events.

Mrs. Herbert Don Hoover was hostess yesterday at the third of a series of bridge luncheons. Capt. and Mrs. Hoover are entertaining extensively at this season, so that their guests may enjoy their garden, which is one of the show places in Chevy Chase, and particularly lovely in the spring.

Mrs. Paul M. Linebarger will be hostess at a tea given this afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock at the new headquarters of the National Woman's Party, 144 B street northeast, in honor of Mrs. Emile Berliner, widow of the famous inventor.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown Scott have returned to Washington after a stay of ten days at Skaneateles, N. Y.

Myers-Marks Nuptials Take Place in Capital.

Mrs. Myra McCathran Marks and Mr. Fred T. Myers were married Saturday noon at the home of the bride on Columbia road, the Rev. Sidney L. Bowman performing the ceremony. The Rev. Mr. Bowman is a lifelong friend of the bridegroom.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. James K. McCathran. She had chosen for her maid of honor, Miss Gladys Marks, and Dr. W. S. Lineweaver, of Bridgewater, Va., served Mr. Myers as best man.

Mrs. Myers has for long held a recognized position in the music circles of Washington where her splendid voice has received acclaim. She has been the soloist at St. Margaret's Church for many years.

Mr. Myers was graduated from the University of Virginia and from Johns Hopkins University, also holding the degree of M. A. from American University Law School.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers will make their home in Washington.

The Secretary of the Chinese Legation, Mr. Yuen Li Liang, returned to the United States yesterday, arriving in New York on the S. S. France.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrington Mills have returned to the Grafton Hotel after spending the winter at Ormond Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. James N. MacLean, of New York, are passing a few days in Washington en route to White Sulphur Springs. Mr. MacLean attended the annual meeting of the Association of Civic Service Clerk Executives here and was reelected president for the ensuing year. They are staying at the Mayflower.

Mr. Leo Kasehagen 3d, a senior in chemical engineering at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, is spending the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kasehagen, at 1353 Jefferson street. He has as his guest Mr. Peter Paul Lombardo, of Dunkirk, N. Y.; Mr. Bernard Scott, of Orlando, Fla., and Mr. Arthur Burke, of Juneau, Alaska, his classmates at Carnegie.

Mr. Stanislaw Lepkowski, counselor of the Polish Embassy, arrived yesterday in New York on the White Star liner Majestic and will come to Washington.

Mr. French Strother and Mrs. Strother will be joined today in their apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Twining, of Long Island.

Mr. Will Baird of California has been passing a short time with Mr. and Mrs. Strother.

Mr. and Mrs. Strother, with the latter's sister, Miss Clark Farley, and Mr. and Mrs. Twining will go to Baltimore on Saturday to attend the hunt there and to be members of a house party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. T. Nelson Strother.

Mr. P. W. Slemp Is Capital Guest.

Mr. Patton Wise Slemp came from his home in Kentucky to remain over Easter with Mrs. Slemp, who was called here in March by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Fred Dennett. Lieut. R. Rodney Dennett, son of Mrs. Dennett, who is stationed at Lakehurst, N. J., has been making frequent visits to his mother and was also here for the holiday. Mrs. Slemp will remain with Mrs. Dennett until she is convalescent.

Bothered With Pimples Nine Months. Healed by Cuticura.
"My trouble first began with small pimples on my face. Later the pimples became hard, large and red, and festered and scaled over. At times they would itch and burn causing me to scratch. The pimples were scattered and disfigured my looks very much. They bothered me about nine months.
"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave relief after a few applications. I continued using them and in about three months was completely healed, after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Eva Cliatt, Cuthbert, Ga.

CONVICT SHIP
The Oldest Ship Afloat
Built in India 1790

This Wonderful Vessel Has Made History During Three Centuries

She marked the beginning and the end of England's monstrous penal system.

She has held lurid horror and dreadful iniquities beside which even the terrible stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and the Spanish Inquisition pale into insignificance.

She is the oldest ship in the world and the only convict ship left afloat of that dreadful "Fleet of Ocean Hells," which sailed the Seven Seas in 1790 A. D.

She is unchanged after all these years, nothing being omitted but her human freight and their suffering from the cruelties and barbarities practiced upon them.

Aboard her are now shown, in their original state, all the airless dungeons and condemned cells, the whipping post, the manacles, the branding irons, the punishment balls, the leaden-tipped cat-o'-nine tails, the coffin bath and the other fiendish inventions of man's brutality to his fellow man.

From keel to topmast, she cries aloud the greatest lesson the world has ever known in the histotry of human progress.

The Convict Ship "Success" is the Greatest and Most Extraordinary Exhibition That Ever Visited America. It Is a Theme for the Pen of a Dante. When You Walk Her Decks, Grooved with the Chains of Her Miserable Victims, the Past Will Speak to You Its Sad and Mournful Lesson. But You Will Leave Feeling Better Because You Live in a Better Age.

She's Never Heard of End Point or Specific Gravity But - - - - she knows performance and value

SHE'S the 1930 girl, driving from the front seat and driving well enough to give many all-knowing and critical males some pointers on handling a car.

You could talk for hours on specifications of any kind of gas and she wouldn't understand a word you said. She's interested in eliminating knocks, not in hearing about "end points", in power on hills, not in "specific gravity", in get-away in traffic, not in "distillation". And, because she is a critical judge of values, she knows that even though AMOCO-GAS costs slightly more per gallon, more miles to the gallon and reduced operating expense makes it really cost less per mile.

The 1930 girl drives frequently, drives well and drives on AMOCO-GAS. She's read all the ads, tried all the fuels and found that only AMOCO-GAS will give absolutely knockless performance - - - the power, get-away, quick starting and speed that she demands.

She's glad to pay a few cents more per gallon because experience has taught her that AMOCO-GAS is the most economical fuel in the end

You, too, are coming to AMOCO-GAS. Start today.

Santo Domingo's President Retires

Urena to Become Candidate for Vice President, as Prescribed by Law.

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, April 22 (A.P.).—President Rafael Estrella Urena today withdrew from the presidency in order to become a candidate for vice president in the forthcoming elections, thus complying with Dominican law.

Jacinto B. Peynado becomes president in the intervening period.

For the same reasons Desiderio Arias, secretary of state for agriculture, and Teofilo Hernandez, secretary of state for public health, have retired for the election period.

Mexican Band Kidnaps And Holds U. S. Dentist

Mexico City, April 22 (A.P.).—The American Embassy received word this morning that Dr. George Edward Purnell, an American dentist of Guadalajara, had been kidnaped near this city Sunday and presumably was held somewhere nearby.

Dr. Purnell, who is about 65 years old, has a wife and three children and has lived in Guadalajara for many years. The embassy's information came from Raleigh Gibson, former consul at Guadalajara.

Ohio Bank Closes Doors.

Alliance, Ohio, April 22 (A.P.).—The Peoples' Bank, third largest here, was closed today on order of the State Banking Department. According to State bank examiners, shortages have been found totaling $65,000.

Woman Succumbs From Gas Fumes

Mrs. Elizabeth Schmitz, of Norfolk, Found Dead by Daughter.

Norfolk, Va., April 22 (A.P.).—Mrs. Elizabeth Schmitz, of a prominent family here, was found dead early today in the gas-filled kitchen of her home.

The body was found after escaping gas had awakened Suzanne Schmitz, 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. Schmitz, who summoned aid.

Detective Leon Nowitzky, investigator for the coroner, announced that no inquest was deemed necessary.

Mrs. Schmitz is the daughter of the Rev. J. E. Thacker.

Dry Enforcement Upheld by Judge

Refuses to Enjoin Police From Seizing Products, Despite U. S. Permit.

Philadelphia, April 22 (A.P.).—Federal Judge R. Dickinson today refused to enjoin Philadelphia police from seizing alcoholic products of the Alven Chemical Co., a Federal permit holder. The court ruled Federal courts have no authority to interfere with police in enforcement of the State prohibition enforcement act.

Judge Dickinson said the State enforcement act is not in conflict with the Volstead law, and that a violator could be prosecuted under either the Federal or State law, or both.

Royal Canadian Fliers Die in 400-Foot Plunge

Regina, Saskatchewan, April 22 (A.P.).—Two Royal Canadian Air force fliers were killed today when their monoplane fell 400 feet.

Flying Officer H. W. Carew and Sergt. Richards made a bad takeoff from the city airport and when 400 feet up the engine stalled. The craft was a crumpled heap, and the men were dead when spectators arrived.

North Carolina Bank Is Closed.

Monroe, N. C., April 22 (A.P.).—The Bank of Union, with deposits of around $775,000 and resources of more than $1,000,000, failed to open this morning. Closing was decided upon by the board of directors yesterday for "the protection of depositors," a statement said.

$1,000,000 Fraud Is Laid to Bankers

Misapplication of Funds Alleged in Charges at Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 22 (A.P.).—Charges of misapplication of $1,287,363 in funds of the Texas National Bank were filed today in Federal Court against B. B. Samuels, president, and A. L. Baker, vice president, of the defunct institution. Samuels has been in St. Luke's Hospital, in New York City, since about April 16.

The complaint charges that Samuels and Baker caused a false entry to be made in the individual ledger of the Tarrant County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 Construction Fund.

Coast Biscuit Firm Head Will Get Merger Plan

Seattle, Wash., April 22 (A.P.).—Charles M. Thompson, president of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Co., said today he would leave Thursday for New York to receive for submission to stockholders a proposal for the sale or merger of his company with the National Biscuit Co.

Sale of the Coast Co. would involve a consideration of about $12,000,000, it is estimated here. The firm has plants in Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Only Six in Town, Once Home of 621

Census Taker Finds but Two Families in Illinois Mining Hamlet.

Clarke City, Ill., April 22 (A.P.).—Thirty years ago the census taker probably spent several days counting the population of this little mining town. Today it is practically unknown.

The 1900 census credited Clarke City with 621 residents; in 1910, its industries waning, the population had dwindled to 230; ten years ago 14 persons answered the Government roll call; today the census taker discovered what was left of Clarke City, 2 families. He added up the population, 6, and drove away.

Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, Winchester, Virginia, April 24-25

IN THE HEART OF THE BEAUTIFUL SHENANDOAH VALLEY

Apple Blossom Festival Planned to Be Greatest

Shenandoah's Annual Pageant of Petals Slated to Be Carried Out on Magnificent Scale, With Thousands of Children Taking Part in Two Days.

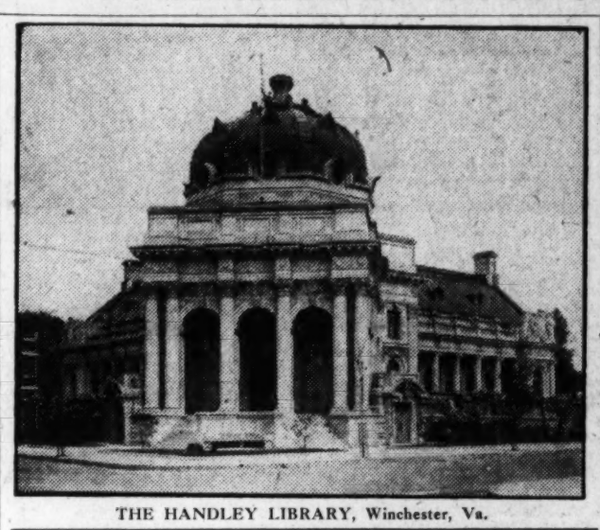
By M. LESTER ROEDER.

The stage is set and you all are invited to attend one of the mightiest spectacles of nature in which apple blossoms play the dominating part, transforming the valley of the Shenandoah into that glittering annual frolic—the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival. It is springtime in the Shenandoah Valley and the apple trees have unfolded their petals of pink and white blossoms. So beautiful and fragrant is this gorgeous array of nature's handiwork that the entire valley is about to join in the seventh confession of the faith that "The bounties of nature are the gift of God."

The 1930 Apple Blossom Festival is planned on the most magnificent scale ever attempted since the inception of the idea. Billions of blossoms, thousands of children, division upon division of artistically decorated floats, scores of bands and drum and bugle corps will blend as one into the presentation of this spectacle of nature in its natural setting. With the Blue Ridge Mountains in the background, the Alleghanies in the distance and the rolling plane of the land of the Shenandoah stretched before on every side, this pageant of blossoms will depict a picture and must be seen to be appreciated.

The first day of the festival will witness thousands of human buds—school children—in the grand parade blossoming forth the health and happiness of the land of the apple blossom. The human buds pass, and throngs of visitors wend their way toward the Handley High School, where the coronation of Queen Shenandoah VII will take place.

NELSON RICHARDS,
Director General Seventh Annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.



THE HANDLEY LIBRARY, Winchester, Va.

The United States Navy Band, under the direction of Lieut. Charles Benter, will play royal court marches and from the central door of the massive educational structure, military cadets march with step and precision. Then come the princesses and 45 charming debutantes, all of whom pay homage to the seventh queen of the realms of the Shenandoah.

A royal salute is sounded, the cadets form an arch of steel, esthetic dancers prance before the throne, flower girls gayly dance and distribute their petals in the wake of Miss Suzanne Pollard, daughter of John Garland Pollard, governor of Virginia, and Mrs. Pollard, who is to be crowned as sovereign over the domain of the Shenandoah.

Rising, Queen Shenandoah the VII salutes her subjects and the reign of the apple blossom is begun.

On the second day, in the morning, the pageant of development will again be presented. As morning grows into afternoon, Queen Shenandoah will mount her royal chariot, surrounded by her royal court of princesses, maids of honor, flower girls, heralds and pages, and the grand parade will start.

The U. S. Navy Band will lead the parade. Acting as escort to her majesty, will be the famous "Richmond Light Infantry Blues"—Old Dominion's pride. Queen Shenandoah the VII thus begins her triumphal march through historic Winchester, where in past years Washington and Jackson were acclaimed.

The beauty of springtime, the fragrance of the apple blossoms and the artistic eye of the decorator blend in producing a sight of glamorous splendor. Dignitaries of state, debutante college girls in gay pageantry, military battalions, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, musical organizations, Boy Scout troops, artistically decorated automobile and floats, industrial exhibits, historical presentations and civic displays all pass in glorious tribute to the apple blossom and its newly crowned queen.

HARRY F. BYRD,

Former Governor of Virginia and chairman of the distinguished guest committee.

Winchester and Frederick County will, as usual, be represented by several of their loveliest girls in the court of "Queen Shenandoah VII" in the Apple Blossom Festival April 24-25. The two maids of honor to the queen are (top, left to right) Miss Mary Virginia Steck, daughter of Mrs. H. Clay DeGrange and the late Thomas W. Steck, and Miss Louise Baker Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Glass. The others (bottom, left to right) are "Princess Winchester," Miss Mary Greenway Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Russell, and "Princess Frederick," Miss Mary Helen Stine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter M. Stine.

Millions of Apples Grown In Shenandoah Orchards

Field Laboratory's Information and Virginia State Inspection Service Have Been Great Aids Toward Progress of Important Industry.

By BOYD RICHARDS.

Stretching from southern Pennsylvania on the north to Roanoke on the south lies the Shenandoah Valley apple belt, a section where millions of apple trees yearly produce thousands of barrels of apples which are shipped to Eastern, Western, Southern and foreign markets.

Coupled hand in hand with the revenue derived from the apples is the prevalent noticeable prosperity of this region. Workers' payrolls are increased by millions of dollars through returns from the apple industry.

To asure and maintain this prosperity and good results, the apple growers are very careful in the care of their orchards and in the selection of their fruit for the various markets. In 1922, two progressive reforms were introduced into the apple industry of this section.

The first of these reforms was the founding of the Winchester field laboratory, a branch of the Virginia State Experiment Station, at Blacksburg, which renders much help and information to apple growers. The work of the station is supervised by trained pathologists and entomologists who render practical aid and advice at all times to apple growers—either in their own orchards or at the laboratory.

The second reform introduced was the adoption of the Virginia State Inspection Service, or the standard grading of apples. The result of this grading system has been that buyers in every market all over the world appreciate the quality and uniformity which surrounds the packs of this section and have learned to rely on the statements of the growers.

Through this cooperation between expert, grower and buyer, the apples of the Shenandoah Valley regions have become renowned all over the world for their excellence in quality and standard.

MISS SUZANNE POLLARD, daughter of Virginia's governor, to be crowned "Queen Shenandoah VII."

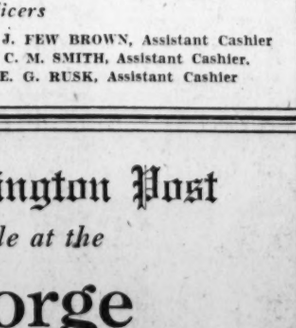
Shenandoah Kennels, Home Of Blue Ribbon Champions, Winchester, Virginia

Mrs. William Irwin has two hobbies—her beautiful home on the crest of South Stewart street, Winchester, Va., a short distance from the magnificent Handley School, where Miss Suzanne Pollard, daughter of Gov. Pollard, will be crowned Queen Shenandoah the VII. Her other hobby is her Blue Ribbon Champion Boston Bull Terriers. This illustration shows Mrs. Irwin at home with her champion, "Shenandoah Beautiful Doll." There are, however, a number of other champions in Mrs. Irwin's Shenandoah kennels, namely, Gloria Silk, King Way Charlotte, and Shenandoah Pal, 6 points. The Shenandoah kennels' Boston Bull Terriers are famous for their beauty and activity. Many Washingtonians having received blue ribbons at the various dog shows for puppies exhibited purchased from Mrs. Irwin. There are at the Shenandoah Kennels in Winchester at all times on sale high-class puppies and grown Boston Bull Terriers. Mrs. Irwin's summer kennels are located at Strasburg, Va., and her winter kennels in Winchester, Va., where Mrs. Irwin can be consulted or communicated with at all times and where visitors are always heartily welcomed. Mrs. Irwin will be pleased to give full particulars or any information gratis to any one interested. Adress, Mrs. William Irwin, 806 South Stewart street, Winchester, Va.



We take pleasure in calling attention to the beautiful float of Mrs. Irwin in the Apple Blossom Festival Grand Parade, in which Mrs. Irwin always takes an active interest. Her float in 1929 was considered one of the handsomest in the parade and preparations are being made by Mrs. Irwin and her assistants to make her 1930 Shenandoah Kennel float even more elegant than the one last year.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

DECORATING A PERGOLA.

A SUBURBAN garden is frequently a new garden, and because it is airy bristling with newness it is usually conspicuous by absence of all shade. And, you know, a garden without shade is a garden without atmosphere. So the first thing for every landowner to do is to plant a tree—or, better, still, many trees.

But trees take more than months in which to grow, and it will therefore be several years before you derive much benefit from them. One way to overcome this difficulty is to build a pergola. You can build one of light wood which will form an arch over your garden path, making it a hundred times more comfortable and useful than it would be without such an arbor; or you can place your pergola anywhere where its shade will offer the necessary protection to your tea table.

The really wise place to build one of these delightful outdoor rooms is at that point in your garden where the view is most pleasing. The next thing after building it is to decorate it, which means to plant vines that are rapid growers; that will produce a succession of flowers the entire season, and that are as free as possible from insect enemies. The vines in the following list are reliable and will grow in almost any soil and in all parts of the country.

Clematus paniculata—that beautiful, sweet-scented variety of white clematis that blooms so profusely in late August.

A Dorothy Perkins rambler rose for early June flowering.

Clematis jackmani—the large, early flowering blue clematis.

A climbing American Beauty, and, of course wistaria.

No pergola has ever truly fulfilled its mission and become a real thing of beauty until it has been draped with wistaria.

This assortment of vines will cover the pergola the first season, and, if kept carefully tied up, will form a perfect bower of beauty. This suggestion of a pergola is not a makeshift idea whose usefulness will be over when your trees have become established. No indeed. Such a vine-clad arbor will prove a permanent ornament and will lend a "bide-a-wee" air to your garden always.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column, if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

Au Interprets the MODE

The belt has chic enough for two . . . and two flares are better than one, judging by the sleeves of this navy blue coat. (Courtesy of Cheruit, Paris.)

Paris, April 22.

THE left-handed artist lately caused the entire gang to burst into peals of unladylike laughter, by saying, right out of the clear blue sky, as is her way, that she once knew a lady "who made hats and who used to put her foot through them." That's the way she described the business of stretching millinery in the old days before metal helmets full of steam came along to do the trick.

Well, there's a type of hat now chez Redfern that hasn't exactly got somebody's foot through it, but it looks rather as though the friend of the Left-Handed Artist had taken a firm grasp on the crown and pushed it part way down through its own brim. All of which sounds as though there were a practical joker in our midst, but there really isn't at all.

Seriously, though, the brim of the hat is sewn, not at the edge of the crown, as brims do in the best regulated millinery families, but rather about 3 inches above the edge; and it curves like a mushroom and frames the face in the manner of the "picture hat." The part of the crown that shows under the brim and fits snugly to the head can be covered with lace, and a discreet flower or two sewn flat to it, the hat itself made of fragile meline—and it is at its loveliest in pastel shades for bridesmaids.

Or the whole thing can be made of shantung or coarse straw for beach wear. Attractive sun hats worn with two-colored shantung frocks with two-toned bathing suits will have a brim of the one color and a crown of the other.

• • • • •

It's a good thing we don't visit Cheruit very often! For one always runs into things like the coat I have sketched for you today. How can one live without it when it's right there before one's very eyes! I ask you? It was of navy blue flamingo, a material which looks like rep, and, well, why try to gild such a perfect lily by any further description!

• • • • •

Suzanne Talbot made some delightful hat, scarf, glove and bag sets of rustly waterproof materials—we just can't be bothered about a little spring rain this year. The one I have sketched for you today is of navy blue with white polka dots and the other, showing a hat of a different type, was of red and green plaid.

• • • • •

You button one side on with one little button—then you button the other side on with another little button—and there you are in the most gorilicious nightgown you ever had. Soft clinging chiffon, a draped neck, a "normal waistline," oh, everything your little heart desires in a nightie. But I guess you know you ought to send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet. A stamp in time saves nine stitches. And only nine stithes make this lovely thing!

• • • • •

And here's the reminder again: The weekly Dare fashion letter is in The Sunday Washington Post each week and it's worth looking for.

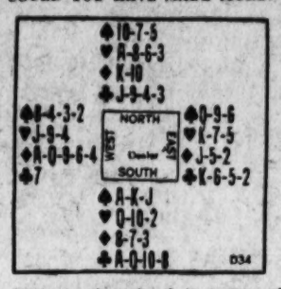
The Goofus Wink

The Goofus Wink when morning comes,
Sings, whistles, chortles, also hums—
And when he's sure you are awake
He sighs as if his heart would break.
You'll find a Wink where'er you roam,
Perhaps you have one in your home!

WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE MADE MORE?



With the above hand, in a game of Auction Bridge, South bid one No Trump which obtained the contract.

Had the hand been played in Contract, South would have bid one No Trump, North two No Trumps and South three.

West led his fourth best Diamond. Declarer played dummy's Ten and the adversaries started by winning five Diamond tricks. Declarer discarded the Deuce of Hearts and the Jack of Spades from his closed hand and two Spades and one Heart from his dummy; East discarded a Club and a Spade. West then led a small Heart which East won with the King and led a second Heart which South won with the Queen. South with two top Spades and four Clubs, had to lead Clubs and East's King won; so Declarer made only six tricks.

Instead of insulting the reader by asking "Could you have made any more?" suppose we put it: "How many more would you have made?"

THE CORRECT PLAY.

The first play made by the Declarer was atrocious. West must have three Diamonds higher than the Six; they can not be Ace-Queen-Jack or Queen-Jack-Nine, because with either he would not have led a small card consequently dummy's Ten could not hold the trick, or force the Ace from East. East must have exactly one Diamond higher than the Six and it can not be the Nine (in that case West would have Ace-Queen-Jack) or the Ace (in that case West would hold Queen-Jack Nine) so it must be Queen or Jack. West having led from Ace-Jack-Nine or Ace-Queen-Nine. With the Ace in the West hand it is a cinch for North to play the King.

After winning with the King of Diamonds, dummy should have led the Jack of Clubs and, East playing small, South should have played the Ten. Dummy's Nine of Clubs should have followed with the Eight played by South if East ducked again; and then a third Club lead would have enabled the Declarer to take four tricks in that suit.

With four Clubs and one Diamond in hand, South should have led the Ace of Spades and then taken the seventh trick by putting dummy in with the Ace of Hearts. After that, a Spade finesse would have yielded two more tricks for the game-going total of nine.

GOOD NEWS, BRIDGERS.

We are pleased to announce we can now renew the offer of Milton C. Work's great contract and auction booklet entitled the playing problems. Bridgers who received copies from previous offers are most enthusiastic over it.

Playing problems presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reason for each answer in complete detail.

Playing problems which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed, stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS."

IF April 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6 a. m. to 7:30 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

The eternal oyster is waiting for him who will take his sword or text book to open it on this date. Do not expect to find the pearl in your soup. The influences will be more of a destructive nature, morally, and there will be a tendency to slump.

The child born on this April 23 will not be a quiet pudding who will be willing to accept circumstances as inevitable and never stir a finger, and who only speaks when spoken to. It will demand self-expression, and will want to know the whys and wherefores.

You have an extremely sensitive and self-distrusting nature and praise and encouragement are necessary factors for the personal development of one of your temperament. Even a little flattery does you no harm; it helps to offset your own very poor opinion of your own being. You wilt under destructive criticism, but you are grateful for kindly advice.

You are inclined to overestimate the good points in others, and you are never charry of your praise. You often envy some one who has much less natural ability and all-around character assets than you have. It is probably their nerve and your lack of it which has carried them beyond your reach. You do not accurately gauge your limitations or capacities.

You are, if anything, overly conscientious in your work, making it drudgery. You use the same amount of physical and mental energy on the unimportant details as you do on the very important factors. You are a hard taskmaster to yourself. You naturally have a sweet and unselfish disposition, but you allow yourself to become irritable through useless worrying and fretting. There are few people who crave for affection more than you do. You love with all your heart and soul, and if it is not reciprocated in full, you feel deeply hurt.

Successful people born April 23:

1. James Buchanan, fifteenth President of the United States.
2. Stephen A. Douglas, statesman.
3. Chauncey M. Depew, railroad president and senator.
4. Viscount Allenby, British general
5. James Anthony Froude, historian.
6. Shakespeare.

JELLEFF'S
F STREET

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

WENDELL PHILLIPS DODGE commuted from Baltimore yesterday to herald the coming to town of Mr. Walter Hampden in three of his favorite plays, "Richelieu," "Caponsacchi" and "Hamlet." This theatric triumvirate will be staged in Poli's Theater next week, beginning Monday night, in the order named.

• • • •

WENDELL PHILLIPS DODGE was named by Wendell Phillips himself, in person, and in this way: When young Dodge was a baby the celebrated orator—they called him the silver-tongued orator—visited the Dodge home in Boston, where the young hopeful's father and mother were having quite a time selecting a name for their offspring. Next day a letter arrived from the man rated with Henry Clay, Daniel Webster and Patrick Henry as America's greatest exponents of oratory, and the name thereson was Master Wendell Phillips Dodge. Mr. Dodge has that letter, one of his prized possessions. Also, he carries with him testimonials to show that Walter Hampden is America's greatest romantic actor.

• • • •

MARION WELLS will be seen in in a spirited role, and one of indefatigable labor, when the National Players next week offer the one-time Billie Burke comedy, "Jerry." The piece is by Catherine Chisholm Cuching and was fashioned especially for the Burkian talents when that lovely creature was at her crest fifteen years ago. Aside from its lines, said to sparkle today as though there had been no appreciable lapse of time, the title role is one dear to the heart of any actress. It calls for clothes in a wide variety. Jerry is a headstrong young miss, determined to steer her aunt from the shoals of a marriage that bodes incompatibility. Her intentions go further; she has designs on her aunt's dilatory fiance. Jerry's escapades in maneuvering this coup are fraught with the inevitable situations that are the heart and soul of farce. Happily enough, Miss Wells is no stranger to this role, having played it in Louisville a year ago.

• • • •

IN the meantime, the National Players are rollicking through the old Otis Skinner play, "The Honor of the Family," and having quite a time with it. It seems, from the reports, that all the players are acquitting themselves quite well. Walter Gilbert has the Otis Skinner role, the romantic Col. Phillippe Brideau. Marion Wells is giving him admirable support. So, too, Romaine Callender, who makes an excellent villain. Others who win laurels are Forrest Orr, Mrs. Hibbard and the local thespians, John Kline, Denis Connell and William Tanner.

• • • •

OVER from Baltimore, where they played their first out-of-New York performances, the members of the Metropolitan Opera Company arrive in town today. They come for three appearances in the Fox Theater. The opening opera will be "La Boheme," staged tonight with most of the music lovers gracing seats formerly occupied by the movie fans. As Mr. Hardie Meakin says, "Twill be a gala night on F street."

WHO'ZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was an Englishman.
2. He lived during the eighteenth century.
3. He was a member of parliament and held other important offices, but he is remembered because of his writings.
4. Although he wrote several books, both in French and in English, his most noted work is a monumental history of the latter days of the Roman Empire.

Answer to yesterday: Frederick the Great.

Old ways seem crude once you know the lasting comfort of Kotex

Kotex absorbent now is used in 85% of our hospitals; this should guide every woman's choice of sanitary protection.

YOU will never go back to old-fashioned methods once you have tried Kotex. There is really nothing like its soft, safe, lasting protection. It gives you a feeling of security and ease that you particularly want at such times.

Kotex softness is not just on the surface. It comes from the unusual substance of which Kotex is made . . . Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. This is the very same absorbent that is used in 85% of our great hospitals today. It is used by doctors for the most important surgical work. Surely, then, you yourself could use nothing finer.

Kotex is made up of layer on layer of this fine, tissue-like substance known as Cellucotton. It is actually a cellulose product which acts as efficiently as the very softest cotton—with five times greater absorbency. You see, each layer is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Real health protection

Doctors consider sanitary protection as real health protection . . . a safeguard for lowered vitality. That is why it is so important to use Kotex, the scientifically designed sanitary pad. Try it. You will see, then, what a difference it makes. It is disposable, you know. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.

2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

HEADACHES

Needless pains like headaches are immediately relieved by Bayer Aspirin as millions of people know. And no matter how suddenly a headache may come, one can at all times be prepared. Carry the pocket tin of Bayer Aspirin with you. Keep the larger size at home. Read the proven directions for pain, headaches, neuralgia, etc.

BAYER

VITALITY!

"SURE! I can finish that today"

A strong, healthy body and mind always respond to the occasion. Employers appreciate and recognize unfailing freshness—always ready—cheerfully ready to carry on—minus that "tired feeling." Successful business houses do not want people who are subject to 4 p. m. fatigue.

DON'T let a weakened body hold you back. Prolonged, it may result in so-called premature old age. Today's happiness and friends may be gone tomorrow. Has it ever been made clear to you that a strong, healthy body depends upon the right number of rich, red-blood-cells?

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed skin troubles, "run-down" systems and even more serious ailments.

Healthy blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles to every cubic millimeter—those tiny workers which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. Rich, red blood is the body's protector against infection and disease. It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

If you tire easily—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S. S. S.

When you get your red-blood-cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, lack of appetite, skin troubles disappear. You should get hungry again and sleep soundly; firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. helps Nature build rich, red blood. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. Many have found it beneficial to take a few bottles at least once a year to keep their blood in good condition.

S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easily assimilated. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Hundreds of Thousands Of Wise Americans Demand Kruschen Salts
Keeps you in good health all the time—skin clear and body free from fat.
Just think of it: These new, better and different salts were only introduced into America a few months ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.
Kruschen Salts are the daily health dose of millions of people the world over—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain.
One-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.
But the six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly need have no fear of poisons polluting the system, which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.
One bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85 cents, and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.
Not only that, but one bottle will bring about body activity—increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

An Air Raid

After a day and part of a night establishing lines of communication we reached the town of Landres St. George, which had 24 hours before belonged to the Hun. In one of the half-destroyed houses of the town we were billeted for the night, prepared to make ourselves as comfortable as possible around an old fireplace in which burned a warm fire. Overhead the whine of a shell or purr of a plane was occasionally heard.

The upper part of this house had been badly battered by shell fire and there was some question among the men as to whether the light from our fire could be seen from above. Suddenly there was a crash at our feet as stones and debris fell about us; however, no one was hurt. As it was both dangerous and against orders for lights to shine at night, one of the members of the outfit had gone upstairs to investigate and cover up as well as possible any place where light might be seen and had stumbled over the loose stones and mortar and knocked them down among us. We soon got him down and took good care to see that he did not go on another private inspection tour of his own.

"All at Sea"

J. Martin Sivertsen, crackerjack master mariner, any ocean, any tonnage, was commissioned a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve Force and placed in command of the U. S. S. Western Ocean. After the armistice Martin came home and was telling about his fine record and the fine loyal crew he had under him. "All I needed," said Skipper Sivertsen, "was a good former Navy officer who could have steered me right on Navy regulations. We sailed the ship o. k. but we knew nothing of Navy customs, honors, courtmartials, &c." "I had one man and only one," continued the skipper "who gave me trouble. He ruined the morale of the engine room gang, all the time crabbing and criticizing. He was a big Irishman named O'Boyle. I wanted to court martial him but I didn't know how, but I fixed him anyhow. One evening I sent for him to come up to my cabin. When he got there I closed the door, locked it, took off my coat and gave him a good sound pasting. He was o. k. after that."

The Continued Story

In Paris, on that momentous and never-to-be-forgotten three-day leave, Henry and I had absorbed a lot of local color along the grands-boulevards, and by early evening we had rounded the Place de la Concord, and were traversing the Avenue du Champs-Elysees, where the golden ball of fire of the setting sun framed the symmetrical Arcade Triomph. What a sight! Boy, what a sight! It was May time, and the horse chestnut trees along the triumphant way were in full blossom, and a general air of tranquillity, not to be found elsewhere, pervaded both the pedestrians and the occupants of the little iron chairs along the way. Tiring, we soon sought rest on these chairs near some other fellows in khaki. Received a little surprise when a little weazened old lady stood before us with hand outstretched, and began "gargling," "Do sue, do sue." Our neighbors told us she was collecting for the chair concessionnaire and that "do sue" meant "a big clacker," the Army parlance for the larger of the French copper coins (ten centimes). Our neighbors also told us that as dusk fell it was all right to move our seats, and that we could approach any of the many unaccompanied ladies, also using the seats, and that there would be no offense, no formal introductions being necessary (just a quaint old French custom). Henry takes this all in, and soon is casting his peepers toward a not unattractive girl sitting along near the end of the row of chairs. He gradually moved along the row, and soon is sitting right next to her. He coughs to attract her attention and when she looked his way, he says, "M'amselle, you understand English?" and immediately received the pert reply, "Why, yes; do you speak it?" It was a cool reception, and Henry later remarked that he thought the Red Cross ought to be more strict about enforcing their rule that their staff must always appear in public in uniform.

Ladies Prefer Bucks

Dear Sir: The war had been over about six months and I was with the Army of Occupation in Weissenthurm, Germany. We happened to have a very good looking captain and first lieutenant, both of whom delighted to dress up and make a hit with the ladies. In the office was a sergeant and a corporal, neither of whom were a bit good looking, especially since they never bothered to have their clothes pressed as did the two officers. This one day in particular the captain called the barber and said, "I want you to do a good job, because I am trying to make a hit with a certain young German lady." Well, after the barber finished shaving the captain he made an appearance that would make almost any one turn around and look at him. So, out he went! We heard no more until the next morning when the corporal came in and said: "The first lieutenant tried to pick up my girl on the ferry from Weissenthurm to Andernach last night. She told me all about it." Just then the sergeant came in and said very excitedly, "Say, fellows, you know, the captain tried to pick up my girl on the ferry last night." Just then the door opened and in walked the lieutenant. After he said good morning, the corporal said, "Did you have any luck last night, lieutenant, with the girls?" "No," said the lieutenant, "not much." "Well," said the corporal, "if you hadn't tried to pick up my girl, you might have." Naturally, we all laughed, and then we told the lieutenant about the captain. At that moment the captain came in, and the lieutenant said "Say, captain, do you know you tried to pick up the sergeant's girl last night?" The captain seemed very much surprised and said, 'No! Did I?" at which we all guffawed. They both took it very good-naturedly. That was one time enlisted men had a good laugh at their superior officers' expense without paying for it.

Really, that is the truth. If you don't believe me ask Corpl. Raber and Sergt. Pope.

CHARLES K. BALSTER,

A Trench Lawyer

Bill K. was the type that might be termed a chronic or inveterate kicker and grouch. Nothing that was ever done in the A. E. F. satisfied Bill and, least of all, was he satisfied with the mess served. After several tilts with the mess sergeant and others Bill had finally started to get on everybody's nerves and they frankly told him so. Not to be outdone, Bill finally got hold of an old Army manual or similar book in which was a notation of just the quantity of rations that should be drawn for a certain number of men. He then proceeded to make his deductions, &c., and at the next meal exhibited his authority for claiming 2½ strips of bacon, 1½ slices of bread, 12 prunes, &c.

The major, upon hearing the argument, came out to see what it was all about, and Bill proceeded to show him the manual and what he had discovered under "Field Rations." After reading same the mess sergeant was instructed to comply and Bill was ordered to go out and cook these rations himself, as he had overlooked this part of the manual.

Great Illumination

After a few days of the first experience at the front, "on the Aisne-Marne Offensive," we all became more philosophical about it and adopted the following view: "If the bomb hits us we shall never know what struck us; if it does not hit us there is no harm done. In either case why worry?"

Although the enemy gunners could no longer see their target after nightfall, they kept up a series of chance shots throughout the hours of darkness. In the perfect blackness of one of these nights, two Nash-Quad trucks chanced to meet on the narrow road about 25 yards parallel our battery. Stopping about 5 inches from each other, the drivers engaged in heated argument, and there seemed imminent danger that a fight would develop. A large shell suddenly landed in the field near the road, and the flash of its explosion brilliantly illuminated the entire scene—road, trucks and drivers with clenched fists and uplifted arms. Quick as a flash came a suggestion of one of the disputants: "Well, partner, get on your truck; with the next one we'll have light enough so that we can see to pass." And sure enough the trucks passed each other by shell-light.

Correcting An Impression

We have sometimes found the impression prevailing that we will not accept anything but a used Ford car in trade for a new Ford. That is not a fact. Many cars—in both high and low price classes—are being constantly traded in for the new Ford.

Why did over 42% of the purchasers of new passenger cars in Washington during the month of March buy new Ford automobiles?

Because the new Ford car has value far above its price.

We are glad to handle salable cars of all makes. Appraisal Week gives every owner an opportunity of knowing the value of his present car and permits him to consider now the advisability of changing to Ford.

The SUN pours fragrance into these tobaccos

LONG BEFORE the choice leaves of golden Turkish and velvety brown Domestic tobacco are selected for Camel Cigarettes, nature's own alchemy has worked a miracle in them that no effort of man can hope to duplicate.

Every tiny leaf-cell is irradiated—stored full of goodness by the clean, pure vigor of the sun!

Our share in the making of Camels is to see that all of the fragrance, mildness, mellowness, aroma—in a word all of the natural goodness of these sun-ripened tobaccos is preserved and developed—then to combine them into the smooth, delightful harmony of the famous Camel blend, and manufacture them into cigarettes by the most modern methods known to the industry.

You can taste the natural goodness in every delicious puff of a Camel Cigarette.

Orville H. Platt, United States Senator from Connecticut died in his Washington, Conn. home early last night of pneumonia, after an illness of about five weeks. He had held the seat from Connecticut for 26 years.

A board of Army officers including Gen. A. W. Greely, chief signal officer, went to the Indian Head Proving Grounds to watch the experiments in aerial photography. The photographs are taken with a camera suspended from a kite. The camera is electrically operated from the ground by wires. Army officers are watching the results with much interest as the idea is to use the camera for photographing an enemy's troops and defense in actual warfare.

Montreal, Canada, April 22, 1905. Fourteen women and children lost their lives in an early morning fire which destroyed the Convent of the Sisters of Saint Anne, of Lacine, in the village of Saint Genevieve, Quebec.

"Take it from me, the wet ball, (Spit Ball) will be out of the National League in a very few weeks" said President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Club in an interview today. "It is a menace to the life and limb of every average ball player and there is not one pitcher in either league who can claim control of the crazy ball. This crazy ball was the reason New York lost the deciding game in the American League pennant chase last season, and I am heartily in favor of throwing it out of both leagues."

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

DUTIES OF SCHOOL NURSE.

ONE of the three duties of the school nurse is treatment of minor conditions, such as mild skin disorders, some of which are communicable and some not. In the latter groups are the old, neglected, heavy scabbed sores, particularly of the legs, to which children are so subject. The nurse is able to heal these old sores promptly. She applies a wet dressing to soften the thick, heavy scab and then removes it. It may be necessary to repeat this a few times to accomplish this result. The treatment she uses is proper for all sores that heal under scabs.

A scab is composed of the dried ooze from the wound plus dead cells and all thrown off epithelium. Oozing washes wounds free from bacteria and dirt. The oozing material is somewhat bactericidal as well as mechanically cleansing. The outward flow prevents bacteria from traveling inward. That which coagulates in the wound plugs up blood and lymph vessels.

There is very little danger of infection from a scab. The dried material is not good culture material for bacteria. In addition, the surface of a healing wound becomes almost immune to infection. Our forefathers learned from experience that infected wounds would not scab well, and that the presence of a good scab meant that the wound was not infected and could not be, or at least not readily. We know that a good scab not only is proof that a wound is not infected, and is doing well, but that it protects the wound against both infection and injury.

But even a good thing can be overdone. A heavy scab prevents healing. The injury it does and the hindrance to healing is mechanical. It acts as a foreign body, like a cinder in the eye or a pebble in a shoe. It is good policy to remove the heavy scabs. This can be done with plain water, boiled water, soap and water or boric acid solution. Since there is practically no danger of infection, there is no particular reason for adding an antiseptic to the water.

The process of removal is one of soaking, and a convenient method is to apply a wet dressing, to cover with old silk, and to hold this with a bandage. Prolonged soaking in a pan of warm water is equally effective, but more wasteful of time. A scab re-forms rather quickly, and when it does the process is to be repeated. As a rule, soaking and dressing once a day is enough. This provides covering enough for the young skin as it grows from the wound edge over the surface and removes the covering when it becomes too heavy, stiff and harsh. To keep the wet dressing on continuously is to water-soak the wound and to wash away the young cells as rapidly as they form, and thus to prevent healing.

THAT'S NOTHING! I DREAMED I HAD TWO HEADS AND A CASTANET PLAYER WAS KNOCKING THEM TOGETHER!
LOOK, BLACKIE, SOMEONE LEFT A BUNDLE! I WONDER WHAT'S IN IT THAT MAKES RAGS BARK LIKE THAT!
WHATEVER IT IS WE DON'T WANT IT! NOBODY EVER GIVES ANY ANYTHING THAT'S ANY GOOD EXCEPT ON CHRISTMAS AND THAT'S EIGHT MONTHS YET!
GRACIOUS! A BABY! WHERE DID IT COME FROM? WHO DOES IT BELONG TO? WHAT'LL WE DO WITH IT?
ASK ME ANOTHER! I KNOW ALL THE ANSWERS EXCEPT THE RIGHT ONE!
ISN'T SHE THE CUTEST THING? I ALMOST WISH SHE WERE MINE!
OUR BAD DREAMS HAVE COME TRUE! YOU'VE GOT A COUPLE OF SMALL EYES TO DOT, AND I'VE GOT ANOTHER HEAD TO WORRY ABOUT!

NATS TAKE UPHILL GAME FROM RED SOX IN 12TH, 4-3

Pegler

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 22.—One fact which is always overlooked in criticisms of the prize-fight racket is the absence of any obligation of either party to a prize-fight to put up a contest, a happy circumstance which justifies all that has happened on the current tour of Primo Carnera and his mob.

Customers and prize-fight commissioners take too much for granted when they assume that both pugilists in a given bout are under some legal compulsion to fight their utmost until they are overcome, for the plain fact of the case is that all requirements are fulfilled when the prize fighters answer the first bell. Thereafter, one or the other may drop his hands, jump over the ropes or dust off a space on the floor and drop there at his own discretion, without violating any regulation or law.

Fighters Can Quit When They Like.

Once the bell rings and the men leave the corners each prize fighter has the right to say when he has had enough and, even though he may not have been touched as yet, the fact remains that he is the sole judge of just how much is sufficient for him. Of course, in the exercise of this right he may impugn his own courage, but if a man is a bum, accustomed to fighting semiwindups in old burlesque theaters for not more than $50 and a mob of major league bootleggers offer him $1,000 cash in advance to quit their man at his earliest convenience, he is likely to endure this mortification of the spirit.

Moreover, although the customers and commissioners may have their suspicions, the bum concerned remains the final authority on the question of whether he was overcome, and he may even insist that he collapsed from fright at a sinister glare from his opponent.

Agree to Fight but Not Fight Well.

To be sure, the referee may disqualify him or declare the bout to have been no contest, and the prize fight commissioners sitting in that particular jurisdiction may undertake to forfeit the money of one or both fighters not to the customers but to the promoter, but a case of this kind reached the United States Supreme Court a year or so ago in which the plaintiff was awarded all the pay agreed upon in the original articles on the ground that he merely agreed to fight not more than a certain number of rounds but did not specify how well.

In this case the athletes were permitted to jog several rounds showing great mutual forbearance and respect before the referee lost patience, but the court held that a prize fight was an artistic performance not measurable by any arbitrary judgments or standards and subject to the limitations of courage, endurance, discretion and skill.

The Racket Is Protected.

It is this peculiarity which protects and preserves the larcenous character of the prize fighting racket notwithstanding occasional protests by those few prize-fight commissioners who are more interested in prize fighting as a game, than in the gratification of their own petty political ambitions and their personal vanity. A prize fight may draw $3,000,000 as the second Tunney-Dempsey bout did, and even so, there is no power to compel either fighter to fight if, for any one of a number of reasons, he believes it the part of wisdom to quit.

With such money involved and so little required of those concerned, it is not remarkable to find prominent criminals with police records for everything from illegal parking to murder attracted to the racket and the only wonder to me is that there are not more lawyers and financiers in it, because here is one form of swindling for which it is impossible to send a man to prison.

Dempsey Could Quit Legally in First.

If Dempsey had bet a million dollars against himself in Chicago on the proposition that he would not answer the bell for round 2, he would have been strictly within his rights to quit in round 1 and the bout would have deserved rank as a contest for all that anyone could have proved to the contrary. He might have said, "I had vertigo" or "I was trained to exhaustion" or "a smash on the upper arm paralyzed me" or "Tunney was too young and strong so I resigned to spare the customers a brutal spectacle which would have been detrimental to the sport."

His pay for the prize fight had been banked and secreted beyond attachment before he entered the ring and his bets, which would have been

V.P.I. Names Neal Grid Coach

Former Marine and Western Maryland Star Gets Post.

Young Mentor Picked From Large Group Including Palm.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, Va., April 22.—Orville E. Neal, former star halfback for Western Maryland College and the All-Marines, and assistant to Dick Harlow at the Westminster Institution last fall, was appointed varsity football coach at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute by unanimous vote of the college athletic council this morning.

Neal succeeds Andy Gustafson, head mentor here for the past four years, who resigned in February to accept an offer as backfield coach at his alma mater, the University of Pittsburgh. Neal's contract is for one year, members of the council stated. The new coach arrived in Blacksburg this morning and conferred with the council. This, however, was not unusual, as a number of applicants for the position, including Mike Palm, former assistant to Lou Little at Georgetown, had appeared before the athletic body during the extensive deliberations looking toward selection of a successor to Gustafson. Definite announcement of the choice of Neal spread rapidly over the campus and town, and created widespread comment.

Neal Western Maryland Star in 1926-28.

Neal is a member of the class of 1929 at Western Maryland, where his phenomenal playing at halfback proved a big factor in the success of the Green Terror elevens of 1926, 1927 and 1928. He became one of the most feared ball carriers on Eastern gridirons under Dick Harlow during his last two years. He is a native of Beaver City, Nebr., and played for three years on the Quantico All-Marine Team before entering college.

Last fall he returned to Western Maryland and shared with Harlow the credit in turning out the brilliant Terror machine which played through a difficult eleven-game schedule without defeat or tie. He is said to have shown exceptional coaching ability despite his youth.

Mangin Plays Van Ryn In Tournament Today

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 22 (A.P.).—Eight of the first ten ranking players of the United States won their way into the quarter finals of Mason and Dixon tennis championship on the courts of Greenbrier Golf and Tennis Club here today. The other two on the first ten, William T. Tilden 2d and Junior Coen are in Europe.

Fritz Mercur was trailing Emmet Pare, of Dayton, Ohio, National Clay Court champion and was but one point from losing the match when he braced and came back to win. The score was 4—6, 10—8, 6—2.

Gregory Mangin, of Newark, Georgetown University star, defeated John Locke, of New York, in straight sets, and then disposed of Herbert Bowman, of New York, 6—4, 6—2. Mangin is scheduled to meet John Van Ryn in what promises to be the feature match. Other scores were:

Francis T. Hunter defeated Donald Cram, 6—4, 6—4; Berkley Bell defeated Teddy Burwell, 8—0, 6—3; John Van Ryn defeated Thomas J. Mangan, 6—2, 6—0; Wilmer Allison, jr., defeated Arnold Jones, 6—4, 7—5; Johnny Doeg defeated Marcel Raineville, 6—0, 6—3.

Phils Rally Twice To Beat Robins, 6 to 5

Philadelphia, April 22 (A.P.).—Rallies in the eighth and ninth innings and successive home runs in the first by Klein and Friberg gave the Phillies a 6 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Robins in their home opener today.

SCHOOL GOLF CROWN TO HORTON

Central Captain Retains Title; Rabbitt 4 Strokes Back.

FRANCIS HORTON, Central High School's golf captain, yesterday captured the interscholastic golf championship of the city for the second successive year when he scored 81—79—160 for 36 holes over the East Potomac Golf Course.

Horton's total was four less than that of Alton Rabbitt, erstwhile Western High basket ball player, who finished second with a score of 82—82—164.

In repeating last year's victory, Horton played steadily throughout the match despite a high wind which troubled the performances of some of the other performers.

Quigley Takes Third By a Stroke.

Another Central golfer, Jack Quigley, finished third with 82—84—166.

Thomas Webb, of Western, was fourth in line with 85—82—167. Webb had a great chance to tie Horton, going to the thirtieth hole only two strokes behind, but a 6 on the par 3 seventeenth hole and a 5 on the par 4 eighteenth, proved his undoing.

Cardinals Beat Cubs, 8-3; Hallahan Stars

Chicago, Ill., April 22.—Bill Hallahan, of the St. Louis Cardinals, spoiled the opening exercise of the Cubs this afternoon by allowing them a scant five hits, while his mates pounded out an 8-3 victory. St. Louis now holds a 3-2 edge on the Cubs in games played.

For the second time this season Hallahan defeated the Bruins with ease. In the two games only seven hits have been made off him. But for Wilson's homer in the seventh, after English and Cuyler had walked, it would have been another shutout. About 40,000 fans saw the game.

TIGERS LOSE TO BROWNS IN 13TH

Gullic's Blow Decides Game, 5-4; Detroit Ties in Ninth.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 22 (A.P.).—Scoring two runs off Gray in the ninth inning to knot the score, the Detroit Tigers were unable to solve the twirling of Walter Stewart, who relieved him with none out, and the St. Louis Browns were triumphant in the thirteenth frame, 5 to 4.

Wyatt, third hurler for Detroit, gave a walk in the final frame which was followed by a sacrifice and Gullic, Ozark mountaineer, singled to send across the winning tally. McManus got four hits out of five times at bat, including two doubles.

Cleveland, April 22 (A.P.).—The Chicago White Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians in the opening game of Cleveland's at-home season today by a score of 4 to 3.

The Sox scored the winning run in the eighth inning after Cleveland had tied the count with a three-run rally in the seventh. Cleveland filled the bases after two had been put out in the ninth, but Al Thomas, Sox pitcher, retired Joe Sewell on a hopper to the box for the final out.

66,000 Watch Yanks Bow To Macks

Miller's Homer in 9th Wins Game, Haas' Catch Saves It.

Grove Is Driven Out Early But A's Rally for 7-6 Victory.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 22 (A.P.).—The world champion Athletics spoiled the homecoming party of the New York Yankees today in a dramatic finish that thrilled a crowd of 66,000, the largest that has turned out for any game anywhere so far this season.

The final score was 7 to 6. The margin of victory was furnished by a ninth inning home run by Bing Miller after the Athletics had come from behind to tie the score in the eighth inning and start the downfall of Big Boy Sherid, Yankee right hander.

A portly gentleman by the name of Babe Ruth almost pulled the game off the fire in the last half of the ninth to give the tremendous crowd a final thrill. In fact, the Babe came within a few feet of driving the ball into the bleachers in right center and winning the game. With Earl Combs on second, Ruth smashed a terrific wallop that George Haas grabbed as he backed into the bleacher wall. Haas fell after the catch, but rose to make a great throw to Bishop, whose relay to Cochrane caught Combs easily at the plate for a double play and the end of the game.

Grove Pounded Out In Third.

This was an exciting finale to an exciting, close-fought game. The their losing streak, attacked the great Yankees, desperately trying to break Robert Moses Grove, ace southpaw of the A's, and drove him from the box in the third inning with a barrage featured by Lou Gehrig's home run. This gave Bob Shawkey's boys a 6-to-5 advantage that looked good as Sherid steadied after a shaky start.

For the four-inning stretch from the third through the seventh, Sherid allowed only two singles. He looked like a winner after escaping from a bad hole in the seventh, Combs racing back to pull down pinch-hitting Wally Schang's drive for the third out with runners on second and third.

Haas, who shared with Combs the day's fielding honors in a marvelous exhibition of center field defense, opened the eighth inning attack with a single, raced to third on Cochrane's one-base wallop and scored the tying run on Al Simmons' sacrifice hoist to Combs.

Miller first up in the ninth, lined the ball into the left-field stands for the winning run. This blow knocked Sherid out of the box and George Pipgras came into lock the barn door after the ball game had been stolen.

Mack Calls on 4 Twirlers.

Connie Mack called on three pitchers to stop the Yankees after Grove had been unceremoniously bumped off to the tune of eight hits and six runs in less than three innings. Two youngsters, 19-year-old Glenn Liebhardt, jr., whose father was a major league pitcher before him, and a southpaw, Al Mahone, divided the relief work until the eighth. Liebhardt held the Yankees to one single in 3 2-3 innings, but Malone was yanked after pitching four straight balls to Ben Chapman at the start of the eighth.

The veteran portsider, Rube Walberg, was rushed to the rescue, stopped the New Yorkers with the aid of Haas, and received credit for the victory, his second of the season.

It was the fifth straight defeat for the Yankees.

EABY ASTRIDE 4 WINNERS FOR WIDENER AT GRAW

Stable Makes History by Triumphs

Torrential, St. Prisca, Finita Win in Row for Widener.

Eaby Pilots Gerard Home in 6th; Sweet Sentiment Wins.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 22. George D. Widener, of Philadelphia, made turf history here today when he took down four purses. He won the second, a 6-furlong sprint, with Torrential, and then the third and fourth, also 6-furlong sprints, with St. Prisca and Finita, respectively. In the sixth race, a mile and 70 yards affair, his colors were borne to victory by Gerard.

Gerard, a 5-year-old gelded son of Ambassador IV—Crepuscle, broke on top and made every post a winning one to be safely home ahead of Black Patricia, with Guide Right third.

Jockey J. Eaby was astride all four of the Widener winners, riding intelligent races on each.

The Seagram Stable's Sweet Sentiment qualified handsomely for the $50,000 Peakness on May 9 at Pimlico, when he ran off with the Harford Old Maryland, mile and 70 yards feature that attracted 10,000 fans here today.

Sweet Sentiment Runs Great Race.

The colt, favorite in the wagering, justified that confidence by fighting it out head and head with Guilford for half a mile, where the latter called it a day. Snelboc then hooked up with Sweet Sentiment, and they staged a brilliant run until the eighth pole, where the former quit. Then Fair Beth loomed up, and, although running very strongly through the home lane, she could not overhaul Sweet Sentiment, who responded when whipped smartly by Jockey Frankie Mann. Sweet Sentiment ran the mile and 70 yards in 1:44 1-5, smart time, as the track was not quite at top.

Form players started off on the right foot when they installed H. E. Talbott, jr.'s Abduction favorite in the first race, and the 2-year-old son of Crimper—Resist broke on top to make every post a winning one.

However, Abduction was not the best horse in the race. Had Frank Scrembo's Miss Canopy had a stronger rider than H. Morgan up, this miss would have won handily instead of being beaten a short head by Abduction. Third money went to Miss Blanche Watson's Zezra, a field horse.

Wineder's Torrential graduated from the ranks of the maidens when she led fourteen other 3-year-olds over the 6 furlongs of the second.

Little Imp cut out the early running, with Torrential within a half length of the gelding until they left the back stretch. In the run around the bends, Torrential took command to come on to an easy score over Dun Ro, with Kai-Lo third.

Widener made it a double when St. Prisca won the third, a three-quarter mile dash.

St. Prisca Holds Equation Off.

Cloudy outran the field of nine from the Waite stall gates. Halfway down the back lane, Cloudy was joined by Genuine and they fought it out head and head until entering the home stretch, where they both called it a day.

At this point Eaby sent St. Prisca into the lead, but had to do his best booting to get him safely home ahead of Equation, one that closed an immense gap from a slow beginning. Montferrat was third.

Mr. Widener, Trainer W. F. Mulholland and Jockey J. Eaby registered their third consecutive victory of the day when Finita ran off with the Admiration, the day's secondary feature at six furlongs. Eaby sent Finita on top at the break and although hard pressed throughout by Flossine, the former scored by a length. Flossine was a handy winner of the place over Panda.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ABDUCTION, $6.30, $4.40, $3.00; MISS CANOPY, $11.90, $7.30; ZEBRA, $3.10.

ABDUCTION, breaking forwardly and having good speed under vigorous urging, managed to assume a slight lead at once, saved ground and, hard ridden all the last three furlongs, withstood a drive and outstayed MISS CANOPY. Latter improved her position gradually and closed stoutly in the final issue. ZEBRA moved into contention with a rush and finished strongly. SHIELD, a prominent factor throughout, weakened slightly in the final drive. RUNNING GIRL showed a good effort. PRINCE APOLLO was unable to get to the leaders. BABBIE was going well near the finish. DURVA had early speed. SONNY FRONK met with trouble after the break.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For maiden 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:05. Off at 3:08. Winner, G. D. Widener's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TORRENTIAL, $10.10, $5.70, $3.40; DUNRO, $17.80, $6.70; KAI-LO, $5.60.

TORRENTIAL, hard ridden in the early stages, resisted keen contention from LITTLE IMP, continued willingly when placed to punishment in the final furlong and lasted to stall off DUNRO. Latter broke slowly, gained steadily on the outside and finished in the course gamely at the end. KAI-LO, placed well up, finished with a game effort. ANNE BOLEYN made up ground steadily during the running. STAR SPUN was unable to keep pace. LITTLE IMP tired from chasing the winner. SURGEON had brief speed, then quit.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won cleverly; place, same. Went to post at 3:35. Off at 3:36. Winner, George D. Widener's ir. b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ST. PRISCA, $5.30, $3.70, $3.10; EQUATION, $8.50, $5.30; MONTFERRAT, $6.80.

ST. PRISCA, following in near pursuit of the pacemakers, moved into the lead with a rush when swinging into the home stretch, shook the leaders off, but had to be shaken up nearing the end when challenged. EQUATION broke very slow, went wide to secure racing room, reached the winner nearing the final furlong pole, but hung from his early efforts. MONTFERRAT, unable to race in early contention, saved ground and closed steadily. GENUINE was used up racing with CLOUDY and TACK. NEWTON had speed in spots. VIRADO was outrun. CLOUDY stopped utterly the last quarter mile.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Admiration. For 3-year-olds, fillies. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:06. Off at 4:08. Winner, G. D. Widener's dk. b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FINITA, $17.10, $6.70, $3.60; FLOSSINE, $7.40, $4.40; PANDA, $2.70.

FINITA away smartly and having good speed, gained a slight lead, saved ground and, cutting loose early through the closing stages, shook off FLOSSINE and was slowly drawing away at the end. FLOSSINE, always close up, made several bids, but faltered in the last furlong. PANDA, placed well up, finished with good courage under stout pressure. ENID made up some ground through the closing stages. CHICKWEED began slowly and could not menace the leaders. RED CROSS SISTER stopped. POINCIANA weakened fast after a half mile.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SWEET SENTIMENT, $5.20, $3.20, $2.30; FAIR BETH, $2.90, $2.40; SNELBOC, $2.60.

SWEET SENTIMENT, kept in strict contention from the start, resisted keen contention from GUILFORD and SNELBOC, responded to punishment in the final furlong and began drawing clear in the last sixteenth. Latter, the early leader, was the outside winner of a driving finish. RED BRIAR run and finished determinedly for the closing test. SNELBOC, hard ridden the entire trip, weakened when the real issue came. RED BRIAR lacked early speed, reached a good position when approaching the far turn, but hung badly. GUILFORD tired after having early speed.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500. The Pace Brook. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:09. Off at 5:11. Winner, George D. Widener's b. g. (5), by Ambassador IV—Crepuscule. Trained by W. F. Mulholland. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48, 1:13 2-5, 1:40, 1:44 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GERARD, $3.90, $3.00, $2.60; BLACK PATRICIA, $5.50, $4.00; GUIDE RIGHT, $7.00.

GERARD, taken under restraint when GUIDE RIGHT was rushed to the front, remained in reserve until approaching the far turn, went up on the inside to assume command and, kept under urging thereafter, drew away gradually at the end. BLACK PATRICIA, following close to the leaders, came straight in the final drive, but was no match for the winner. GUIDE RIGHT had good speed for seven furlongs, then weakened. PRUMPER, forced wide at the first turn, was never able to get to the leaders at any stage. CHATTERWOOD had no mishaps.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 5:40. Off at 5:41. Winner, Chas. Moody's br. c. (4), by Negrofol—Silk Lady. Trained by R. A. Smith. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:47 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SLICKAWAY, $14.10, $5.50, $4.60; SUNNY SAINT, $4.50, $4.00; BOUNDING DEEP, $8.70.

SLICKAWAY, beginning slowly, was not hustled to his field until straightened away on the back stretch, reached his company with good speed and, withstanding a strong drive, wore BOUNDING DEEP down and outstayed SUNNY SAINT. Latter, rated within striking distance of the leaders, swung to the outside and closed stoutly. BOUNDING DEEP, a forward factor throughout, raced HARVARD into submission, but flattened in the final drive. REJUVENATION closed a good gap.

EMERSON DEFEATS EASTERN IN TENTH BY 11 TO 9

Shapiro's Hit Decides Issue

Former Eastern Star Doubles Home the Winning Runs.

Albert's Homer With 2 On Knots Score in the Ninth.

BY doubling in the tenth inning to score two runners, Cody Shapiro, former Eastern High School outfielder now performing for Emerson Institute, sent his old teammates down to defeat for the second time this season yesterday before the prep school nine by a score of 11 to 9, at the Lincoln Park Stadium. Emerson vanquished Eastern, 7 to 0, in the first meeting of the teams.

After a see-saw game, during which the lead had changed hands three times, Bill Albert tied the score for Emerson in the ninth frame, when, with Eastern leading by three runs, he smacked a home run with two men on the bases. Albert's four-baser came as a fitting climax to his afternoon's work, the slugging shortstop having previously banged out a single, double and a triple.

Davidson Holds Eastern In Check.

After Pitcher Shackleford, of Emerson, had been relieved by a pinch-hitter in the ninth, who incidentally started the rally with a single, Roy Davidson stepped in the box to render the Lincoln Parkers helpless for the remainder of the game, a single in the ninth and two walks in the tenth constituting their sole threats.

Although charged with the defeat, it was not until the last two innings that Dick Lanahan, Eastern mainstay, weakened after hurling creditable ball for four innings. Being called to the box in the fourth after Bill Noonan had been hit for five runs and as many safe blows in three innings, Lanahan applied the brakes and held the enemy at bay until the ninth, striking out twelve batters in the seven innings he performed.

—Havre De Grace Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 22.—The $10,000 added Aberdeen Stakes will be renewed for the eighteenth time here tomorrow and in this 4½-furlong dash for 2-year-olds, the Nevada Stock Farm's SISKIN, winner of the Agua Caliente Futurity and undefeated in two starts on the West Coast last winter, will meet Mr. M. P. Allen's VANDERPOOL, victor in the Miami Juvenile Stakes early last month, and unbeaten in five starts.

The meeting of these two colts will likely attract a capacity crowd to Eddie Burke's local oval. Indications are the race will be run over a fast track and many are predicting that the 4½-furlong record of 0:53, held jointly by Mother Goose, Rockman, Fiddle sticks and Single Foot, will be bettered. In addition to Siskin and Vanderpool, the undefeated colts, EQUIPOISE and SURF BOARD, are also listed as starters. Twelve in all were named through the overnight entry box.

SISKIN turned in a sensational trial last Monday morning for tomorrow's race, and this move may be the means of his going to the post a slight favorite over VANDERPOOL.

SISKIN went the Aberdeen route in 0:54 after being eased up in the final stages. He stepped the first quarter in 0:22, the three-eights in 0:35 and the half-mile in 0:47. VANDERPOOL also worked for tomorrow's engagement Monday and, while he showed clever speed, his trial was not to compare with the one turned in by the Son of Epinard. SISKIN enjoyed a long rest after winning the Agua Caliente Futurity. VANDERPOOL has started twice since he scored in the Miami Juvenile. We are giving SISKIN a slight edge in the race, but no one will know which is the better colt until the race is run and won.

FIRST RACE—GAY CABALLERO'S only start was in the Bowie Kindergarten Stakes. Prior to that race he had worked very well. If his owner and trainer thought he had a chance to whip horses like VANDERPOOL and SCHOONER, then we believe he has a chance to whip the juvenile platers he will meet in the day's opener. He is second on the eligible list. If he fails to get in we will have to string along with BROAD A. This fellow was a good second to Abduction last Friday. MODERN MAIDEN was highly touted the first time she went to the post at Bowie. She was away in a tangle and had no chance. LAUHALA has only to improve slightly over her last race to be a dangerous factor.

SECOND RACE—HOGAN'S ALLEY has bad legs but now and then he turns in a good race. He's been resting for several weeks, and the letup probably did him a lot of good. There is no question that he is the class of the bad platers named for the second event. FAIR THORN may be overlooked, but he ran a real good race, his only start at Bowie. He stepped along with horses like Algol in Havana the past winter. SHASTA PEBBLE was second to Dreana Lee last Thursday. He met interference trying to get to the leaders. BUSINESS should hold the others safe.

THIRD RACE—FAIRY MAIDEN will likely be a trailer in this race, but she'll thrill you when she turns on at the head of the stretch. With a better ride than Apprentice Cimerak gave her last time she shapes up as the most probable winner of the day. ORMONBIRD has been dropped into a claiming race. He's right where he belongs now. He's fast, but FAIRY MAIDEN beat him in an overnight event at Bowie, MOLE HILL figures slightly better than ARCTURUS on the dope, but the latter may prove the surprise of the race. He's been working well, and he is trained by a man that can make any old cripple win.

FOURTH RACE—NED O. received a good conditioner back of the speedsters, Gun Royal and Standby, at 6 furlongs the first day of the current meeting. CRAZY KOOT also won a 6-furlong dash very easily the following day. NED O. was beaten, but his race was better than the one the Whitney colt ran. Going a mile and 70 yards in the Chesapeake trial purse, fourth race, NED O. should best CRAZY COOT provided Buck Foreman's gelding's bad leg holds up. BATTLESHIP ran a good race to win the James Howe Memorial Handicap at Bowie. MICHIGAN BOY is meeting better 3-year-olds here than he beat in the Louisiana Derby. He is also partial to soft footing.

SIXTH RACE—CELERITAS and HEDGEFENCE are hard to separate in this mile and one-quarter gallop for platers. Both ran good races at Bowie. CELERITAS gets a slight edge because he was beaten by a nose by Rock Slide. HEDGEFENCE is fresh and he has had two races to tighten him up. FAIR GOLD is preferred over Keydet.

SEVENTH RACE—The mile and one-quarter of the nightcap may be a long way for HAYES' CHOICE to go, but with little to press him he should have no trouble hanging on long enough to beat his field. RINGON'S Bowie races were very bad, but he met slightly better company than he will tomorrow. BLANCO'S last can be thrown out. He didn't seem to fancy the rough going. LUCIE ANN is another which floundered in deep going her last out.

Columbias Gain Title In Women's Pin Loop

For the first time in three seasons, a new champion reigns in the Washington Ladies Bowling League as a result of the triumphs of the Columbias last night. The Columbias succeeded the Beeques, three-time winners of the title, by scoring a greater pinfall for the season which decided the title as a result of an existing tie in games won and lost. Both the Columbias and the Beeques won two of their three final games at the Lucky Strike Alleys last night.

Sutton, Cueist, Found Dead; Unaware Wife Had Expired

CHICAGO, April 22 (A.P.).—They called at the home of George B. Sutton, billiard champion and contender for the world title for 22 years, today to tell him that his devoted wife, Margaret, had died in a hospital.

There was no response. Sutton, himself, was dead.

This double tragedy in the life of the noted billiard star, whose playing a quarter of a century ago brought him international fame, unfolded itself when neighbors forced the door, after hospital attaches vainly had attempted to reach him by telephone.

Just inside the door was the kneeling figure of the former billiard champion, slumped against a chair as if in prayer. Physicians said Sutton died suddenly of heart disease. Grief and worry over his wife's hopeless battle for recovery contributed to bring his daeth. Pneumonia and heart disease combined to take her life. She was 65.

Sutton was 66 years old, and in the early years of the century was the 18.2 balkline billiard champion of the world. He won the title in 1906 and held it until 1908 and was a contender until November, 1921, the year of his last championship competition.

Sutton won the world's 18.2 championship by defeating George Slosson in a challenge match, in October, 1906, and successfully defended it against Willie Hoppe, Ora Morningstar and Old Jake Schaefer, and Morningstar again. He lost the title to Hoppe in New York in March of 1908. In 1921, the last world championship tournament in which Sutton made a bid for premier honors, the title was won by young Jake Schaefer, the son of the old master.

WILDERMUTH WILL RACE AT PENN

G.U. Star, Recovered, to Oppose Simpson in Relays Sprint.

KARL WILDERMUTH, Georgetown's fair-haired speed boy, is going to test his injured leg in competition for the first time since January 18, when he meets George Simpson, the Ohio State bullet, among a stellar host of sprinters in the feature 100-yard dash of the Penn relay carnival in Philadelphia Saturday afternoon.

Word that Wildermuth would resume intercollegiate running after a long period of inactivity due to a pulled tendon was received last night from John D. O'Reilly, Georgetown track coach. O'Reilly stated that Wildermuth's appearance was certain in spite of the considerable loss of time from training caused by the injury.

Defeat by Elder Questioned.

Wildermuth, outdoor intercollegiate 100-yard champion, pulled up lame in an indoor race in New York on January 18. Prior to this race the same night he had run against Jack Elder, crack Notre Dame sprinter. The Rambler ace won a disputed decision.

Last year Wildermuth finished second to Simpson in the Penn relay century, the Ohio State flier covering the distance in 9.6 seconds.

In addition to Wildermuth, Georgetown will be represented by Leo Sexton, all-around star; Clarion Cosh and Lew Parlette, decathlon performers; Erik Kjellstrom, hurdler; Bill Slezak, weight thrower; Bernard Boniwell, high jumper, and three relay teams.

Coach O'Reilly will hold time trials today in Central High School Stadium to determine the personnel of the relay teams.

PRIZE FIGHT RACKET UPHELD BY COURTS

laid under other names than his own, would have been collectible under the accepted principle that bets are voided only in cases where the decision is "foul" or "no contest."

But, in any case, the customers would not have received their money back and nobody would have been indicted because a prize fighter only agreed to present himself in the ring and answer the first bell against the opponent named in the articles.

Primo's Gotham Debut Is Remembered.

On the night of Primo Carnera's debut in New York, Primo had among his cabinet one convicted but time-expired assassin and one faker as notorious as any member of the Maybray gang, in addition to which his final handshake and counsel before the opening bell came from Jack Johnson, who had written a book, per ghost, boasting that he faked his surrender to Jess Willard in Havana. As Mr. James Farley, the chairman of the prize fight commission, was present in one of the front seats, surveying the scene with apparent satisfaction, one may take it that this line-up on Primo's side had his sanction.

But why not? This is prize fighting and prize fighting assumes no obligation toward the customers as any customer may assure himself by scanning the printed matter on his ticket of admission. He will find there the price of the ticket, the section, row and number of his seat, the date, the names of the principals in the main event, and the stipulated maximum number of rounds, but nothing which could be construed as a promise of an honest contest.

He pays his money, and he takes his chance, and, if I may say so, he would find the racket very dull, indeed, if it were ever elevated to a plane of strict sportsmanship and ethical dealing. That would be boxing, not prize-fighting, and the two are no more simular than lake water and rum, with the same proportionate power of entertainment.

Beginning with the New York Commission, every commission under which Primo has performed has quite understood the character of his mob, their methods, and their purpose to bring him back in the summer for a million-dollar main event with, perhaps, a betting coup on the side. They accuse themselves by squawking now.

164 Game in Class D Tops Pin Tourney Performances

A. B. PARSON'S 164 game and 347 set in Class D were the outstanding performances on the opening night's program of the Washington City Duckpin Association's tournament at Convention Hall last night.

The high score of the evening was that of Robert L. King, a Class C bowler, who collected a 352 set.

The Barrister Team, of the Masonic League, led the five-man competition with a 1,616 set and a 587 game while rolling in Class C.

HANDFUL OF STOCKS GAIN 3 TO 11 POINTS

J. I. Case Features; Diamond Match, Eastman Kodak and Radio Advance.

AMERICAN TOBACCO OFF

New York, April 22 (A.P.).—The stock market was called upon to absorb further heavy liquidation in pivotal issues during the early hours of trading today, but as the selling wave appeared to have spent its force by afternoon, speculation for the rise was briskly resumed, several pool favorites shooting up in spectacular fashion as short commitments were hastily covered.

The recovery was somewhat irregular, but a handful of shares surged up 3 to 11 points, several reaching record levels for the year, and J. I. Case rushed up 29 points, closing at the top. The index of 90 leading shares recorded a gain of only 1 7-10 points, however, which was less than half yesterday's loss. Trading was in slightly greater volume than yesterday, transfers aggregating 4,589,090 shares.

The outstanding corporate news of the day, General motors first quarter earnings statement, appearing after the close of the market, was a little more favorable than had been forecast in view of slack business in the early months of the year. Earnings of 98 cents a share showed the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents earned by a good margin, and compared with unofficial estimates of from 90 to 95 cents. This compared with $1.37 a share in the like period of 1929.

Steel Mill Output Gains.

Steel mill operations were unofficially estimated as slightly higher this week, averaging above 76 per cent of capacity compared with 75 per cent last week and 76 two weeks ago. Allis Chalmers and Pierce-Arrow reported favorable earnings for the first quarter, in excess of income for the like period of last year. March railway operating income reports appearing for some of the larger carriers, however, showed substantial declines, as had been indicated by freight car loadings figures.

Call money was again plentiful, renewing at 4 per cent, dropping to 3½, and loaning in the outside market at 3. The weekly condition statement of the weekly reporting Federal Reserve Member Banks showed a gain in loans on securities of only $75,000,000, as against a gain in brokers' loans for the same period of $131,000,000, indicating further transfer of loans to brokerage accounts. Commercial loans showed a further reduction of $59,000,000, and are now $471,000,000 below the total a year ago.

Speculative sentiment remained highly confused. It was reported in some quarters that there was heavy selling from important sources, inspired by the belief that the market had gone stale after its recent wide advance, and that decidedly good business news would be required for another sustained advance.

Diamond Match Up 11 Points.

Buoyancy of J. I Case was connected with unofficial reports that earnings in the first quarter exceeded the $15 per share earned for the entire year of 1929. Diamond Match, until a few days ago traded in ten-share lots, rushed up 10 points in a large turnover, and American Water Works, Eastman Kodak, Electric Power & Light, and Worthington Pump sold up 7 to 11 points. Radio rose nearly 5 points to a new high for the year at 68. General Electric gained 2 points, and U. S. Steel closed up a fraction.

American Bank Note, American Tobacco, Crucible Steel, American Can, and Westinghouse Electric lost a point or two, Ingersoll Rand, 6, and Federal Mining, 10, touching a new low at 170.

Commodity markets were irregular. Wheat lost about a cent a bushel, reflecting bearish weather and crop reports, while corn moved up about ½ cent, reflecting better cash demand. Cotton futures closed barely steady, unchanged to 65 cents a bale lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 22 (A.P.).—Pitching headlong downgrade toward the dollar-a-bushel level, wheat today broke through the season's low-price record. Something of a recovery took place in the late dealings, however, as a result of buying credited to Government sponsored agents. On the other hand, today's drop in wheat values came about largely because of announcement that the Federal Farm Board would discontinue wheat loans after April 30 and on account of further rains in recent drought territory Southwest.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, ¾ to 1⅜c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛ to ⅝c up. Oats ⅛ to ½c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 35c.

Wholesale letting go of wheat holdings was witnessed, and in particular the ownership of May delivery contracts. The open interest in May showed a big shrinkage, but the majority of traders are looking for much liquidation yet to come. In addition to the bearish effect of rains Southwest and prospects of more as well as from action of the Farm Board in withdrawing offers of wheat loans, the market was overburdened by welling pressure based on Liverpool dispatches saying that the big surplus of wheat remaining in North America is continuing to overshadow European markets.

Auspicious reports about progress of spring wheat seeding both south and north of the Canadian boundary tended further to pull wheat values down. One report said 90 per cent of seeding has been completed in a large part of North Dakota and as high as 60 per cent in that State's northern tier of counties. In general, conditions for seeding and growing of domestic wheat Northwest were described in current unofficial reports as very satisfactory, with indications pointing to only a slight decrease of bread wheat acreage, but somewhat greater decrease of durum. Final estimates of today's North American export business were 400,000 to 500,000 bushels, chiefly Canadian.

Better shipping demand and smaller receipts helped to lift the corn market. Oats prices sagged owing to favorable crop comments from main sections of the oats belt.

Provisions were responsive to downturns in the value of hogs. Closing indemnities: Wheat—May, 1.01⅝a. 1.04⅞a; July, 1.03¾@1.03⅞a. 1.06⅞@1.07; September, 1.06⅝a. 1.10⅛a. December, 1.11. 1.14½. Corn—May, 80⅞a. 82¾a; July, 82¾@82⅞a. 84⅝@84¾a; September,8 3⅛@83⅞a. 84⅝@84¾a.

EASIER CREDIT AIDS TURNOVER IN BONDS

Investment Rails Harden; U. S. and Utility Shares Prove Firm.

FOREIGN LIST IRREGULAR

New York, April 22 (A.P.).—Easier credit conditions lent some assistance to the bond list today. Investment rails hardened considerably, while United States Governments and utilities were firm. The volume, however, remained unimpressive, although a few carrier liens turned over in larger volume.

Call money was reduced to 3½ per cent after renewing at 4. Quotation time accommodations were cut in the shorter maturities and several dealers took an eighth off the bankers' acceptance rates.

The improvement in carrier liens covered a representative assortment. Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Rock Island 4s, Erie 5s, Pere Marquette "C" 4½s, Southern Railway 4s, Western Maryland 4s, Wabash 4½s, Pennsylvania debenture 4½s and St. Louis San Francisco 4½s and prior lien 4s were active and generally higher, the Frisco bonds each moved up a point. Santa Fe general 4s eased after an early advance. Union Pacific first 4s also sagged.

American Telephone 5s of 1965, Duquesne 4½s, International Telephone 5s, North American Edison "C" 5s, Louisville Gas & Electric 5s and several other prominent utilities showed distinct firmness. Industrials were inclined to ease, although the declines were mostly unimportant. International Match 5s lost 1¼ on a moderate turnover.

Convertibles made a late rally which carried several issues above the Monday closing. American Telephone 4½s turned a 3-point loss into a net gain of 2¼. General Theaters 6s got back all but ¾ of a similar decline. Pathe 7s with warrant advanced 3⅜ and Pan-American Petroleum 6s rose 2½ on small sales.

Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s were heavy and closed less than a point above their low.

Fluctuations in the foreign issues were irregular with gains and losses of 1 to 2 points sprinkled through the list. Strong spots included Costa Rica 7s, up 2 points; Bolivia 8s and 7s, up 1 each; Queensland 7s, up 2 to a new high, and Hamburg State 6s, up 1¾. Brazil 6½s and German Agricultural Bank 6s (April maturity) yielded a point.

The long list of prospective bond issues continues to grow. Directors of B. F. Goodrich Co. today authorized a $30,000,000 issue of 15-year convertible 6s, subject to approval of stockholders. McKeason & Robbins revealed plans to sell $22,000,000 in convertible 5½s. The $30,000,000 offering of General Theaters Equipment ten-year convertible 6s, arranged in connection with that company's acquisition of a controlling interest in the Fox Companies, is being made tomorrow at 99½. Each $1,000 bond is convertible into 21 shares of common stock after January 1.

SHAKESPEARE SEEN AS SUPERSALESMAN

Famous Bard Puts Modern Drummers in Shade, Says W. B. Burrus.

LECTURES TO BOND CLUB

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

William Shakespeare, playwright and poet, was also a supersalesman because he knew people and what they wanted. So William B. Burrus, of Washington and New York, sales engineer of international reputation, informed an enthusiastic luncheon meeting of the Bond Club of Washington yesterday at the Carlton Hotel, in his lecture, "Shakespeare the Salesman."

In the 700 characters of his plays, the Bard of Avon revealed a knowledge of human nature excelling that of the highest pressured drummer of these competitive times, and in the vending of an idea, good or bad, his selling talk suffers not the slightest by comparison with the most persuasive "line" heard at buyers' desks or in sample rooms today.

For salesmanship is not merely the marketing of a product, according to the speaker, who has 30 years' experience as a successful salesman and sales executive, it is the marketing of an idea as well, and very frequently the marketing of an ideal; the ability to transfer a picture from one man's mind to that of another.

Knew Five Selling Essentials.

That this Elizabethan dramatist, whose work instructs and pleases through the centuries, knew the five essentials in selling, Mr. Burrus, a sales energizer employed by large corporations and organizations, revealed most interestingly.

Shakespeare knew how to arrest the attention of the customer, arouse his interest in the thing offered for sale, create a desire for it, complete the transaction and finally to develop the satisfaction of the purchaser.

It is expected that there will be some Van Sweringen Corporation financing within the next few days to be handled by a group of bankers headed by the Guaranty Co. of New York.

This financing will probably take the form of five-year notes carrying warrants to purchase common stock. The Van Sweringen Corporation has been incorporated in Delaware by the Van Sweringen interests to provide a method of carrying on certain of their activities outside the railroad field, and, with its broad charter powers, is designed to furnish medium for buying, selling and holding stocks and other securities.

New Brokerage Aid.

Percy B. McCoy and Alvin B. Fischer have become associated with the Washington office of Samuel McCreery & Co., bankers, and members of the New York and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges and associate members of the New York Curb Exchange.

President George L. Starkey, of the National Bank of Washington, is spending two weeks in Atlantic City.

George A. Garrett, resident partner of F. B. Keech & Co., is visiting in Chicago.

Improvement noted in retail trade during the present month over earlier months of the current year was further stimulated in most lines by the lateness of Easter, and it is expected that aggregate sales for April will exceed those of April, 1929, says the Standard Statistics Co., of New York, in a current survey.

COURTESY KEYNOTE OF REGIME, CROSBY TELLS POLICE HEADS

New Commissioner Meets Commanders of Precincts.

EXAMPLE IS GIVEN IN MOTORIST CASE

General Suggests Leniency in Dealing With Visitor Parking Matter.

Courtesy will be the keynote of his administration as District Commissioner in charge of police, Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, retired, made clear yesterday in a brief address to the commanders of the fourteen precincts of the city.

It was the first time that Commissioner Crosby had met captains of the department since he assumed office recently.

The captains assembled in the District Building under orders of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, heard the new Commissioner not only give his full approval to the emphasis which has been placed by Maj. Pratt on the necessity of courtesy to the public by policemen, but heard him stress his own views.

Discourtesy to Be Punished.

Not only is courtesy to be rewarded but discourtesy is to be punished through lower ratings in the new rating system put into effect by Maj. Pratt on January 1, and which was given the hearty approval in principle by Commissioner Crosby.

Subsequently the Commissioner and Maj. Pratt held a two-hour conference in the course of which the Police Department was gone over in a general way by the Commissioner.

Gen. Crosby talks frankly to newspaper reporters, but is anxious not to be put in the light of a loose talker who has detailed any hard and fast plans for running a complicated municipal department about the working of which he has not had time to acquaint himself fully.

Crosby Practices Leniency.

A short time after the Commissioner had stressed the necessity for courtesy by police he had occasion to take a hand in putting it in practice. As he was leaving the District Building he chanced to overhear a Maryland motorist asking a policeman to take back parking tickets which had been placed in automobiles of the party. The Marylander pleaded that no signs forbidding parking were visible when the automobiles were parked. The policeman evidently believed the explanation, but with the new Commissioner looking on when he was explaining that the law put responsibility on motorists to know the traffic regulations, Gen. Crosby relieved the situation and the Washington police force won the thanks of several visitors when the general suggested, "I think we might be reasonable in a case like this, don't you?"

Numerous petty arrests of persons who inadvertently violate minor traffic or other regulations will not meet with any enthusiasm on the part of the new Commissioner. But whether a policeman hands out a ticket or an adomonition he will have to be courteous about the matter, the general insists.

Advertising Club Hears Reichelderfer, Crosby

"Stop, look and listen" will be the policy of Dr. Luther Reichelderfer and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, the new District Commissioners told the Washington Advertising Club at a luncheon meeting in their honor yesterday at the National Press Club.

"After taking these three precautions we will go with a vim," Dr. Reichelderfer told the club. "We may not be right every time we go because the job is a new one to us. But I venture to guess that we will hit the mark two out of three times. When we miss, I want the people of Washington to bear with us, and be patient."

The two Commissioners were introduced by George Akerson, secretary to President Hoover. Mr. Akerson told the club that the President was exceedingly satisfied with the appointments, and was confident that the two new Commissioners would be the best that Washington has had. Mr. Akerson was introduced by Ernest M. Johnston, president of the Advertising Club.

Col. Ladue, also one of the honor guests, declared that the Board of Commissioners feels indebted to do its best for the people of Washington for the reason that residents of the District do not have the privilege of naming their candidates.

More than 100 were present. Brief talks were made by George Plitt, president of the Washington Board of Trade, Mark Lansburgh, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, George C. Havenner, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations and Mrs. Mary Catherine Lewis, president of the Womans City Club.

Mr. Johnston announced plans for the convention of the Advertising Federation of America to be held in Washington from May 17 to 23.

Woman Is Found Stricken in Street

Rescue Squad Works for Hours, but She Is Believed Dying.

A woman, partially identified through a telegram found in her pocketbook as Mrs. Maurice Monfre, was picked up in an unconscious condition in the street at Fifteenth and R streets northwest last night and was taken to the Emergency Hospital, where she is believed to be dying. Members of the Fire Rescue Squad labored over her for hours. Artificial respiration was resorted to in an effort to revive her.

Policeman Hartman, of the Third Precinct, learned through the telegram an address on N street near Fourteenth street northwest. At that address no one was home, and positive identification awaits the return of a resident of the apartment.

Physicians have been unable to make a diagnosis of the woman's ailment. She is thought to have taken some narcotic, some phials in her pocketbook bearing labels indicating they had contained drugs.

Boy Hurt in Fall From Tree.

Tumbling from a tree in which he was playing at Seventeenth and B streets northeast, 9-year-old William Condon, jr., of 1620 A street northeast, received severe injuries of the scalp yesterday afternoon. He was admitted to Casualty Hospital, where his condition was reported as undetermined.

OFFICIALS CALLED IN LETTERMAN CASE

Government to Press Charge of Unlawful Entry During Raid.

LEGAL POINTS INVOLVED

United States Commissioners Needham C. Turnage and G. Lyles Hughes, Clerk Frank E. Cunningham of District Supreme Court, and Clerk Frank Sebring, of Police Court, have been subpenaed as Government witnesses in the Police Court trial of Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman which is scheduled to begin today before a jury in Judge Isaac R. Hitt's division of Police Court. Sergt. Letterman is charged with unlawful entry in connection with a raid several weeks ago on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eleck Harmon on S street northwest near Sixteenth street.

The Government's action in summoning the two commissioners and the two clerks was taken as an indication that the Government is prepared to press the charges to the limit.

Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray, who will prosecute the charge, stated that Commissioners Turnage and Hughes and Clerks Cunningham and Sebring had been called as experts on legal points involved.

Only two witnesses as to facts have been called, according to Mr. Murray. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harmon. It was indicated that the defense will be based on the report which the sergeant and his squad made at the time of the raid. They declared that they had gone to the Harmon home seeking a man for whom they had an arrest warrant, and that after they had been admitted to the Harmon apartment by Mrs. Harmon they saw liquor.

Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart, in charge of prohibition enforcement in Police Court, refused to prosecute the Harmons on the statement of Sergt. Letterman and his men and dropped charges which the police had instituted.

Jury to Inspect Dry Raid Scene

Fireman One of Pair on Trial for Alleged Dry Law Violation.

The jury deliberating on the fate of William Capps, 39-year-old fireman, and Charles Welch, 21 years old, of D street northwest near Third street, charged with three violations of the national prohibition act, nonplussed Police Court officials yesterday when instead of returning a verdict it decided to take the night off and inspect the premises where the alleged offenses are said to have been committed. The court acquiesced and the jury is expected to return its verdict today.

Capps was arrested after Eighth Precinct police had raided premises on Eighteenth street northwest near Kalorama road, and found four stills and a fireman's uniform, badge and cap.

Welch was arrested in the kitchen of the house at the time and asserted that he did not live at the place and was visiting Capps. The fireman was apprehended later when his cap number was traced.

Both Capps and Welch are charged with possession of liquor, possession of property designed for the manufacture of liquor and with maintaining a nuisance.

Boy, 3, Is Hurt in Fall.

Three-year-old Arnold Kendal, of 930 Emerson street northwest, suffered bruises on the right hip and left side yesterday afternoon when he fell from a small retaining wall in the rear of his home. He was treated by a private physician.

Squad of Firemen Called To Lift 251-Lb. Woman

Emergency Squad, No. 1, was called late yesterday to assist in removing Mrs. Margaret Rice, who weighs 251 pounds, from the third floor of her home, 2022 I street, to the Emergency Hospital ambulance.

Mrs. Rice, who is 63 years old, had been ill for several days. When the attendants of the Emergency Hospital arrived they found that they could not carry the woman down the winding stairway and summoned the Emergency Squad.

The condition of Mrs. Rice, who is suffering from paralysis, was reported critical by hospital authorities last night.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED AFTER BALM ACTION

Bierley Asks Decree, Naming Defendant in Alienation as Corespondent.

CHARGES DENIED BY KING

Herman M. Bierley, of Columbia road northwest near Thirteenth street, who recently sued Charles W King, jr., for $250,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections, yesterday sued his wife, Mrs. Verdie A. Bierley, of Ogden street northwest near Fifteenth street, for absolute divorce, naming King as corespondent. Both actions were filed in District Supreme Court.

While no mention is made of the matter in the suit, police records recently revealed that Mrs. Bierley had been treated for poison taken in her Ogden street home and that King was present at the time.

Bierley and his wife were married June 25, 1910, and have three children. He charges that she became enamored and infatuated with the corespondent and that the latter persuaded her to move so that they might be in the company and association of each other. King is said to own the Ogden street apartment.

Bierley charges that since his wife moved into her present address that she entertains King almost nightly and that on some occasions the corespondent remains there. Several acts of infidelity are charged to the wife on specified occasions.

Attorney Lester Wood, who represented Bierley in the alienation suit, represents him in the divorce action.

King in the answer to the alienation suit, filed through Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert, R. H. Yeatman and George Horning, jr., denied all the charges contained in that declaration which are practically the same as those contained in the divorce suit.

Degrees Are Given 17 At Masonic Ceremony

The fourth and seventh degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry were conferred on a class of 17 members of the Orient of the District of Columbia last night at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Third and E streets northwest, with over 200 members as witnesses.

This class was the first of a series of ten which will be installed between April 22 and May 27.

Man Arrested in Bank Robbery.

Charles Thornton Bean, 37 years old, a salesman, was arrested yesterday afternoon in a Fourteenth street residence near Randolph street northwest in connection with the Citizens Savings Bank daylight robbery in Baltimore March 28. He will be returned to Baltimore today.

FORMER SMITH TRIO POSTS SURETY BOND

Henry, Anadale and Edwards Put Up $60,000 for Appearance.

LOWER SUM IS REFUSED

Samuel J. Henry, former president of the F. H. Smith Co., C. Elbert Anadale and John H. Edwards, jr., former vice presidents of the organization, posted bonds totaling $60,000 yesterday for appearance for trial in District of Columbia Supreme Court on charges of conspiracy to embezzle $5,000,000 of the company's funds. G. Bryan Pitts, former president of the company, made bond of $5,000 on the same charge last week. The four men are charged in a joint indictment returned last Thursday.

Pitts, however, is under $100,000 bond on a separate indictment charging embezzlement of $1,136,000 of the firm's money. He and the other three also are under $10,000 bonds on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the operations of the Smith Co. Pitts, in addition, is under bond on a contempt charge and on a charge of perjury in connection with the failure of the Hamilton Hotel Corporation.

Henry, Anadale and Edwards came into court yesterday morning in company with their attorneys, Wilton J. Lambert and Rudolph H. Yeatman. The attorneys sought to have the bond reduced, but United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw insisted that each of the trio make $20,000 bonds.

As yet no effort has been made to try any of the cases arising out of the Smith Co.'s operations while having headquarters here, and it is unlikely that any of the charges will be scheduled for trial for some time. Pleas in abatement are pending in all but the last case arising from the indictment returned last Thursday and pleas to it are expected to be filed soon.

Old Dairy Site Fire Causes $10,000 Loss

Five Alarms Are Sounded for Conflagration in Downtown Area.

A five alarm fire, of undetermined origin, wrecked the second floor and roof of an abandoned building which once was the Thompson's Sharon Dairy, Third and B streets southwest early yesterday morning, causing an estimated damage of $10,000. Fire department officials are trying to determine the cause of the fire.

A resident in the neighborhood of the building, which is abandoned, turned in an alarm when dense clouds of smoke awoke him. The first company to arrive hastily turned in a second alarm, and Deputy Chief T. R. Davis, summoned on the second, decided on a third alarm.

Fire Chief Watson arrived shortly afterward and he ordered a fourth and fifth alarm, bringing out most of the downtown fire units. The blaze was quickly subdued, despite the headway it had gotten. A falling roof endangered several score firemen. One firemen, S. P. Bailey, of No. 13 Engine Company was reported a casualty when he stepped on a nail.

Argument Over Crash Results in One Arrest

An argument which followed an auto collision late yesterday resulted in the arrest of Dewey Brotman, 19 years old, of Webster street, near Seventeenth street northwest, on a charge of attempted assault on Sherman Ford, 48 years old, of Woodland drive, near Klingle road northwest.

The autos operated by Brotman and Ford collided at Massachusetts avenue and Twenty-second street. Although no one was injured and property damaged, police say, only totaled $10, the men are alleged to have gotten into a heated dispute. Brotman is said to have drawn a knife when Private E. P. Hartman, of the Third Precinct Station, arrived on the scene. Brotman was held in $500 bail.

Washington Architect Is Stricken Fatally

Elhanan Winchester Keyser, 66 years old, an architect, of 1753 Q street northwest, died yesterday afternoon at Casualty Hospital several hours after he had fallen to the sidewalk while walking at First and E streets northwest.

He is survived by two sisters, Miss Elizabeth I. Keyser and Miss Alice G. Keyser. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Woman Robbed at Zoo.

Miss Olive Huguley, of 2443 Nichols avenue southeast, was robbed of a purse containing a small amount of money, a fountain pen, a bracelet and other articles by a sneak thief in the National Zoo, according to her report to police.

Woman Wins Exoneration In Dry Law Violation Case

Jury Acquits Margaret M. Price After Neighbors Appear for Her; Defense Alleges Man Who Made Charge Is Stool Pigeon.

Margaret M. Price, charged by the police with having a speakeasy on Fifth street near D street northwest, just across the street from the Police Court, was acquitted by a jury in Police Court yesterday on a charge of possession of liquor. The jury was out less than an hour.

The woman, who operates a lodging house, was arrested on a warrant sworn to by a man whom Attorney John P. Mullen, defense counsel, branded as a stool pigeon. No effort was made by the Government to produce him as a witness although it was understood he was present.

Miss Price lives in a private home and no raid can be made on a warrant under the prohibition law unless it can be shown that a sale of liquor has been made, Mr. Mullen stated. Several months ago the United States Attorney's office and the Police Department went on record as refusing in future to credit testimony of stool pigeons.

Several character witnesses were introduced at the trial to show that Miss Price has been living on the block for more than eight years and that during that period no one had ever been arrested in her establishment and that she had the reputation of being a law-abiding citizen.

The raid was conducted several weeks ago by Sergt. O. J. Letterman's squad. Members of the squad testified that when they entered the house Miss Price tendered them the keys to all compartments and that she disclaimed any knowledge of the liquor that was found.

POETRY HEROINES ARE PORTRAYED AT LEAGUE'S MEETING

Women's Convention Pages Parade in Costumes at Colorful Ceremony.

BRIEF SPEECHES MADE BY WRITERS OF NOTE

First Session of Poets' Forum Held at Same Time as Business Assembly.

A colorful ceremony in which heroines of poetry appeared in costumes of their respective periods was the feature of an evening of poetry last night at the National League of American Pen Women's convention in the Willard Hotel.

The poetry pages, who were introduced by Mrs. William Atherton DuPuy, were the Misses Clarice Busch Burger, who represented Whittier's Maud Muller; Jacqueline DuPuy, Tennyson's Elaine; Edith Natalia Hoisington, Herrick's Corinna; Dorothy Fowler, Longfellow's Laughing Allegra; Edna Betty McAndrews, Tennyson's Guinevere; Kathleen Houston, Poe's Annabel Lee; Bernice Green, Longfellow's Minnehaha; Louise Allen, Little Miss Muffet; Betty Miles, Shakespeare's Juliet; Eleanor Chambers, Scott's Lady of the Lake; Elizabeth McKelvey, Kipling's Girl on the Road to Mandalay; Evelyn Marshall, Longfellow's Florence Nightingale; Mathilda Heuser, Calliope, the Muse of Poetry; Gretchen Hood, Terpsichore, the Muse of Music.

Mrs. Clarence M. Busch, president of the league, opened the evening session with a brief welcome. Mrs. May Folwell Hoisington, national chairman of poetry, delivered the foreword. The Countess di Castagnola (Alice Fay), was program chairman.

Others on Program.

Among others on the program were Charles Wharton Stork, of the Roerich Museum; Adele de Leeuw, poet; William Griffith, president of the Poetry Society of America; Anne Lloyd, poet; Jewell Miller, poet; Scottie MacKenzie Frazier, poet; Margaret Belle Houston, poet; Clement Wood, poet; Clyde Robertson, poet; and Laurie Merrill, poet.

The morning session was occupied with reports of officers and committees and short addresses. About 200 delegates were in attendance. Mrs. Busch presided.

The first session of the poets' forum was held at the same time as the business session with Mrs. Hoisington acting chairman.

The first of two shop-talk sessions was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the second is scheduled for the same hour this afternoon. John Gallishaw, noted short story writer, will be the chief speaker.

Benefit Lecture Is Given.

A benefit lecture was given by Miss Janet Richards at 4:30 o'clock for the student group of the District branch, and from 5 to 7 o'clock the Chevy Chase branch of the league entertained the visiting delegates and alternates at the residence of Mme. Bruni, 1614 I street.

Mrs. Kathleen Norris, noted author, addressed the annual breakfast at the Willard yesterday. Her husband, Charles Norris, himself a noted writer, spoke also. Among other speakers were Mrs. Mabel Cook Cole, Grace Thompson-Seton and Mrs. James M. Doran, wife of the prohibition commissioner, who spoke on her book, "Prohibition Punches." A brief talk was made by Carl E. Milliken, former Governor of Maine. Mrs. Edward Everett Gann was one of the guests of honor at the breakfast.

Commissioners Sued For Levies' Cancellation

The District Commissioners yesterday were named defendants in a suit to cancel special assessments for the widening of Wisconsin avenue northwest. The plaintiffs are Raymond L. and George German, both of 4849 Wisconsin avenue northwest, who allege that the assessments levied on their property are based on the Borland act and are therefore illegal. The Court of Appeals recently held that such assessments were invalid.

In their suit the Germans assert that in 1927 Wisconsin avenue was a macadam roadway and that the change making it a concrete interstate highway did not increase or enhance the value of their property. Attorney F. J. Ehrhardt appears for the plaintiffs.

Two Bradys Enter Not-Guilty Pleas

Trial of Two Brothers in Murder Case Expected to Start Monday.

Arraigned yesterday before Judges Mattingly and Loker in Prince Georges County Court on charges of murder Lawrence Leroy Brady, Washington automobile mechanic, and his brother Herman Brady, pleaded not guilty. Neither of the brothers showed much concern while the indictments returned by the county grand jury were read by Summerfield Hall, clerk of the court.

The brothers were indicted last week by the grand jury after hearing evidence in the Seat Pleasant bombing case. The indictments charged that they did "kill and murder" Naomi Hall Brady, Herman's wife, Samuel Hall, and Dorothy Hall.

The two brothers were brought into court with about 20 other prisoners and were handcuffed to other prisoners. The courtroom was sparsely filled and the arraignment aroused very little interest.

Following the arraignment, the prisoners were returned to the county jail.

Officers Are Elected By Kentucky Society

The Kentucky State Society held its last meeting for the season last night at the Willard Hotel, with more than 300 members of the society and their guests present.

The annual election of officers was held at this meeting. Col. Allen Gullion was reelected president; Maj. Simon Bolivar Butler, first vice president; Mrs. Charles Kerr, second vice president; Mrs. Robert M. Estes, third vice president; Jesse Miller, secretary; G. B. Likens, treasurer, and Mrs. Lilla Baird was elected financial secretary. Following the election former Senator A. O. Stanley, of Kentucky, addressed the members and their guests, and there was dancing until 12 o'clock.

SOCIETY ADVOCATES REDS' DEPORTATION

Members of Daughters of War of 1812 Cheer Speech by Fish.

RESOLUTION IS URGED

The Daughters of the War of 1812 declared another war last night at a banquet meeting at the Willard Hotel—a war against communism in the United States.

Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York, was one of the principal speakers at the banquet which was an outstanding event of the thirty-eighth convention of the National Society. The 500 or more delegates cheered when Representative Fish declared that a penal island should be established where alien communists could be deported.

The society is expected to take formal action supporting Representative Fish's proposed legislation at its final business session this afternoon. Mrs. Samuel F. Shope, national president of the society, at the conclusion of Representative Fish's address, asked him to mail his resolution, calling for the deportation of aliens, so that it would reach the society by today.

Mrs. Samuel Preston Davis, honorary national president of the society, painted a graphic picture of the work of the young pioneers. "If our schools crumble," she declared, "the monster of Communism will leap in."

Maj. Gen. Guy B. Henry told the society of the importance of fostering interest in citizens' military training camps as a means of building up a national defense.

The addresses were interspersed with a musical program. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Clarence F. R. Jenne, Mrs. John Lela Buell and by Mrs. Livingston L. Hunter, president of the Daughters of the American Colonists. The invocation was pronounced by Mrs. W. S. Shaw.

Marine Captain Is Sued by Wife

Mrs. Louise H. Medairy Says Mate Is "Hard-Boiled" to Her.

Capt. Clarence H. Medairy, of the United States Marine Corps, who recently has been on duty in China and Nicaragua, was sued yesterday for limited divorce, alimony and division of property by his wife, Mrs. Louise H. Medairy, of 2121 New York avenue northwest, near Twenty-first street. According to the wife's petition, which was filed through Attorneys Frank J. Kelley and Vernon B. Lowry, the captain has been "hard-boiled" to her.

She charges that from the time of their marriage he has inflicted physical and mental pain upon her. She asserts further that last Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday she was forced to take the children and seek refuge in an apartment of a friend.

Capt. Medairy, the wife asserts, now makes $580 a month. The captain, whose age is said to be 40, and Mrs. Medairy, who is 24, were married December 6, 1925, at Ridgeland, S. C. They have one child, now 3 years old, and, in addition, there is a child by her former marriage.

Shakespeare Society Holds Luncheon Today

As part of its thirtieth annual meeting, the National Shakespeare Federation, which opened Sunday, will hold a luncheon at the federation headquarters, 1723 G street northwest, today. Saturday the members will view the cherry blossoms around Hains Point, and next Monday they will form a theater party to see Walter Hampden in "Richelieu."

A wreath was placed on the Henry C. Folger Foundation Sunday at the site of the Folger Library. Ernest Crawford, general director, placed the tribute.

ALLIANCES CALLED NEEDED FOR PEACE

Nations Must Agree to Protect One Another, Bryn Mawr Professor Says.

OTHER SPEAKERS HEARD

"Cooperative defense" is the chief need of nations indulging in a discussion of the limitation of armaments, Prof. Charles G. Fenwick, professor of international law of Bryn Mawr College, told his audience last night at a session of the Catholic Conference for International Peace at Catholic University.

"The fundamental basis of limitation is the old individual self-defense program of each nation," Prof. Fenwick said. "Since 1920 each nation has reserved the right to make war when necessary and when war broke out between two states, other states were expected to remain neutral.

"Technical difficulties in connection with disarmament have been made plain to the public through publicity given the London Conference and the peoples of the world now see that limitation discussions are based on the necessity of protection from neighboring nations.

Protection Must Be Promised.

"Before any great success with crown disarmament efforts, cooperative defense must be arranged whereby a group of nations would agree to protect any one of its members attacked unjustly. The Kellogg pact offered no guarantee of cooperative defense."

Preceding Prof. Fenwick on the program, the Rev. Francis J. Haas, of St. Francis' Seminary, St. Francis, Wis., who is president of the Catholic Association for International Peace, gave a brief outline of events preliminary to the London naval conference.

Another speaker on the evening program was Dr. John A. Ryan, of the Catholic University, whose topic was "The London Conference—Its Ethical Significance." He summed up his point in the sentence, "Fear and excessive nationalism appeared at the conference to a degree contrary to Christian principles."

Undue Fear Shown, Claim.

Dr. Ryan amplified his statement by saying that several of the nations involved had shown undue fear of the countries with which they were conferring, while others had adhered to national policies to the detriment of the early conferences.

At the afternoon session William P. Montavon, director in the legal department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, traced the history of Haiti.

Officers will be elected at today's meeting which will close late this afternoon.

Massachusetts Society To Hold Easter Dance

Bay Staters will make merry at an Easter dance tonight at the Wardman Park Hotel. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock, with a short entertainment and a humorous talk by Representative William P. Connery, jr., of Massachusetts, as features of the occasion.

Sanford Bates, superintendent of Federal prisons and president of the society, will preside. Members of committees arranging the affair include Mrs. John A. Chamberlain, Mrs. L. D. Gibbs, Miss Eleanor Carleton, Louis W. Hart, William T. Simpson, John H. Springer, Robert H. Kempton, George A. Hernan, Charles P. Sharkey and Frank Dickey.

Boy, 5, Is Bitten by Dog.

Bobbie Robey, 5 years old, of 3944 Morrison street northwest, suffered minor lacerations on his left forearm late yesterday afternoon in front of his home when he was bitten by a dog owned by a neighbor. The child is the son of Oscar Robey, head of the Robey Motor Co., and Mrs. Robey. He was treated at Children's Hospital.

MAAS HOLDS HOME TRAINING BASIS OF GOOD GOVERNMENT

Representative Gives Speech at Congress of Parents and Teachers.

CHARACTER EDUCATION IS DEEMED VITAL NEED

Convention to Close Today With the Installation of Officers.

The ultimate success or failure of the republican form of government depends upon character training in the home, church and school, Representative Melvin J. Maas, of Minnesota, told the Parents and Teachers Congress last night. Mr. Maas was the principal speaker at a good fellowship dinner in the Washington Hotel, the highlight of the organization's seventeenth annual convention. Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, retiring president of the District of Columbia Congress of Parents and Teachers, presided.

The several hundred delegates and guests were welcomed by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of District schools, and Mrs. Arthur C. Watkins, executive secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Speaking on "Character Education in Citizenship," Representative Maas said that tolerance, intellectual courage and self-reliance must be more widely developed if the sovereignty of the people is to survive.

Character Training Needed.

"We need more character education," he added, "and you mothers and teachers must see that we get it." In discussing the "growing centralization of the Federal Government," Mr. Maas said that communities were selling their powers because they lacked self-reliance and mental courage.

"When I came to Congress from the sticks," he continued, "I expected to be thrilled by participating in great debates on national issues. I was greatly disillusioned. I found most of the congressmen gathering in cloak rooms to discuss yeasts and raisins."

The remedy for faulty Government, he concluded, lies in increased character training in youth, and the dissipation of indifference toward Congress and national issues.

Dr. Ballou welcomed the delegates with a brief address on the value of their work and the need for active cooperation between parents and teachers. Mrs. Watkins' short talk followed similar lines, and stressed the importance of compatibility between principles expounded in the home and the school.

Installation Set For Today.

A short educational tableau and singing preceded the speaking. Joseph Burkart served as toastmaster.

The morning session was given over largely to tributes to Mrs. Rafter, who had announced her intention of retiring as president of the District Congress. She was tendered a rising vote of thanks, and Mrs. Fred T. Dubois and other leaders of the movement joined in praising her work. Committee reports and the reading of the last meeting's minutes occupied the remainder of the morning session.

Visiting presidents of State congresses were welcomed in the afternoon, prior to a business meeting at which Mrs. Rafter and J. Lee Allen spoke.

The convention will close this afternoon with the installation of new officers.

Legislator's Wife Arraigned in Court

Bad Check Is Charged to Mate of Representative From Alabama.

Mrs. George Huddleston, wife of Representative Huddleston (Democrat), Alabama, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a bad check charge, the case being continued for a week.

The charge is said to have grown out of a check drawn on a Birmingham bank for $65 which is said to have been given a local "drive-it-yourself" company as rental on an automobile. The company is said to have reported that it was returned unpaid.

Officials of the rent-a-car company appeared in Police Court on April 16 and secured the warrant but no action was taken on it until yesterday.

Mrs. Huddleston came into the limelight several months ago when her husband won a decision in the District Court of Appeals to the effect that a husband is not liable for debts contracted by his wife in his name if she has a separate allowance. Mrs. Huddleston was alleged to have charged a fur coat to him and when he objected he was sued in Municipal Court. The case was then taken to the higher court.

Snyder Confirmed By Vote of Senate

U. S. Marshal Will Start on His Third Term in District.

The nomination of Edgar C. Snyder to serve another term as United States marshal here was confirmed by the Senate late yesterday.

It will be Marshal Snyder's third term, he having first been appointed by President Harding. Prior to his appointment he had been Washington correspondent of the Omaha Bee.

The nomination had been held up by a protest registered by Miss Susan Davis, who charged that Marshal Snyder's office had committed an error that caused the court to set aside a judgment in her favor.

Revue Will Be Staged By Maryland U. Sorority

Final rehearsals are under way for the fifth annual Kappa Delta Sorority revue which will be staged at the University of Maryland Auditorium tomorrow night. The revue is a typical college musical comedy and has a cast which includes the entire sorority membership of 43 girls.

The revue was written by a committee of Kappa Delta Girls, and the musical numbers were arranged by Miss Helen Mead. All the dancing is under the direction of Miss Isabella Toulson. The show begins at 8:15 o'clock.
